By reducing our profit on clothes we can increase yours.

We want to increase yours.

Because, if we give you unusual values, it's a good reason for buying; and if we sell more, we'll make more.

It's a rule of business that a small profit and a large volume of sales is more profitable than a large profit on a small volume.

LOCAL BOY STARS IN FILMS IN CALIFORNIA

George Hackenthorne, former Pendleton boy, who is playing opposite Gladys Walton as a cripple in her latest feature "Christine of the Young Heart" was nearly actually crippled recently when a wheel came off his car on the road to Balboa Beach near Los Angeles, throwing the car into a ditch at the foot of a steep hill. Mr. Hackenthorne finished the picture, however, but he hardly had need of the braces he wears to make him appear crippled in the picture. Hackenthorne gained a great deal of prominence in Los Angeles film circles by his portrayal of Atlas, the Hunchback (another cripple) in Allan Dawn's "The Sin of Martha Quesad" and in "The Hayes Hunter's production of the Irving Bacheller novel "The Light in the Clearing". Both pictures will be released this fall.

NEW AMBASSADOR WAS 'FIND' OF ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, July 9 (I. N. S.)—A varied diplomatic career is behind the new American ambassador to Chile, William Miller Collier, president of the George Washington university and former American minister to Spain, who was appointed to the South American post a few days ago by President Harding.

William Miller Collier was born in 1861, New York, in November, 1867. He is the son of the Rev. Isaac Collier. Young Collier was graduated from Hamilton college in 1889, with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, securing his master's degree in 1892. He spent a year at Columbia university law school where he won the degree of Doctor of Laws, which degree he also had bestowed upon him by Hamilton, New York, Syracuse, George Washington and Wesleyan universities and colleges, the degree of L. H. D. from Harvard college being bestowed upon him in 1920.

As a young attorney Collier practiced in New York City, having been admitted to the bar in 1892. He married Frances Beardsley Ross of Auburn, New York, in 1892. He became a referee in bankruptcy for the northern district of New York in 1898 and a member of the New York State Civil Service commission in 1899. Later he became president of that body.

In 1903 President Roosevelt appointed Collier special assistant attorney general of the United States, assigned to the department of commerce and labor. He was appointed solicitor of that department in 1904. In 1904 he was named envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Spain. He returned to America in 1909 and became a law lecturer and attorney for various American corporations doing business in Europe. He then became a lecturer on diplomacy at George Washington university.

In 1914 Collier was appointed plenipotentiary and head of the American delegation to the international conference at Christiania, Norway, to frame a government for the island of Spitzbergen. In December, 1917, Collier was elected president of George Washington university. While in Washington as a college president he was frequently called upon for advice on many diplomatic questions, and he served during the war as chairman of the extension committee of the Red Cross. Collier is a Republican. He is the author of a number of standard text books on bankruptcy and civil service law.

SISTERS SEPARATED BY EARTHQUAKE REUNITED

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9 (I. N. S.)—Sisters separated by the great fire and earthquake of 1906, each believing the other dead, will be reunited through the medium of the printed page.
An appeal to Captain James Quinn, clerk to Chief of Police Daniel O'Brien from Lilly Queenie Baker Thain to assist her in getting back to the United States from an internment camp in Budapest, Hungary, is to bring a reunion of the sisters after 15 years of silence.
Belle Baker Wilton, vaudeville actress, now in New York City, read in a newspaper dispatch of her sister's appeal to Captain Quinn and the identification was established. Mrs. Thain, a widow with two children, soon will be on her way to New York to join her sister.
Named in Casualties
The sisters are the daughters of the late Captain Joseph H. Baker of the San Francisco police department.
The homes of both sisters were destroyed in the fire of 1906 and their names were published in the list of "victims."
Belle Wilton believed that both her sister and mother had perished.
And Mrs. Baker and her daughter, reading the name of Belle among the dead, made their way to Europe.
Mrs. Baker died on her way to Vienna and the oncoming war found Lilly "an interned American" in a hostile country.
Recently Lilly wrote to Captain Quinn asking assistance in getting out of Hungary, where she had been striving to raise sufficient funds for that purpose. In that letter she stated that her mother and sister, Belle Wilton, had died in the San Francisco fire.
Protects Side Curtain Fabric
There has been invented a thimble for the ends of upright rods, used to support automobile side curtains to protect the fabric from puncture and relieve the stitching from strains.
Indicates Supply of Gasoline
A newly invented gauge to indicate the amount of gasoline in an automobile tank of a dial on the instrument board of a car is operated by the pressure of the fuel on a cylinder screwed into the bottom drain pipe.
