HARDING'S APPOINTMENT OF COLONEL WARREN TO TOKIO POST MEETS WITH APPROVAL

Man Who is Known as 'Father of Draft Law' is to Fill Critical Post in Japan.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(By George H. Holmes, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)—It is seldom that good fortune of President Harding to make an appointment—he it a fifth assistant groundkeeper at the White House or he a member of his cabinet—but what somebody "squawks."

The selection for public office has been so mad, and the competition for places on the federal payroll so keen since the republicans moved into Washington four months ago that the president has scarcely been able to make a single appointment without "reading on the toes of some" staunch supporter and loyal party man, who if not a candidate himself, had a friend who was.

A number of these appointments have aroused so much opposition that they have been barely fought by some of President Harding's erstwhile colleagues in the United States senate. Some pretty political rows have without so much as a peep arising and no little ill-feeling has been engendered.

No Friction Over Post. But the president is congratulating himself today on the filling of what is generally conceded to be the hardest and most delicate place at his disposal without so much as a peep arising from the job hunters.

That is the post which he named Charles Beecher Warren of Detroit, a few days ago. The appointment of the Detroit lawyer has been greeted in and out of congress and in and out of political quarters as a good stroke of business.

Paradoxical as it may seem, Colonel Warren, or "Charley," as his intimates know him, is one of the most widely known and at the same time the least known of any of the distinguished men who have been named to fill diplomatic posts abroad. To the general news-reading public he is scarcely known at all, but to the "inner circles" of the G. O. P. he and his works have been long known and recognized.

He has attended and taken a prominent although inconspicuous part in every republican national convention since 1905, when he first went to Chicago as a delegate from Michigan. Many of the delegates at the 1920 convention wondered about the identity of the short, quiet, gray-haired man who stood always on the platform close to the elbow of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, the chairman, observing, suggesting and, in several instances, deciding, the course of parliamentary procedure of the convention. It was "Charley" Warren.

Adviser-in-Chief to Hays. Colonel Warren has long been recognized as the most astute lawyer and political expert in the councils of the national committee, of which he was for ten years a member. During the delegate contests before the committee he always sat at the elbow of Chairman Will H. Hays and directed the course of procedure through whispered instructions to the chairman.

Occasionally some negro from one of the southern states, aspiring to a seat in the convention to which his title was dubious, would be embarrassed by some question suddenly shot out by Colonel Warren. It always seemed to hit the nail on the head, and not infrequently it caused the instantaneous collapse of the contestant's claim.

Colonel Warren was one of the strategists of the Harding campaign. All summer long he slipped in and out of Marion, always quietly and unobtrusively, with suggestions, advice and observations. President Harding considered his services invaluable and so stated many times. Consequently, when the appointment of Colonel Warren to Tokio came as a surprise to the public, it was not altogether so to those who knew the services which he Detroit lawyer rendered the G. O. P. cause during the campaign.

"Father of the Draft Law." Probably Colonel Warren's most conspicuous public service is but less known—his work in planning and carrying through to successful completion the operation of the draft law during the war. He was a Lieutenant Colonel in the Judge Advocate General's office and as such was the chief assistant to Major General Enoch H. Crowder. In many quarters Colonel Warren is termed the "father of the draft law."

Colonel Warren will find a long and imposing and extremely delicate list of problems confronting him in his new post at Tokio. The Yap controversy, the California anti-alien land problem, disarmament, the Japanese ambitions in the Far East—these are but a few of the questions which will have to be met and disposed of within the next four years if the relations between the United States and the Japanese empire are to continue in friendly channels.

OKLAHOMA INSTITUTES GREYHOUND RACING

TULSA, Okla., July 11.—(L. N. S.)—The sporting blood of Oklahoma oil men has quickened with a new thrill. It's grayhound racing—the coursing of the long-legged, deep-chested dogs around a race track. The races are held at night on a track brilliantly illuminated by electric lights.

