

News Notes of Pendleton

CALENDAR OF EVENTS
 June 27-August 1—Summer Normal School.
 July 10 to 16—Ellison-White Chautauqua.
 September 22, 23, 24—Annual Pendleton Round-Up.

Woodmen Enjoy Meeting.
 Raspberry ice cream and cake in liberal quantities were served last night at the monthly meeting of the Woodmen of the World which proved one of the most enjoyable ever held. Officers to serve for the coming year were installed, and a class of five candidates were initiated.

Rebuild at Myrick.
 Work was started today at Myrick on a new warehouse that will be constructed by the Pacific Coast Elevator Co. to replace the structure that was recently destroyed by fire. The warehouse probably will be about 300 feet long and 50 or 60 feet wide. It will be rushed to completion as rapidly as possible in order to take care of the wheat crop which is about ready to move.

To Start Harvesting.
 Dave Nelson will start harvesting operations at his ranch north of Pendleton tomorrow. He expects to pull the machine out this afternoon and get it in tune for the strenuous work that is ahead of it in the season's threshing.

Negro Gets Sentence.
 Frank Brown, colored, tried yesterday in the court of Justice Joe H. Parkes on a charge of vagrancy which grew out of his alleged insult to a white woman several days since on the streets of Pendleton, was given a fine of $50 and a jail sentence of 30 days.

Truck Damages Cars.
 Three cars and a milk truck were damaged last night when the driver of the Red White and Blue dairy truck lost control of the machine while reaching for a cigarette which his companion had thrown upon the seat of the car. The driver, fearing a fire, reached for the cigarette stub and as a result crashed into the rear of the G. W. Cootts machine which was parked on Webb street near Happy Canyon. The rear fender of the machine was torn off and the back of the car damaged, while the windshield and fenders of the milk wagon were smashed. The Cootts car was shoved into two other cars which were slightly damaged by the impact. The accident caused considerable noise which was very audible during the Chautauqua program at Happy Canyon.

Is Convalescing.
 William Blusher, Umatilla county pioneer, is convalescing in Portland. He was operated upon recently.

Maximum Is 88.
 The weather, says Major Lee Moorhouse, is more temperate than that experienced in July for many years. The maximum today is only 88 with a minimum of 49. The barometer registers 29.50.

Leaves for Milton.
 To assist Milton women in making plans for their part in the fair which is to be held in that region this fall, Mrs. Edith G. Van Deussen, home demonstration agent, left today for Milton.

Luncheon for Skeeyhill.
 Tom Skeeyhill, Anas and soldier-poet, will be welcomed by Rotarians tomorrow at their Wednesday lunch on Skeeyhill, who will be here to fill a Chautauqua engagement, is a Rotarian.

Postpone Vacation Trip.
 Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Parkes who had planned to leave today were compelled to postpone their trip for a few days on account of burns received by Mrs. Parkes. Her hands were injured when a small quantity of gasoline exploded. Her condition is not serious, and the trip probably will be taken the latter part of the week.

Will Give Demonstration.
 Mrs. C. F. Lake, Mrs. S. R. Wright, Mrs. Edward Mason and Mrs. Jennie Shepherd will give a paper dress form demonstration tomorrow at Freemantle. They received their training from Mrs. Edith G. Van Deussen, home demonstration agent who will attend the meeting and who will give instruction in the making of gingham hats.

Enter the Toddle Top.
 As a close second to the dice which are in demand at local jewelry shops, the "toddle top" or "put-and-take" has made its appearance in Pendleton stores. "Toddle tops" have been known by various names for centuries. They offer a new opportunity for devotees of games of chance and their popularity is growing.

Club Is Organized.
 Forty men and women of the Reed and Hawley mountain region have organized a Community Club, says Mrs. Edith G. Van Deussen, home demonstration agent, who addressed the meeting Saturday. The club will be devoted to community enterprises. A request has been made for home demonstrations, which will be supplied by Mrs. Van Deussen.

Cars in Collision.
 One wheel was torn off and other damage was done to the car driven by Judge James A. Fee when a big car with a Washington license smashed into it on East Court street in front of the Pendleton Iron Works, Monday evening. The cars collided, and the Washington machine was damaged to the extent of a bent fender, but the greater part of the loss was visited on the Fee machine.

Rest Doom for Round-Up.
 The Ellis-Schiller Co., in response to a request made by Mrs. Edith G. Van Deussen, home demonstration agent, will during Round-Up devote the show room of the Main street building to women's rest room purposes. Mrs. Van Deussen states that in the past rest room facilities during Round-Up have been very inadequate. She has conferred with Claude Barr, secretary of the Pendleton Commercial Association, and with H. W. Collins, president of the Round-Up Association, and plans are being made for better rest-room facilities at the Round-Up grounds.

