HOME BEAUTIFYING CONTEST IS CONTINUED

(East Oregonian Special.)
HERMISTON, Ore., Aug. 12.—Hermiston will have a union high school as a result of the school election held here Tuesday. Three districts voted on the proposal, Hermiston, Columbia and Westland, two out of the three endorsing it. In Hermiston the vote was unanimous, in Columbia only four voted against union, while in Westland a 13 to 18 vote was recorded against it. Since 28 people signed the petition asking for the election in Westland district it is thought that a majority of the people there were in favor of it but were too busy to vote.

The marriage of Miss Leah Isabel Percy to Raymond Langhorn occurred at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ella B. Percy here Wednesday. Both young people are well known here. They left for Portland and the beaches after the ceremony.
The home beautifying contest will not close until September 1. The committee feels that more people plan to enter, but did not get to do so up to August 10. Six prizes are to be awarded to the people who have done most to beautify their homes during the year. M. D. Scroggs and Thomas Fraser are in charge of the contest.

The Golden jewelry store will move from its present location to one three doors east of the post office. The transfer will be made Monday.
Mrs. Frank Stone is now employed as stenographer in the office of the Oregon Cooperative Hay Growers.
Farmer Smith, the well known agricultural man of the Union Pacific railway, was in Hermiston this week.
Mrs. Elizabeth Goode, 64, died

Wednesday at the home of her son Roy Goode in the Columbia district near here. Paralysis of the brain with hemorrhage of the brain was the cause of death. She had been sick several days.
Dr. R. G. Gale was called to Pendleton Wednesday.
Fred H. Hinchaw, district engineer of the U. S. geological survey, was in town this week. He looked over the Umatilla water supply situation.
J. M. Smith has gone fishing into Central Oregon.
E. L. Burkholder of Denver, draughts engineer of the reclamation service, was a visitor at project headquarters this week.

MT. GROWERS WANT PURE POTATO SEED

Potato growers of Weston Mountain and the Reed and Hawley Mountain districts are evincing interest in certified seed potatoes and on Saturday night will hold a meeting at Weston Mountain to discuss the certified product, says Fred Bennion, county agent.

After a recent inspection made by G. H. Hyslop, of the O. A. C. farm crops department, 28 out of 45 fields were found to be sufficiently free from disease to pass the first inspection. In these free fields what few plants were diseased were destroyed. In September, before the vines die down, another inspection will be held and the potatoes which pass will be subject to bin inspection later. All tubers passing the final test will be labeled "Oregon Certified Seed Potatoes, Grown on Weston Mountain," or on Reed and Hawley Mountain, with the name of the grower.

Demand Is Great
There is great demand for certified seed potatoes among Yakima growers who have ordered two or three times the amount of seed potatoes than are grown in the Weston region. A recent order was for 100 cars, while the total production will not be over 20 cars, says Mr. Bennion, which will sell at a premium.

"While the mountain potatoes are in the main free from diseases which affect the quality," said Mr. Bennion today, "some have diseases which affect the yield. To the grower, the yield is most important and this was stressed at the two potato schools held on Weston Mountain."

Had Frost Necrosis
"One disease from which the mountain potatoes suffered last year because the potatoes were left in the ground was frost necrosis. This leaves a brown ring on the stem end and affects the quality. While this disease affects the quality, such potatoes can be used for seed as the disease does not affect the yield. It would be necessary however, to secure the certificates for them before they could be sold for seed."

"MAKING AMERICANS" IS WORK OF YOUNG MISSOURI GIRL OFFICIAL

BY HAZEL BLAIR
(Written for the International News Service.)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 12.—"Making Americans" is the work of Miss Margaret Zoff, a young woman naturalization examiner in the United States, who has charge here of the Federal Bureau of Naturalization. Her appointment to the position was made following her graduation from Washington University in 1918.
With women in possession of the vote and with more women of all nationalities coming to America to take up first and second papers, the importance of Miss Zoff's duties is increasing.
Through efforts of the St. Louis League of Women Voters the foreign born women are awakened to their responsibilities and privileges as citizens. From St. Louis, McGraw, German and Greek citizens are applying for naturalization papers.

