PROGRESS THROUGH YEARS TO BE TRACED IN WESTERN PAGEANT

University of Washington Will Attempt to Wipe Out Debts From Receipts of Wayfarer.

SEATTLE, July 12.—Creeds, sects, races, political faiths—all are swept aside, ignored and discarded in the production of "America's Passion Play." The Wayfarer, to be presented in the University of Washington stadium here each evening from July 23 to 29, omitting Sunday. The Northwest is united on this mammoth spectacle, the proceeds from which will go toward wiping out the quarter million dollar debt against the University of Washington stadium.

This is the purest depicting man's progress through the centuries, of civilization and which requires 2,000 singers and 2,000 actors to produce. It is not a moving picture. Every person in the entire 5,000 lives in the Pacific Northwest and each is taking part in the great affair solely as a great civic enterprise. In this respect the pageant is similar to the Passion Play produced every tenth year in Oberammergau, and to which travelers from every part of the globe journey. While the famous play of Oberammergau has only a few hundred performers, "America's Passion Play" has more than 3,000 with an orchestral band of 250 musicians.

The opening scene of the pageant is laid in a battle torn village of Flandre. Amid the crash of battle, the refugees are seen being driven and clubbed by German soldiers. A French detachment arrives but is being driven off by the enemy, when the American doughboys arrive and turn defeat into victory for the allied arms. Then "Wayfarer" appears amid the death and destruction, and like humanity, wonders what it is all about and what it is leading to. From the point "Understanding" takes him down through the powerful pages of history showing him the path of the Golden Age and how all nations, creeds and races will be joined in one great peaceful family.

PROVED TO BE JUST WHAT HE REQUIRED

Portland Man Says Tanlac Did Him More Good Than Change of Climate.

"For eight years," said John Nelson, well-known carpenter residing at 874 Montana Ave., Portland, Ore., "I had all kinds of trouble with my stomach. I had to keep myself on a light diet, and even then I suffered terribly with indigestion. I used to eat my dinner every day under a dread. For this indigestion often got so bad I turned so weak I could hardly keep on the job. In trying to find something to help me I even took a trip to California, but I kept going from bad to worse and suffering more and more. "At last some of my friends put me on to Tanlac and it proved to be just what my stomach needed. My appetite is fine now, and I eat my dinner and then go ahead working in the afternoon just as well as I ever could, for nothing I eat hurts me the least bit. My whole system is stronger and better in every way and I feel full of pep and energy. Tanlac is simply splendid and I am glad to let others know about it." Tanlac is sold in Pendleton by Thompsons Drug Store.

NEW BUDGET DIRECTOR ALREADY HAS BOOMLET

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(L. C. Martin, U. P. Staff Correspondent.)—The July sun is not hot here. But it is never too hot to discourage political hopefuls from setting out little political boomlets, in the hope that the ardent rays will help give them a sturdy growth.

Such a boomlet has been planted with the quadrennial exhibition of hand-raised booms some four years hence in mind. Right now it is a spindling tenuous plant, but its planters are tenderly caring for it, and have great hopes.

"Hell-and-Maria Dawes" for president is the name of the boomlet. Hell-and-Maria, you'll remember, is director of the budget, otherwise known as business manager of the government. He's been told to make Uncle Sam economical, to keep congress from going of appropriation spree, and the federal departments from acting like drunken sailors with their pockets full of gold.

You'll remember, too, how "Hell-and-Maria" got his sobriquet. He coined it himself when in testifying about war conditions before a congressional committee, he used language more pungent than elegant. Now that he's gone into a session on the budget, some of his friends are predicting he will make himself the biggest figure in the country in a few years, and will be the logical man for the nomination one of these days, after Warren G. Harding has no further use for said nomination.

Dawes, they'll tell you, is a composite of Billy Sunday and T. R. in action. He's full of pep, vim and vigor. He loves plain talk, and is without a two-fisted chap when he meets opposition. He'll talk back to congressmen, senators, cabinet members and presidents, without regard for consequences, when he thinks they need talking back to. He is an up and coming person who should be watched, for he's going to land somewhere, his earnest boosters say.

"MORE FOR LESS"

Pendleton Oregon

"MAILED FIRST" FOR SALE.
BERLIN, July 12.—(U. P.)—The mailed fist of the German ex-empress is offered for sale in Berlin.

The ex-empress Augusta having heard her husband mentioning the "mailed fist" and the "shining armour" repeatedly during his famous speeches which enlightened the whole world has made up her mind to make Willy an extraordinary birthday present. She gave an order to a famous English silversmith to make an image of that "mailed fist" of solid silver.

The iron fist arrived in good time and Augusta placed it on the breakfast table of the Kaiser. It was expected somewhat speedily into the corner by the receiver who for some reason did not seem pleased with the present. From here it was picked up quietly by the empress and sold to a man who is in possession of it today. Since he is a good patriot—and a business man—he is trying to sell it, preferably to an American.
