SALEM, Ore., Aug. 19.—A total of $1600 in earnings from 300 turkeys was the phenomenal record made in 1920 by Mrs. Smith, one of the settlers in the Ochoco irrigation district of Cook county according to Dr. W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian, who recently returned after an official visit into that part of the state.

She also has hogs, sheep and cows, and the state veterinarian believes she has been as successful with these as with the turkeys. She has not found it necessary to buy feed and consequently has been able to fatten her livestock and turkeys on a profit basis.

W. C. T. U. DECLARES IT IS NOT AS INTOLERANT AS IT HAS BEEN PAINTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—(U. P.)—The women's Christian Temperance Union set itself straight on a number of subjects—folded down hose, blue laws, tobacco, home brew and other things. It declared itself not half as intolerant as it is painted. The organization thinks thus: Home brew is a fat and will not last; bobbed hair is lovely on many girls and is clean and sanitary if washed regularly; blue laws are a liquor interest propaganda; the organization, however, opposing the commercial Sabbath and Sunday night movies; rolled socks are inmodest on adult women; men and babies are welcome to wear them short; close contact dancing is inmodest; tobacco is bad for immature persons and they disapprove of the "over-sex" movies.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

ALTA TODAY

Patrons of the Alta theatre were given an unusual treat last night when "Children of Destiny," a Republic picture starring Edith Hallor began a two days' showing.

"Children of Destiny" is just what the title implies. It deals with the subject of heredity. When a girl is born of a beautiful but illicit love, as long as she does not know that she is illegitimate the good in her predominates. But when she is informed of her true station in life, the devil in her steps to the front. Of course in the end she is saved by love.

Miss Hallor has a role that calls for a portrayal of three stages in life. First that of the young wife, tied to a husband, who thinks so little of her that he stakes her in a poker game; then as the mother and at the same time as the young daughter. Not an easy role even for so talented and experienced an actress as Miss Hallor.

But she handles it with grace and charm, and of the three phases in which she appears, it is difficult to say in which she pleases most. Her roles were handsome and fitted well into the elaborate settings of the pictures.

ARCADE TODAY

"KING, QUEEN, JOKER!" COSTUMES ARE GORGEOUS

Costumes of gorgeous colors worn by the King and his attendants and made in his own factory, the Sassy Jane Manufacturing Company, will be one of the features of Sydney Chaplin's Paramount picture, "King, Queen, Joker," which comes to the Arcade theatre today.

Mr. Chaplin is interested in many business propositions, and an enthusiastic booster for his industries. The Sassy Jane establishment is owned by him and therefore is pretty close to home.

The Sassy Jane Company was the idea of a young woman, and Mr. Chaplin was quick to see money making advantages in the dress factory. The business is growing by leaps and bounds. Starting with sixty machines, the company now has double that number working early and late to supply the demand.

Believing that he could secure exactly what he desired in the way of costumes for his first company production from his own factory, Mr. Chaplin placed his order and surveyed with pride the work turned out. Due to the rash of business at the plant, it was necessary for the operators to work overtime in getting out the costumes order, but the results justified the extra trouble and expenses.

In the Robertson-Cole super-special picture, "The First Born," starring Sessue Hayakawa, which will be shown for the first time today at the Pastime Theatre, what has been pronounced by experts as the most picturesque Chinese fishing village ever constructed for a motion picture, is shown. The setting is perfect for the reason that Robert Ellis, art director and Colin Campbell, general director of the picture, spent many weeks in the supervising of construction and in locating the spot.

Far away from the Hayakawa studio in Hollywood, on the banks of a quiet river in Northern California, the fishing village was built especially for the picture. It is so accurate in detail as to convince almost any Oriental that the scenes had been taken in China. Quaint Chinese houses were built amid wild rice and bamboo. The funny little wharves, on stilts, extending into the water are there. The strangely woven fish baskets and the racks for net drying, lend color to the scene.

Loss of Appetite is commonly gradual; one dish after another is set aside. It is one of the first indications that the system is running down, and there is nothing else so good for it as Hood's Sarsaparilla—the best of all tonics.