There is pending before Congress, Miss Zoff explains, a bill seeking to force foreign-born women coming to the United States to take out papers similar to those required for their husbands.
There are many unmarried foreign women seeking positions in this country, Miss Zoff explains, making the situation complex and more easily handled by women because they are better qualified to unravel the complexities.
Miss Zoff's work is much demanded in Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas, Iowa and Illinois, especially where naturalization problems are rapidly advancing. Women are filing out papers to protect themselves as citizens, declares Miss Zoff.
"My work has its humorous side," said Miss Zoff. "Under the fourteenth amendment the right of citizenship first and second papers, the importance of Miss Zoff's duties is increasing. pending now awaiting the decision of the father to take out his naturalization papers. Three children of a born woman are awakened to their household duties were born abroad while three others were born in this country. The question is whether the three foreign-born sons will be forced to take out their papers. Upon settling their husbands' naturalization papers."

"One a Minute" — The Newlyweds — "Keeping Up With Lizzie" — America's Most Beautiful Blonde — "Peggy Puts it Over" — Popular Leading Man.

"One a Minute" — MacLean's latest comedy, Jimmy Knight, a young lawyer without a practice, inherits a drug store from his father. When he returns to Centralville to take over his property, he finds the store really run down. He loves Miriam, the beautiful daughter of Elias P. Rogers, his business rival who heads a syndicate which threatens to put Jimmy out of business by opening a drug store opposite.
Jimmy is about to sell when he recalls Miriam's statement to him that she liked only such men as overcome obstacles. He refuses to sell and on reading P. R. Barnard's famous saying "there's a fool born every minute," he decides to put out a patent medicine and advertise it extensively. Thus "Knight's" reaches the market and enough even in the brides and bridegrooms of 1921. Fortunately, Buster is starring in "The Newlyweds," his latest comedy.

Natalie is a lovely blonde to give on the screen and be a good little housewife.
She doesn't want a lot of maids around—because she particularly wants to cook Buster's food herself. Despite the fact that her trousseau was lately being with lovey husbands and she's coming little "housewife" to her, she's not a snappy little housewife.

film—the town's two leading grocers start to boost their prices to pay for their children's schooling. After graduation, Lizzie tours Europe with some wealthy friends and then returns to Centralville with a bag of loaves and expensive shoes, and accompanied by Count Louis Roland, who sees in her an opportunity to marry wealthy. She immediately sets a standard of dress and mode of living that starts a panic of old and young depending on the part of Pendleton, which threatens to ruin everything. Poor Dan, in spite of his Harvard background, pays around $100 to the Count. Lizzie's father, unable to hold the purse, confesses he is broke—the Count refuses to go on—Dan, upon receiving a letter of $10,000 agrees to a hasty wedding. On the way to the minister he loses a breakdown, and when they all get out of the car, the Count jumps in and speeds away with the money. Meanwhile, Dan, surprised by Count Louis, has discovered that he is an impostor, and when Oppenheim's celebrated story, "Parasitism." The name of the picture will be changed upon release as a previous production by another author has already employed the title.

Miss de Kemmer will be surrounded by an all-star cast, which includes Lewis Stone, Raymond Hatton, Walter McGrail, Kathleen Kirkham, William V. Mong and Frank Leigh.
Alice Calhoun in "Peggy Puts It Over"
In "Peggy Puts It Over," Alice Calhoun plays the part of a young girl who strives to put life into the sleepy town of her birth, where the townspeople were still driving oxen teams and talking in the "gosh lingo." It was a hard uphill task but "Peggy puts it over," even against the wishes of the man she loves, who would have oldtown remain as it is and not become modernized. The story is a splendid vehicle for Miss Calhoun whose beauty and sense of comedy find a grateful outlet in "Peggy Puts It Over." The charming star is now busy at work on her new production, "The Marital Web."
Walter McGrail
Walter McGrail is one of the most popular and most capable leading men in pictures. His first stage appearance was in "Finch," in which he sang a bit and walked about the stage but contents that he was of no importance whatever to the production.
After several years in dramatic plays and comic operas Mr. McGrail returned to New York from a one-night tour to find that activities in the theater line were not all they should be. A chance to play in a picture was offered him, and in a disinterested sort of way he accepted it. His screen performance was so satisfactory that he continued and his climb to fame began.
Viora Daniel
Viora Daniel has just graduated from playing leads with male stars in feature pictures to heading the comedies in comedies. Her latest are "Let Me Explain" and "In For Life."
