EAST END HAS EDGE IN RACE FOR NORMALCY

Excellent Conditions Will Allow Farmers to Meet Obligations Say Banks.

BUMPER FRUIT CROP PLUS WHEAT IS CAUSE

Total of 1500 Carloads of Fruit Will be Sent Out This Fall, Claimed.

Eight acre tract to have $3500 in fruit... Milton-Freewater, Aug. 6.—Some idea of the wealth being produced in this district this year can be understood by a study of the record of P. B. Ritchie, a newcomer.

J. S. HARVEY MILTON-FREEWATER, Aug. 6.—If the statements of her business men and bankers get down to the real status of conditions as they exist, and surely none could be more correct...

Now that is not a reflection on the other sections of the county in any sense, because this Milton-Freewater country finds itself in an exceptionally enviable position at present. Like other districts in the county it has a good wheat crop, but the extra "edge" it has over the straight wheat centers is the fact that a bumper fruit crop is waiting to be harvested.

They Have The Goods If the impressions we got are correct and we talked to more than a score of men representing every line of endeavor, Milton-Freewater people have every right to be feeling good because they have the products on hand that will bring in good returns. And cash in what places the smile these days.

Lot of Fruit If fruit growers of the Northwest have planned this for their own benefit they could not have arranged for a more advantageous set of conditions than exist this year. The fruit crop of the United States as a whole is just 40 per cent of normal.

Fruit dealers told us that they expect the district to ship out a total of about 1,500 carloads of fruit this year. The early stuff, of course, has already been shipped. That includes cherries, the berry crops, and some of the tomatoes which have been moving for several days. One of the fruit companies furnishes the following figures on expected shipments: 30 carloads of cherries; 800 carloads of prunes; 800 carloads of apples; and 50 carloads of stuff in carloads or in part car lots which will include pears, peaches and the small fruits.

AT THAT THESE HORSES ARE MUCH LIKE SOME MEN; YE PLOWBOY HAS BEEN KNOWN TO DO HARD FIGHTING

"Some of the worst horses that have ever been in the Round-Up were the work horses in their younger days, and it was only after they got older that they developed into real man-haters."

Another bit of information that many people do not know is that "Long Tom," one of the hardest buckers that ever appeared in the Round-Up arena, was originally a plow horse. He was the property of the Smith-Litvack company, and during the early part of his career his only claim to fame was his ability to stand up well under the hard work of pulling a plow. Finally, however, he evidently turned Bolshevik, and his revolutionary act resulted in his becoming known as one of the wildest animals ever ridden.

I. C. C. DENIES CLAIM OF ROAD OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(U. P.)—The interstate commerce commission denied the railroad claims that the government should compensate the roads for the alleged loss of efficiency resulting from government control. The decision involves several hundred millions and determines what the railroads should get for "under maintenance" during the six months following the release from federal control. Although comparatively small the sum involved these six months, the ruling will probably serve as a precedent for determining claims accruing during the 24 months when the government operated the roads.
