ARCADIE SUNDAY AND MONDAY
GIRL LOVE FAT MAN? SURE THING! ASK (FATTY) ARBUCKLE
 Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle smashes the old saying that "nobody loves a fat man," in his new Paramount starring vehicle, "The Traveling Salesman," which comes to the Arcade Theatre Sunday.
 In this picture, which is adapted from James Forbes' noted play, the famous comedian is the central figure of a love romance and weds the girl in the story after he had saved her property from the schemes of the unscrupulous villains.
 It is interesting to note that in "The Round-Up" the first Paramount picture in which the comedian starred, he played the part of the fat sheriff. In that picture, the object of his affection refused to take his love-making seriously and Fatty ends the picture with the statement: "Oh, what's the use? Nobody loves a fat man."
 Betty Ross Clark is the girl in the new picture and Frank Holland, Wilton Taylor, Lucille Ward, Jim Blackwell, Richard Wayne and other favorites are also in the cast. Joseph Henabrey handled the megaphone and Karl Brown was the cameraman.
PASTIME SUNDAY AND MONDAY
 How could she love big Victor Raoul a magnificent brute, but nevertheless an untalented son of the great north woods, as silent and as furious as the storm lashed trees in whose shelter he made his home?
 Yvonne Fontaine, daughter of the fur exporter and the senior partner of Victor, returned from Paris with this in her mind. She had studied at the best continental schools and was a prize to which the gallants of three continents aspired. He realized this when he came into St. Ignace to see her.
 With a strange fury he rushed out into the night with murder in his heart. He returned an hour later to find Fontaine near death. Someone attacked Fontaine and Victor's misty fists were streaked with blood.
 Was he guilty?
 Then why did the girl go alone into the forest to head off the posse that pursued him and why did she risk her life to save him?

 Those questions are to be answered here Sunday when "The Magnificent Brute" is shown with Frank Mayo in the role of Victor Raoul.
 The production is a Universal screen offering. It was written by Malcolm Stuart Boylan. Robert Thornby directed it in the north woods and at Universal City. An excellent cast supports Mayo.

new position. The result of her enforced idleness and his petting is that in a few years the wife has grown indolent, stout, dull and quite unattractive. The husband begins to awake to the fact that his wife is no longer his ideal.

WANDA HAWLEY PLEASES IN CLEAN COMEDY HIT
 A situation that has occurred to thousands of married couples is unfolded in "The House That Jazz Built," the new Reelart picture which opens at the Alta Theatre Sunday. This comedy treats of domestic discord in a clever, entertaining manner that carries unusual appeal—and accomplishes the showman's desire of "sending 'em away with a laugh."
 We see a young couple starting out on their married life, poor, hustling, and thoroughly happy. The wife is a splendid little home-maker and a real help-mate. Then the husband gets a fine position with a huge salary, and then move from their modest suburban bungalow to a luxurious city apartment.
 The husband lavishes money upon his wife, insists on servants, and asks only that the wife shall live up to his

 An orphan automobile talk is a car that is bought from some person not able or disposed to guarantee service and satisfaction to the owner.
 The term recognizes the specific value that a good dealer gives to any car he sells.
 We recommend the Buick.
