MAY REALIZE HUGE SUM FROM ALASKAN SEALS

SEATTLE, Wash., July 25.—Uncle Sam's treasury probably will be enriched to the extent of $2,500,000 by this summer's sealing operations in the Pribilof islands.

Twenty-eight thousand seals were killed on the islands in 1920, selling for $1,400,000, and with the increased harvest this year, together with a better price, officials of the bureau of fisheries, which conduct the annual seal slaughter on the Pribilof, are optimistic.

All of the skins obtained from the Pribilof islands this fall will be shipped to Seattle by water, thence to be sent overland by rail to St. Louis, where they will be canned and sold at the great annual fur auction held there.

During the war Alaska sealskins sold as high as $140 each, but this was the average price at the 4123 sale. This year, however, it is expected quotations will average about $75.

The first consignment of supplies, loaded at Seattle, was taken to the North Pacific islands by the U. S. S. Saturn, of the transport service, which also had on board eight expert furriers of the staff of the Foulke Fur Company, which firm acts as selling agents for the Pribilof skins.

Included in the cargo of the Saturn was considerable lumber for the construction of salt houses for the storage of furs.

The vessel also carried water system equipment and the islands are soon to have their own water system.

The Pribilofs are populated principally by natives and it has always been the custom to carry water long distances from wells.

VETERANS WILL CARE FOR WOMAN WHO LOST 13 IN THE LATE WORLD WAR

SEATTLE, Wash., July 25.—(U. N. S.)—Mrs. Emma Wilkins, war widow, soon will have her own little home, built by the American buddies of her "men folks," all of whom were killed in the war.

Mrs. Wilkins' husband, six sons, four stepsons, her brother and her brother-in-law—all of those to whom she could look for care during her old age—were killed while fighting with the English army. Food prices were high, rents were far beyond feeble efforts to earn enough money to live on.

There came a rift in the clouds and a ray of sunshine darted through to shine upon a bright, cheerful world for this war mother, who had given all she had for her country.

The Seattle Veterans of Foreign Wars heard of her plight and decided to take care of her for the rest of her life, not as an act of charity, but as a duty to the mother of their soldier brothers.

So they obtained a lot, donated by a Seattle real estate firm, a "grading party" was held, with "nobody barred." There were picks and shovels for all who wanted to wield them.

The Veterans will furnish her with provisions for the rest of her life, but Mrs. Wilkins has room on her lot for a little garden and she probably will keep some chickens.

It is going to be "home" and "mother" Wilkins is happy, despite her past trials, for there is no place in the world she would rather live than near a military post, she says.

SMYRNA, July 25.—(A. P.)—The Turkish attempt to recapture Eskishehr and Inesum failed. Severe losses were inflicted by the Greeks and one entire Turkish division was captured. The fighting lasted for 48 hours.

The Turkish casualties are reported to be 6000. The Greeks are following up the advantage energetically.

FIRE THREATENS OCEAN STEAMER MAURETANIA

SAUTHAMPTON, Eng., July 25.—(U. P.)—A serious fire originated in a state room, broke out, spread and threatened destruction of the great liner Mauretania, here preparing for her next New York trip.

The fire was discovered early, but the flames jumped to the upper deck and raged for 15 minutes. Fire apparatus was rushed to the scene.

The Mauretania was built in 1907 and is one of the greatest boats of the Cunard line.

CHICAGO WOMAN BREAKS THE UNWRITTEN LAW

CHICAGO, July 25.—(U. P.)—Mrs. Virginia Eposito, widow of the victim of the "Bloody Nineteenth" wards political warfare, who was stabbed fatally as she left a wedding, broke the unwritten law of the Chicago political warfare. She told the name of her assailant, Mrs. Amelia Pantico. The police failed to find the woman. Gangland's unwritten law says no wounded person shall tell the name of the person assaulting them.

logs were denied here recently by Louis H. Bussett, Tacoma, president of the organization. The league will play out its full schedule, which concludes on Labor Day.

"I wish to dispel these rumors," Mr. Bussett said, "for I am sure they do the league no good. Let me state I am positive every club on the circuit will finish with colors flying.

There have been several trying places, but everything is smoothed over and the crucial points past. Jack Risher, the Victoria club backer, lost considerable this year but is going through. The Tacoma club is in good shape. Vancouver will go through because Bob Brown, its manager, is a good business man, and Yakima, the fourth club, is in good condition.

THOUGHT HER LAST HOUR WAS AT HAND

Portland Woman Had Wasted Away to Only 98 Pounds, Well and Strong Now.

Tania has actually built me up from ninety-eight to one hundred and twenty-two pounds, which is more than I ever weighed before, and I can't remember the time I felt so strong and well as I do now," was the truly remarkable statement made the other day by Mrs. May DeGrove, of 209 1/2 5th st., Portland, Ore.

For thirteen years I simply suffered agony. I was told I had gall stones and would have to be operated on in order to live, but I had a horror of an operation, and took medicine until the sight of it almost made me sick. I had no appetite, couldn't eat heavy food, and even then suffered from indigestion until it almost drove me distracted. Why, I would blast until I had such terrible smothering sensations that someone would have to fan me. I had awful pains in my stomach which were so severe at times I would actually lose consciousness. Many a time I thought my last hour had come, and even now I don't see how I managed to live through it all.

