OFFICE CAT

Life has been called the great "show-down," but after all it's the way you "show-up" at the "show-down" that counts.

Why is it that when a woman asks where the silk counter is she always speaks in a much louder tone than when inquiring where the calico remnants are kept?

After reading in the E. O. about the capture of that big still on McKay creek, we decided that while there may be a bootlegger trust we never heard of one we would trust.

"Whoa!" she cried. "They're very dear to me." "Love me a little more," he sighed. "I'm a little horse, you see."

Thoughts On Girls
On these hot days we often wonder what a girl's car would give for a vacation in the open.

The best girl in the world is the one who remembers that her mother is a human being and sometimes gets tired.

We were asked what we thought was the "biggest thrill of Chautauqua." After much pondering, we decided that it was listening to some men who really knew what they were talking about.

PENN TOWN BELIEVES IT HAS FOUND SILVER MINE OF THE INDIANS

KINZUA, Pa., July 18.—Kinzua is on the verge of having a new boom. In the days when lumbering was at its height around here the lumbermen made things lively—Vulstead and Wayne Wheeler were unheard of then. Now this little town, some miles south of the New York state line from Salamanca, is awakening. Everybody is getting excited over silver. Even the conservative are talking notice. They expect soon to see mules and prospectors straggling through the nearby forest fastness, searching for traces of silver and the mother lode.

This week several men visited Warren, Pa., and asked a local hardware store to construct them a furnace. They had samples of ore which they declared was secured from the hills near Kinzua. They had the ore assayed and they report it was pronounced sufficiently high grade to be produced in paying quantities.

In the early days Warren county had silver mines that supplied the Indians with the silver beads they wore. There is hardly a section of the county that does not have legends of ancient mines from which the Indians obtained their silver. The hidden lodes have never been found.

An old legend has it that the Indians used to make their gods of real silver. The mine was as famously rich as that of the Incas and Montezuma. One tribe had the secret of this great treasure house but guarded it very closely. Then one day, as the tale goes, the earth slid and blotted out both mine and operators.

At any rate folks around Kinzua are again dreaming about fabulous riches.

LIGHTNING DENUDES MAN.

PAIDR, July 18.—(U. N. S.)—Extraordinary freaks of lightning are reported in a violent thunderstorm which swept the Rivera coast. At Levens, near Nice, the lightning stripped off every inch of clothing from a shepherd tending his flocks on the mountain side. Even his boots disappeared. The man walked naked to his home. His body bore one or two burns.

ST. PAUL, July 18.—(U. P.)—The Minnesota supreme court refused to permit a re-argument of A. C. Townley's appeal from a 90 day sentence, given in the Jackson county district court. Townley is president of a non-partisan league. Should the thirty day allowance expire before the United States supreme court consents to re-view the case, Townley goes to jail.

When the Emergency Demands the Unusual

There come times in the life of every car owner when the instant readiness of his car is the most important thing in the day, perhaps in a whole life.

"Ready to go, able to get there," should be the unfailing answer of the car in such a crisis. Value of car performance at such times runs past any money estimate.

In that connection bear in mind that only the dealer who sold you the car can guarantee its constant roadability.

We have equipped ourselves with the many things necessary to discharge this dealer-obligation.
