RELIEF FOR THE FARMER UPPERMOST ISSUE BEFORE CONGRESS, ACTION SOON

Senate Swings Into 90 Day Investigation of Farmer's Ills and Agricultural Measures.

BY H. K. REYNOLDS, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—As the special Joint Commission of the Senate and House swings into aggressive action in its ninety-day investigation of the farming industry in the United States some 6,000,000 Americans who raise the nation's food and who produce most of its clothing are waking up to the fact that the present Congress, with its sturdy "agrarian bloc" in both branches, seems to be more favorably inclined toward agricultural legislation than any that has preceded it during the last decade.

The pending investigation, which was ordered by the passage of a resolution offered by Senator Lenroot (R., Wis.), and set under way on July 11, and is to remain in continuous session in Washington and elsewhere for the next three months. Representative Sydney Anderson (R., Minn.), is chairman of the Joint Commission, and serving with him are Senators Lenroot (R., Wis.); Capper (R., Kan.); McNary (R., Ore.); Robinson (D., Ind.); Dan Harrison (D., Miss.); and Representatives Mills (D., N. Y.); Funk (R., Ill.); Summers (D., Tex.); and Ten Eyck (D., N. Y.).

Immediate and effective relief for the agricultural industry is the purpose of the inquiry; but, according to Chairman Anderson's expressed hope, the investigation is to be used to carry on the work already launched by many members of Congress in the introduction of bills designed to aid agriculture and not to block pending agricultural legislation.

Aim to Relieve Distress
Should Congress continue to act through the summer and early fall there is little doubt in the minds of those who are following farm legislation that the country will be greatly benefited by the passage of a number of bills designed to relieve the distressed situation from which the farmers are struggling to extricate themselves.

The Leonard resolution directing the inquiry outlines the subjects to be investigated as follows:

1. Causes of the present condition of agriculture.
2. Cause of the difference between the prices of agricultural products paid to the producer and the ultimate cost to the consumer.
3. Comparative condition of industries other than agriculture.
4. Relation of prices of commodities other than agricultural products to such products.
5. Banking and financial resources and credits of the country, especially as affecting farm credits.
6. Marketing and transportation facilities of the country.

National organizations of farmers, which are represented in Washington, for the past several weeks have been assembling figures and reports from all parts of the country, which will be presented to the Joint Commission. The American Farm Bureau Federation, which maintains a legislative office in Washington and headquarters in Chicago, with State federations in forty-seven of the forty-eight states, has conducted inquiries in thirty States, taking the testimony of thousands of its members. This information will be furnished in turn to the congressional investigators. The federation will seek first to establish a prima facie case setting forth the condition of agriculture by citing specific conditions and will then introduce evidence when the inquiry progresses under the heads of transportation, finance and marketing.

Transportation Issues Probed
In view of the wide range which the investigation will take and the many subjects which will be probed, members of the commission plan to utilize as a part of their inquiry testimony taken by other senate and house committees during the present session of congress.

Under the plan, when the subject of transportation is reached, there will be made available for the use of the agricultural commission the stockering array of data gathered together by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee in its exhaustive investigation

French Wearing Real Hoops!

Here we are, fresh from Paris—without a hoop missing. Gay Parisiennes are all over the place in hoop skirts. New York designers say, however, that even if the hoop skirt comes to America it will be in a very modified form. Which will help some—at least in crowd!

of the nation's railroad problem. In this way it is hoped that the agricultural problem can be thoroughly gone into during the three months allotted for the investigation.

The progress of the inquiry is being watched intently by members of the "agrarian bloc" in both the senate and house. These "blocs" have their representatives upon the commission, and they are expected to take an active part in its work.

The organization of these groups of senators and representatives from farming states, with a membership of more than twenty-five in both branches of congress, has been largely responsible for the progress of agricultural legislation to date.

The emergency tariff bill, designed largely as a protection for agricultural commodities, was passed by both houses without particular assistance from the members of the "agrarian bloc," as was the emergency immigration bill, limiting the number of immigrants to 5 per cent of the sign-birth inhabitants recorded in the census of 1919, and the bill providing $25,000,000 additional working capital for the Federal Farm Loan system.

Finish What They Started
However, when Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, introduced his resolution providing for a month's recess for the senate the "agrarian bloc" in the upper chamber, asserting itself for the first time, blocked the proposal and succeeded in defeating it. They pointed out to the republican leader and to other members of the senate, who mopped their brows and wished to be in some place—any place other than Washington—that congress had only made a start on imperative agricultural legislation and that adjournment was out of the question until the job was near completion. Some senators looked, but the "agrics" won, and now they are intent upon jamming their program through, regardless of the hot weather or anything else.

Outstanding among the many pending farmers' relief bills is that offered by Senator Norris (R., of Nebraska), chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee, to create a $100,000,000 government corporation to market surplus American farm products in foreign countries. Norris' international marketing scheme is similar to that employed by the war finance corporation and although the Secretary of Commerce Hoover has opposed the plan there are hopes in some quarters that it will be passed. The bill has been reported to the senate.

Federal Farm Loans Uppermost
The last issue of the Federal Farm Loan bonds amounting to $40,000,000, sold very slowly, and efforts have been made to amend the law to make it possible to pay 5 1/2 per cent interest instead of 7 per cent on the bonds, at the same time lowering the rate of the prevailing rate of 8 per cent. This measure has been approved by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who would, however, limit the application of the advanced rate to the next four years. The bill has passed the senate and is now pending in the house committee on banking and currency.

Farmers are also interested in the bill, which would increase the maximum loan of the Federal Farm Loan Banks from $10,000 to $25,000.

SYMPTOMS WOMEN DREAD

Mrs. Wilson's Letter Should Be Read by All Women

Clensfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side and had fever and sick dizzy spells and such pains during my periods, which lasted two weeks. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing others so much good and thought I would give it a trial. I have been very glad that I did, for now I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends when they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine. And it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HARRY A. WILSON, R. F. D. 5, Clensfield, Pa.

The experience and testimony of such women as Mrs. Wilson prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct such troubles by removing the cause and restoring the system to a healthy normal condition. When such symptoms develop as backaches, bearing-down pains, displacements, nervousness and "the blues" a woman cannot act too promptly in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she values her future comfort and happiness.

Cataract Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one remedy, HALL'S CATARACT MEDICINE. It is a constitutional remedy, placed in the system, and restores normal conditions of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed it has a tumbling motion, and when it is thus inflamed it is the result. Unless hearing can be restored, your HALL'S CATARACT MEDICINE acts through the blood in restoring normal conditions of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.