The revival of this ancient sport, which for centuries has held such a grip on the English sporting public, was begun June 3 and in Tulsa one hears the grayhound races discussed wherever the sports gather.

Some famous pedigreed racers are entered in the races, and the dogs are given all the attention and care of famous race horses of the running tracks. Big purses are put up for the prizes, but that it not the only incentive which makes the races exciting. The oil men go the limit when it comes to betting, and some of the wagers laid on the speeding dogs which tear around the track like shadows at nearly a mile-a-minute clip would stagger an Eastern bettor who thinks he is a "plunger."

Greyhound racing promises to be the king of sports in this section this summer.

A GRAVE THEFT

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 11.—(L. N. S.)—However pitiful a tale of woe may be advanced and regardless of the urgency of action, T. A. Ridout, undertaker, is not going to take anybody's check for a coffin—especially when some change is forthcoming.

J. W. James's baby had died, the banks were closed, and a coffin was needed by the next express. Ridout obligingly took his check for $75 and gave him change from a $50 coffin. The coffin was unclaimed, and Ridout is out $25.

TOLD TOLL PEOPLE HE WOULD NOT PAY TOLL

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 11.—R. J. Shepard, tailor, has been sentenced to jail because he was a "champion" long distance toll "dodger."

Shepard had "a girl in every port." Recently he decided it would be wise to "keep them all on a string," so he showed up in San Francisco, another in New Orleans, a third in New York and a fourth in Baltimore. Later he told the phone company he would not pay the toll charges.

Shepard's service in the world war caused the court to be lenient with him and he drew a light fine.

DENVER ERECTS MUSEUM HONORING BUFFALO BILL

DENVER, July 11.—The rustic museum building atop Mount Lookout, erected for the purpose of displaying the famous trophies of Buffalo Bill (Colonel William F. Cody), is nearing completion, and the structure, which will be called "Pahaska Teepee," is one of the finest in the Rocky mountains.

The memorial museum is close to the grave of the late "Wild West" idol and has been built "in the rough." Giant logpole pines from the slopes of Mount Evans nearby form the foundation and principal supports of the big structure. Not a piece of planed lumber can be found in the building. Carpenters employed axes almost exclusively in building the teepee. Oregon redwood shingles, split by hand, cover the rough exterior of logs.

The building is 130 feet long and thirty eight feet in width. The ground floor contains a large reception room, with one of the most magnificent and rugged fireplaces to be found in any structure in the mountains of the West.

The room that will be used for the exhibition of Buffalo Bill relics is located at one end of the structure, on the ground floor. A balcony surrounds the reception room and the building has a number of artistic porches, the finest of which is a large veranda at the front. From this veranda a remarkable view of the surrounding mountains and plains below may be had, with the city of Denver within the range. The memorial was built by the city of Denver, and the museum room will be presided over by "Johnny" Baker, foster son of the late Buffalo Bill.

WOMAN SCORNED SENDS POISONED CANDY TO FAMILY THROUGH MAIL

COMANCHE, Tex., July 11.—(U. P.)—Authorities are holding Miss Flora Moffitt charged with having sent poisoned plum jelly to the Johnson family. It is expected it will prove fatal to all five members of the family. It is the result of a "woman scorned" the authorities believe. Miss Moffitt became enamored of Harry Johnson, whom the court fined $500 as the result of the girl's charges growing out of their intimacy. Harry refused to marry Miss Moffitt, and the woman attempted to poison the family, authorities believe.

PLAYING SCHEDULES OF MAJOR LEAGUES MAY BE INTERRUPTED BY TRIAL

CHICAGO, July 11.—(A. P.)—The possibility that playing schedules of the major leagues might be interrupted by the trial of the indicted White Sox players and alleged gamblers in the 1919 world series scandal case was seen today in the announcement by the defense attorneys that Judge Landis the supreme arbiter of baseball, will be asked to counsel the attendance at the trial of all the players and umpires of the world series games in which the alleged conspiracy to throw the games occurred, in case the subpoena cannot force their attendance.

Congresswoman?
