Growers Will Make Effort to Prevent Discrimination Against Inland Shipping.

An effort to prevent discrimination mainst inland shipping points on wool was made this morning by Mac Hoke, secretary of the Oregon Wool Growers association

The railroads have made application of the interstate commission commis sion for permission to lower the terminal rates on wool from Portland to Boston, but the rate from inland points will not be lowered, according to the application.

A fight against this practice been launched by other forces than agriculture, jobbers and manufacturers having protested recently fol-lowing a meeting at Salt Lake City. Commercial organizations in Eastern Oregon, the farm bureau and the publie service commission will be aligned with the railroads in the hearing at Spokane, if possible, Notice of the time of the meeting was received this morning by Hoke from the Spokane Merchants' association. The aid of the Pendleton Commercial Association will be sought by
