NATALIE TALMADGE KEATON GIVES UP FORTUNE IN MOVIE WORLD TO BECOME STAR IN HOME OF MAN SHE LOVES

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 20.—(U. S. S.)—It has been whispered about among the more exclusive of Southern California realtors that a bride "who is giving up $100,000 annually just to learn how to cook" is looking for a site for a fine new home. The Los Angeles correspondent of the International News Service investigated and verified the report, with the exception that he found the bride is giving up $194,000 a year to become what she terms "a plain, everyday wife." It was also learned that she is of a distinguished family which boasts of two "movie" stars of the first magnitude, that but recently she married a "movie" comedian, and that she has appeared in a number of successful films. The bride, Mrs. Natalie Talmadge Keaton, sister of Norma and Constance Talmadge, tells, in the following article why she would rather be a "queen in a home," instead of a "queen in the films."

By MRS. NATALIE TALMADGE KEATON.
(Written for the International News Service.)

I am going to take up an experiment costing me $194,000 to determine whether I can become a successful housewife.

In other words I am turning down an offer of $2000 weekly in real, honest-to-goodness money, which would be paid to me if I appeared in the "movies," because I want to "star" in a kitchen role.

I think I know what some really intelligent people will say when they read this.

I feel right now that something to this effect will be said:

"Oh, very well! She'll be glad enough to get back to the 'fill-in' when the novelty wears off. Let her stand over a hot range and wrestle with pots and pans like I have done these twenty years and she'll likely change her mind."

Or this, for example, may be said: "It will be a cinch the way this little keaton woman will keep house. Why the poor sinner could back in case half the time with the conveniences she will have. There'll be a whole fleet of automobiles to dash here and there. Then there'll probably be a flock of servants, and everything will be of the push-a-button sort, and presto the work is done."

And again, someone may volunteer an unkind remark like this: "Oh, she's probably going to wash a few dishes and 'hold out' on some film promoter to get a little publicity!"

Let me emphasize that if anyone harbors such ideas as I have suggested he, or she, is wrong.

In Search of a Home.

I received not only one offer commanding a salary of $104,000 a year, but several. One of them reached the "please sign here on the dotted line" stage. But when I made up my mind to marry Buster Keaton I also made up my mind that I was to be the manager of our home, and a real manager I will be.

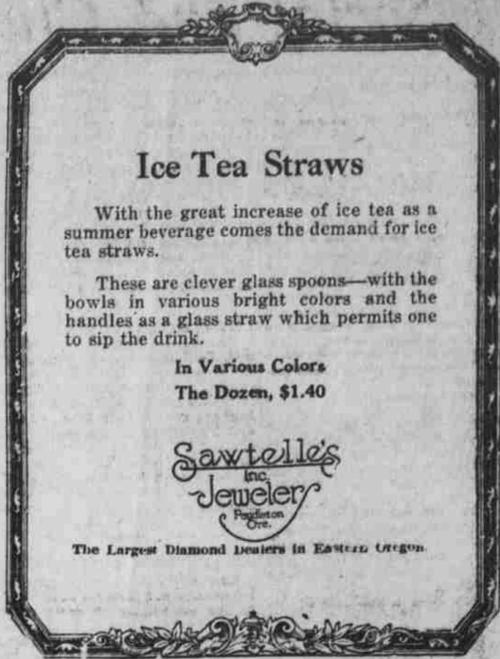

At present I am looking over Los Angeles and vicinity for a site for that home. I prefer that it be on a high hill. It will be big and roomy. There will be a vegetable garden, a flower garden, a bridge-path for horseback riding, and a swimming pool. For years I have been building a "castle of dreams," and this is to be my castle. I will be just an old-fashioned housewife and plan to make the hours spent in my home the golden hours of my life.

I am studying the likes and dislikes of my husband. I have learned that he is fond of such plain dishes as corned beef and cabbage, pork chops, corn bread and corn on the cob.

Little of the "Movie" Struck.

I have not been so busy in films but that I could devote a little time to domestic science. I could pursue it only at odd hours, yet I managed to learn to turn out what my relatives said was fairly good cooking. I can do considerably more than fix a mess of corned beef and cabbage for Buster. But if he prefers that dish he will get it, and it will be prepared in the best way I know how.

It seems rather strange to me that I have heard quite a few "movie" struck girls sigh and yearn for a career on the silver sheet. And here I am sighing and yearning for a career in a home—perhaps just the sort of a home that some of these girls would forsake

World's Greatest Gun

This is the mightiest gun ever invented. Though it looks like a bicycle pump, noted American inventors and engineers, who gave a public test in the Woodworth tower, New York, call it a weapon that will issue war "too terrible for nations to risk." The invention, in the form of a small riveting gun (as shown here) drove three-inch steel slugs through a three-quarter-inch steel plate. Thus in rescue-time it can be used as a riveter in building construction and shipbuilding—and in wartime its giant counterpart, experts say, can hurl five-ton projectiles or explosive gas bombs from 200 to 300 miles. It uses smokeless powder, makes no more noise than the click of a cash register, and dwarfs "Big Bertha."

THE U. S. USCO TREAD

Here is the U. S. Usco Tread, with a long-established standard of service among motorists who have an eye to value, as well as to price. While selling for less than the other tires in the U. S. Fabric line, the Usco has earned a reputation for quality and dependable economy which is not exceeded by any tire in its class.

The standard tire likes nothing better than to prove its service

PEOPLE used to be secretly envious of the young fellow who came tearing up the street and stopped his car with a jerk.

Now they are inclined to criticize such abuse of tires. A mark of the growing consciousness about tires—their service, their work, their value.

This same respect for a good tire is the reason why the four-square tire dealer has passed up odds and ends, "job lots", "seconds", "cut prices"—and come out squarely with the standard quality service of U. S. Tires.

He is getting a bigger, and also better, tire business than he ever had before.

He is dealing now with his own kind of people. The substantial citizen. The man who knows that you can't get something for nothing. The steady customer—not the bargain hunter.

To the man who has not yet learned the standard tire service he is entitled to we say—

Go to the dealer in U. S. Tires and make him show you.

Here is a man in close touch with one of the 92 U. S. Factory Branches—a constant supply of fresh, live U. S. Tires.

The U. S. Tire you buy is a tire built for current demands. No overproduction. No piling up of stock. No loss of mileage by hanging around on the dealer's racks.

Every way you look at it, a par quality tire at a net price.
