Vern Porter Coming West
 Vern H. Porter, formerly of Pendleton, now editor of the Cosmopolitan Magazine, says in a letter to Dr. David B. Hill that he plans to come west this summer. He states that Dr. Rinehart and Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart are motor to Oregon. Mrs. Rinehart leaves soon for the Orient and will secure material for a series of Cosmopolitan articles, Mr. Porter says.

Receives His Diploma
 George H. Linn has returned to Pendleton following his graduation from the Northwestern Business college. He took a commercial course and the bookkeeping course. He returned home Sunday.

Library Busy Place
 The presence of more than 100 students in the summer normal school in Pendleton is making the Umatilla county library a place of industry during these afternoons. The courses taught call for quite a lot of research work, and the students are securing their helps from the library. Yesterday afternoon practically every chair in the reading room was taken. Some of the instructors require the reading of a given number of newspapers and periodicals as qualifications for classroom work.

Utah National Guard Here
 Pendleton was host Tuesday evening for about five hours to three batteries of the Utah National Guard who rested here while their horses were fed. The troops were on their way home after an encampment spent at Camp Lewis, Salt Lake City and Provo are the home towns of the batteries. Col. J. C. Bourne, an over sea veteran, was in command. Former service men, in siding up the national guard chaps, had a lot of fun picking out the men who had the appearance of having seen service during the war. A majority of the men gave indications of being "green" to the game.

Barometer Is Low
 The barometer is low today and a storm can be expected, says Major Lee Moorhouse, official weather observer. The maximum today is 82 while the minimum is 53. The barometer registers 29.55.

More Teachers Register.
 Miss Mamie Harris and Mrs. Augusta Neal registered today in the normal school bringing the registration up to 104. The students expect to form their student body organization next week and will elect officers.

Hay Meeting Today
 The Oregon Hay Growers Association, composed of growers from Umatilla and Morrow counties, is meeting today in Hermiston and Fred Benham, county agent, left this morning to attend. Permanent officers and a manager for the association are to be chosen.

 The Carpenter picture, "The Wonder Man" at the Arcade theatre is attracting the attention of not only the movie fans but fight fans as well, because of the fact that Carpenter meets Dempsey on Saturday. Carpenter shows ability as an actor as well as a fighter.

Funeral Tomorrow.
 The funeral of the late J. D. Schrimsher, who dropped dead yesterday morning, will be held tomorrow in Weston. The funeral cortege will leave the Folsom undertaking parlors tomorrow at 12:30 p. m. The L. O. O. F., of which Mr. Schrimsher was a member, will be in charge of the services.

Moving Sheep Out
 John Ross, big sheep operator, was here this morning on business in connection with moving his sheep to the summer ranges. His headquarters are near Vincent on Butter Creek. He reports that range conditions are excellent and that prospects for a good summer's feed never have been better than they are this year.

Are at Convocation.
 Rev. Alfred Lockwood, pastor of the Church of the Redeemer, left last evening for La Grande to attend the annual Convocation of the Eastern Oregon diocese of the Episcopal church. Bishop Robert L. Paddock, who has Eastern Oregon as his territory, passed through Pendleton yesterday going from Hood River to La Grande to attend the sessions.

Big Barn Burns.
 A big barn and its contents, on the McDonald place a mile south of Weston, burned to the ground yesterday, says Joseph N. Scott who was in that vicinity when the fire occurred. The blaze, which was of unknown origin, began at 5 p. m. and despite the efforts of Athena and Weston people, a large quantity of hay and straw was burned, and plows and drills were ruined. The combined harvester was saved, however.

Window Card Arrives.
 The first of the window cards advertising the Round-Up book, "Let 'Er Buck," by Colonel Charles Wellington Furling, arrived today and is shown at Frazier's bookstore. The card shows an enlarged picture of Bill Mahaffey on 12 and a brief resume of the contents of the book. Incidentally, the poster is a good advertisement for the coming Round-Up as the posters are to be distributed in various stores. The book goes to press this week.

More Orders for Boxes.
 Orders for two outside boxes at the coming Pendleton Round-Up were received at Round-Up headquarters today from Dr. W. D. McMillan, Portland dentist who is a member of the Oregon Board of Dental Examiners. Another order from Portland was for eight boxes, to be occupied by Portland grainmen who liked last year's show so well that they put in an order for 1921 seats immediately after the 1920 show. About a fourth of the box seats have already been spoken for.

Many Tourists in Town.
 The tourist travel has begun in earnest and many cars with licenses from various states were seen on Pendleton streets today. They were from California, Utah, Idaho and other states. In a California car were Mr. and Mrs. James A. Ballentine, of San Francisco, and their two sons and five daughters. They are making a trip to Glacier National Park in a Enloe Eight and report the roads good. Mr. and Mrs. Ballentine and their attractive family are experienced travelers, having camped out for 64 nights last season while on a motor trip through the Northwest. Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Mears and family who are in Pendleton today, have driven all the way from Michigan. Regarding the roads, Mr. Mears says: "Some good, some bad; some I can't speak of at all."