More Sacks Used.
 A tendency to use sacks in increasing numbers for containing the millions of bushels of wheat and other grains harvested in Umatilla county is seen in the number that are being taken out by farmers. The increase is believed to have been gradual since the close of the war. During war days, a great deal of wheat was shipped in bulk, but now there is much more than goes in sacks. One reason for the popularity of the sacks is that a more

CLUES FOUND ON GOLF LINKS GIVE IDEA OF ROBBERY OF HALE HOME

Receipts From East Oregonian Prove Link Which Men Use to Find Place of Robbery.

Jewelry, keys, cast-off clothing, gloves and a Union Pacific time table are some of the clues found to indicate the identity of the perpetrator of a robbery that evidently was committed at the home of J. T. Hale within the past forty-eight hours.

The collection of materials was found Monday afternoon in the northwest corner of the grounds at the golf links by Marshall Spell and Carl Hoff when the two were looking for a ball Hoff had driven into the tall grass near the third hole. Spell spied a part of the clothing first, and their curiosity aroused, the men kept up the search until they had found a collection that made them wonder if a moving van had spilled part of its contents on the ground.

Their suspicions that a robbery had been committed caused them to notify the authorities on their return to town, and this morning in company of Deputy Sheriff Wes Spears they returned to the place. A more thorough search revealed the fact that a jewel box, and a couple of necklaces had been dropped by a man. A pair of riding breeches with roll puttees were lying near.

Included in the collection of stuff were a number of receipts from the East Oregonian to J. T. Hale for subscription payments. The party of men trailed across the golf links to the Hale home. The family has been gone for several days, and an examination disclosed the fact that the house had been entered and ransacked.

Whether the robbery was committed by a hobo or was the work of a small boy is a puzzle the attaches of the sheriff's office are attempting to determine.

FRENCH WOMEN ARE WROTH OVER LAW COMPELLING WIVES TO BE OBEDIENT TO THEIR HUSBANDS

Defenders of Their Sex Brand Marital Clause in Law as Silly and Useless.

PARIS, July 12.—(Newton C. Parke, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)—"A woman owes obedience to her husband." These two sentences figure in the marriage code of French laws and around them a fierce battle now rages in all society circles in France.

The trouble came when Senator Martin, a supporter of Women's suffrage, introduced an amendment in the senate to have the second sentence suppressed or modified. M. Martin considers the sentence as too humiliating to women and thinks that such terms are unnecessary in the marriage laws. He believes that the affection a woman has for her husband should suffice to call for obedience without the law treating married women as though they were school children.

Opinion of well known French women has been sought on the subject and here are some of their answers: Madame Miropolsky, a Frenchwoman by birth and an extremely capable woman lawyer, says: "Article 213 (the one containing the above two clauses) is quite harmless. It carries no penalties. There are happy married couples who believe in it and on the other hand there are happy married couples who are quite of a contrary disposition. Law is powerless to fix the rules of marital intimacy."

In the opinion of Mlle. Fanny Heidy, of the Paris opera: "If the husband is really superior to his wife then the latter obeys him out of pleasure and not because the law says so. If the contrary is the case—and it is not rare to find it so—then no law on earth will make a woman the blind-folded slave of her husband. As for husband's protection we are quite capable of protecting ourselves and I think we have proved that. Article 213 should certainly be banished."

The Mar. Should Obey.

The celebrated divorcee, Mlle. Pelletier is much of the same opinion. "Although I have never had a husband," she said, "I also find Article 213 very humiliating for women. Our country is very far behind the times. In Russia the general emancipation of women is far advanced. There marriage has been socialized—not women. All domestic work is done by professionals and the education of children is given by the state. A woman can thereby live intelligently and independently."

Secretary of a section of the Union for Women's Suffrage, Madame Bach-Cremieux, finds the incriminated article "absolutely iniquitous." To think," she says, "that a married woman is considered incapable of properly conducting herself! Marriage is an association; there is no chief. In practice, happily, the law does not exist. But on principle I think it should be abolished."

Mlle. Madelein Roch, the famous French tragedienne, would merely change it around and make it read that a husband owes obedience to his wife."

Madame Colet, a well known writer, who has been married twice, when asked for her opinion replied: "I had forgotten all about it although it must have been read to me twice. As such a text never existed in my married life I feel absolutely indifferent whether it is suppressed or not."

Even sporting circles were not spared in the search for opinions on a subject which is interesting France so greatly, and Mlle. Helene Dutrieu, France's foremost woman aviator, thinks, "Woman is made to obey man. I don't think the law so badly constructed, and, after all, it is so simple not to get married if you do not want to accept the inconveniences as well as the advantages of married life."

Very smart and exclusively feminine the new French parasols made of crisp-towered tiffeta, with shirred edges and tiny ruffles.
