AMERICAN AVIATORS CALL NEW ZEPPLIN AN ARIEL HOTEL DE LUXE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(U. N. S.)—"An aerial hotel" is what the huge ZR-3, America's Navy airship, has been called by the Navy men, especially those accustomed to the crowded quarters of the smaller "blimps."

Contrary to the general idea, the quarters are not jammed into the comparatively small space beneath the huge bag of the airship. Instead they are situated in a long corridor running through the interior of the bag and extending the length of the ship. This corridor is called the keelway, and is eight feet wide and seven feet high. Large spaces enclosed with balloon fabric provide quarters for officers and men, situated respectively forward and aft. These quarters are furnished with comfortable chairs, tables, benches and a Victrola with a liberal assortment of records. The sleeping bunks are placed along the keelway at varying intervals.

These bunks are provided with the usual mattress and blankets, and in addition a fire-lined sleeping bag, although this latter is discarded in Summer.

The engines, six in number, are situated in six power cars. The food for the crew is cooked in these power cars, utilizing the exhaust flames for this purpose. The crew lives well, as well in fact as though at a big land hotel. All food is served hot and, while substantial, includes such items as cereals, bacon and eggs, fresh fruit, bread, butter, coffee, tea and cocoa; soups, fresh vegetables, salads, roast beef and similar dishes, all served at an altitude which insures a good appetite.

DARING BOY PRISONER LEAPS FROM TRAIN

CALAIS, Me., Aug. 23.—(U. N. S.)—Milton Hanley, escaped prisoner, must be given credit for his nerve.

Despite the fact that his feet were shackled while on his way to serve five years in the Dorchester, N. B. prison, he leaped from an express train speeding at sixty miles an hour and made his escape. Hanley was in custody of a sheriff. When the officer's attention was distracted for a moment Hanley made a spectacular jump through a car window at Harvey, N. B. Posses have so far found no trace of him. Hanley, who is twenty years old, had been convicted of breaking and entering a store at St. Stephen, N. B.
