HOTEL GUESTS GLAD TO WORK IN A PICTURE

It is well known that every tourist who visits Los Angeles is anxious to see the motion picture studios, but it is a case of "many call but few are chosen." The pressure of work is intense and it is difficult to get beyond the gates of the exclusive film plant.

In making "The Witching Hour," a Paramount picture which will be shown at the arcade theatre Sunday and Monday, William D. Taylor needed in a big theatre scene. Every available actor was called—and still not enough had been secured.

Finally he thought of inviting the guests from several of the fashionable hotels. The guests nearly fell over themselves to sign up. The combination of seeing a studio and working in an actual picture was too good to miss. As a result the theatre scene of "The Witching Hour" presents one of the most typical scenes in motion picture history. Wealthy people from New York, Boston, Chicago and other big cities are scattered all through the set. In fact these observers will be able to pick out faces famous in national social circles.

So successful was his experiment that Mr. Taylor plans to call upon the tourists again when he needs an especially large number of people. El-

ALTA SUNDAY AND MONDAY

KEEN COMEDY IN NEW HAWLEY PLAY

An American college girl in an American college story. That's what the Alta theatre will offer to its patrons when Wanda Hawley opens there on Sunday in "The Snob," a tale of campus life and football by William J. Neidig.

A better choice of star for such a play could hardly have been made. Miss Hawley is a true epitome of the real American girl. Born in Scranton, Pennsylvania, and educated in Seattle (Wash.) high school, she has lived the life of the typical American young woman. From high school she went to the University of Washington and, after a period there, taught music in Bremerton (Wash.) schools.

And she hasn't forgotten her school days, either. Only recently she wrote the music and words for a song which has been adopted as the official song of Seattle High School. That is a matter of which she is prouder even than her success in the screen world.

"I am mighty happy to appear in a college story," she said at the Realart studio recently, "especially in a tale which carries such a wholesome, democratic spirit as 'The Snob.' Those of you who read the story in the Saturday Evening Post will recall that I play a wealthy girl who falls in love with a college football hero, only to snub him on learning that he waits on table in a college dining hall. His friends, however, determine to teach her a lesson. And they do." The heroine comes to realize what a snob she has been—and what a splendidly democratic place an American college really is. It's a dandy plot and puts American college life in just the light I like it best."

In "The Snob" Miss Hawley is supported by an excellent cast including Walter Hiers, Sylvia Ashton, Edwina Stowers, Julia Faye, Richard Wayne and William Lawrence.

FORCED TO BATHE BY SOAP ADVERTISEMENTS

CHICAGO, June 25.—(U. S. S.)—Here's the "low down" on bathing. Charles Henry Mackintosh, an advertising expert, blames it all on soap advertising.

Says Charles: "Only a short time ago we bathed once a week and generally on Saturday. We even slipped once in a while. Then came a flood of advertising by soap manufacturers until we were persuaded we weren't Christians unless we took a daily bath. We were advertised into it. Advertising ought to raise the standard of living."

Stitch Attachment for Front Wheels
An extremely simple runner attachment for the front wheels of an automobile, enabling a car to be used effectively even in deep snow, has been invented. It does not require the removal of the front tires and the construction is such that the automobile equipped with the attachment will run and steer with great accuracy, owing to provision of ribs on the under side of the runners.

TEXAS IS WARNED THAT ANOTHER STORM IS DUE

GALVESTON, June 25.—(U. S. P.)—The weather bureau posted storm warnings of the approach of another gale from the Caribbean sea. Disturbances have been reported in the vicinity of Swan Island, northeastern Caribbean sea, according to the warning. Fresh winds are due within the next 24 hours. A second storm is feared.

Tractor Production in 1919
Statistics on tractor production in the year 1919 just made public by the bureau of public roads of the United States department of agriculture place the number of tractors produced by eighty concerns in that year at 184,596. The production fell considerably short of estimates furnished by the manufacturers in the fall of 1918 for the year 1919.

COULD MAKE GROUP OF WOODEN INDIANS SING

That's What They Say About Walter Jenkins, Song Leader.

That community singing is "good medicine" for every community is the belief of Walter Jenkins, prominent community song leader who comes to Clatskanie on the fifth day. He says: "When we sing together our moods draw closer together. We feel alike; we think in terms of the group."

Someone has said that "Walter Jenkins could make a group of wooden Indians sing." He certainly possesses the uncanny ability of putting every audience in good humor. During 1917 and 1918 he was Northwest Song Leader for the Army and Navy Camps and since that time has been Community Song Leader of Portland, Oregon. During his program Mr. Jenkins will also present a few baritone solos.