"I was almost desperate when I began taking Tania, and words can't express how thankful I was when I began improving on the very first bottle. I kept on taking the medicine and what four bottles have done for me is simply astonishing. I eat onions, cabbage, meats and anything else I want now without feeling a sign of indigestion or bloating, never have an ache or pain and have gained twenty-four pounds in weight. I sleep like a child at night, my housework is easy for me and I feel like a new woman. Tania deserves every bit of the credit for my wonderful recovery and I will praise the medicine as long as I live."

Tania is sold in Pendleton by Thompson's Drug Store and by leading druggists everywhere.

RIETH SUNDAY SCHOOL HOLD SOCIAL IN GROVE

(East Oregonian Special) RIETH, Oregon, July 25.—Rieth Sunday school gave a social in the grove Thursday afternoon which was a grand success. There were ice cream lemonade and home made candy, which netted them a nice little sum.

Some of the men working on the new county road, captured two little coyote puppies about two or three months old, and they have become so tame they lead about by a chain just like a dog.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hannan of Pendleton spent Thursday evening as guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. English.

Mr. and Mrs. Dilly and family are here, residents now, having moved from Pendleton to the home made vacant by Mr. Ellis and family.

Mrs. Lewis McNeal and two baby daughters returned Thursday on No. 17 from La Grande.

The new road being built out through the country northwest from Rieth is well underway and looks as if it would soon be ready for travel. It connects with the highway near the corner of the Jennings property.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peters entertained friends from Pendleton at their home Friday evening.

here for some time. Mrs. John Nelson, son, Jack and Florence and Esther Foyell left Sunday morning for an automobile trip to the coast. They will visit Astoria, Seaside, Tillamook and a number of other resorts. They will be gone practically all summer.

CANADA TO BE INVADED BY THIRTY MEMBERS OF OLD WEST DIVISION

The Ninety-first (Wild West) Division is going overseas again. Over three miles of sea. A Seattle private got the idea. Gazing disconsolately northwest with a snapshot of himself at the battle des Cafes in his hands, he was mourning the dear dead days. Then came the happy thought. In September, on the 24th and 25th, the Ninety-first is going to hold its annual reunion in Los Angeles. A thousand or more buddies from Montana, the panhandle of Idaho and Eastern and Central Washington will make the trip. Most of them will pass through Seattle. Vancouver—and Canada. Boats may be chartered at the port. Three miles from the American coast the memory of Mr. Vostead is lost in the fog.

Plans are on foot. Veterans of the battle des Cafes will assemble in Seattle about the twentieth of September and crossing the Canadian line embark on a British or Japanese steamer, yet to be chartered, and three miles or more at sea again will attack Cognac and Vin Rouge, and the numerous other villages carried in that memorable assault, all arrangements now under way can be completed.

PIED PIPER OF BIRMINGHAM. BIRMINGHAM, July 25.—(U. N. S.)—Most cops dislike the kids on their "beats" as violently as they do the stray dogs, but there's one who just as "violently" likes his youngsters. He knows every one of them, of which there are 150 by name and they know him as "Dad" Armstrong.

On Sunday morning "Dad" may be off duty, but he manages to get around to the home of each to see that he is started to Sunday school on time. They may choose their own denomination, but go they must.

LEGIONNAIRES REFUSE TO DO ANY M. P. DUTY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 25.—Charles E. Edwards, chief of police of Kansas City, faces a stupendous task. The chief has gone on recruiting duty in an effort to organize a battalion of M. P.'s to aid the local police force in patrolling the city property during the American Legion National convention early this fall.

Chief Edwards first caucused on local legion officials and obtained their sanction to his plan of securing former service men of the A. E. F. to act as M. P.'s. The chief ventured forth with a legion roster tucked safely in his pocket. However, he immediately encountered obstacles. Although he spared no pains to plunge into details connected with the honor of serving on M. P. duty, he could not find any former veterans who would admit that they had ever worn the "M. P." shield on their arms or ever swung a baton. Each veteran the chief talked to waxed forensic over his experiences and "days I lay in the guardhouse just because of some 'd—' M. P., but none felt qualified to accommodate the chief.

"It's the softest billet you can find," Chief Edwards urged. "You will have advance information of all the out-of-bound places in the city. No details and plenty of 'chow,' but the local veterans shook their heads. Chief Edwards went back to legion headquarters thoroughly disgusted. He informed the legion officials that he would draft a force of M. P.'s if he had to use the war veterans on the police force.

"I will select a special guard of honor from the members of the police force for the distinguished visitors," the chief added.

Chief Edwards has forwarded a requisition to army supply depots in the east for M. P. buttons and is going right ahead with his plans to secure his proposed convention M. P. force.

REAL ESTATE CABAL OUTWITS 'RENT HOGS'

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 25.—(U. N. S.)—Rent-hogs of this city are on their last legs. This has been accomplished by men who have instituted a building programme of over four houses daily for the first six months of 1921.

The effect of the building boom is already being felt, and apartment tenants are chucking with steel over the discomfiture of "tenant hounds" who cannot rent their expensive apartments and houses.

Various individuals and companies built 770 homes (which do not include apartment houses) during the first half of the year at a cost of $1,597,503.

Real estate men look for an appreciable reduction in rents when next "moving day," which is October 1, comes around.
