'Round the Sport Circle WITH JACK VEIOCK, International News Sporting Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—(U. N. S. W.) What is the matter with British athletes and athletics? The British themselves would give a good deal to know.

Since the World War came to an end John Bull has been a consistent loser in many branches of sport and some of the losses he has felt most keenly have been swallowed right in his own backyard.

English critics of sport are continually harping about the inability of their athletes to return to a semblance of pre-war form, but they have been unable, apparently, to suggest a remedy.

Without a doubt much of England's backwardness in returning to normalcy in sport may be laid at the door of the former German Kaiser and the ruckus he started in 1914. England lost many an athletic star, and her long and heroic struggle from 1914 to 1918 swept all thought of athletics aside.

Yet the English are lovers of sport of all kinds and compared to the population of the "tight little isle," there are just as big percentages of competitors in various lines of sport as we have here in America. But still the British continue to take the loser's share of the spoils.

The defeat of the British Davis Cup team by Australia at Pittsburgh recently and the invasion of the Oxford Cambridge athletes who lost to Yale and Harvard and tied with Princeton and Cornell sums up British-American clashes in sport to date.

Over there they are still asking: "What is the matter with our athletes?"

We may be wrong, but perhaps our English cousins do not play the game hard enough. The average Englishman, as we have viewed him—we do not mean the Rudds or the Hills—lacks the aggressiveness of our lads. He doesn't play his game as religiously and as tirelessly. He comes to a point where he lets well enough alone. Over here our athletes have had a tradition handed down to them. It is this:

You are never so good that you cannot improve your game and you will never be too good to be beaten!

The American athlete has this warning in his mind all the while. He knows it is cold truth and he governs himself accordingly. It might not be amiss for Johnny Bull to ponder on it.

Those Baltimore Orioles are some birds. They are flying so high above the rest of the international leagues that they can't be seen with the naked eye.

DRY AGENTS ARE AFTER SCHOONERS WITH LIQUOR

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 23.—(U. P.)—Fifty armed bootleggers, aboard five fast motor schooners carrying $250,000 worth of Scotch whiskey are dashing up Chesapeake bay toward Baltimore, with the dry agents in full cry.

WESTERN TITLE IS SOUGHT BY STARS WHO ARE IN MEET

Hutchison, Barnes, Jones Entered in Tourney at Cleveland; Course in Fine Shape.

By WILLIAM J. HURKE, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 24.—"Jock" Hutchison, of Glen View, Chicago, holder of the British open and Western open golf championships; Jim Barnes, of Pelham Manor, New York; Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, the youthful amateur, who at times has shown such uncanny skill with the clubs, are among those who start today in the Western open tournament at the Oakland club's course here. The tournament lasts three days.

In addition to these entries, which number more than 150, include the stars of American golfdom, and, unless all signs fail, some of the best golf ever seen will be played in the three-day meet, which will determine the holder of the Western open championship for the coming year.

Barnes, national open champion and former Western open champion, hopes once more to wrest from Hutchison the title which he lost last year, but a glance at the entry list shows that the New Yorker has many other hazards to overcome. Chick Evans, Francis Ouimet, Walter Hagen all are here and with them are many scores of others that have a chance of carrying off the coveted title, among them being Emmet French of Youngstown; Bob McDonald of Chicago; Bertram Way, Mayfield Club, Cleveland; Joseph Kirkwood, Australian open champion.

The Oakland club itself presents two entries—David Ogilvie, who has been the club professional since 1913, coming here from the Morris country, New Jersey, Golf Club and Andrew Gray, his nephew and assistant, a youth of eighteen, who shows promise of becoming one of the stars of the game. Ogilvie hails originally from St. Andrews, Scotland.

The course is in fine shape for the opening play. Entrants are exhibiting a lively interest in the prizes offered by the local club to the winner, $100—on the links. This feat has not yet been accomplished, and despite the skill of professionals and amateurs who have teed off here.

AMUSEMENTS

Do you love the circus? Do you thrill to the blare of the bands, the rattling of the callopes, the menagerie smell? In other words, are you still a boy at heart, human and regular and pretty darn decent? For it amounts to that—the love for the big top, its racing action, its color, its clean cut entertainment. It's so human, is the circus—so open, so big, so filled with stir, with great masses of materials moving into place with the precision of a giant machine. The lesson the circus gives you and me in efficient organization is enough excuse to keep us on the lot all day, no matter how the telephones may ring and jangle in our offices. Did you ever stop to wonder why the big show moves off a lot at night, loading tons upon tons of paraphernalia without losing so much as a stake? Call your efficiency man's attention to that when he boasts of the few items in his "Lost and Waste" column. Yes, the circus gives us an excuse to enjoy it to our heart's content, but we don't need an excuse—other than that it's the circus, the thing we loved as a boy and thank heaven—we still love as real blooded, normal fathers and grandfathers.

And that's why—a few of the why's as we'll be on hand when the long train of the Sells-Floto circus bearing the elephants the clowns, the great tents, the cages and dens of jungle beasts and the hundreds of performers, including the famous "Poodles" Hanneford and his riding family, unload for performances and parade in Pendleton at dawn on Thursday, Sept. 1, and that's why we will be in the stands when the three rings, the two stages, the air and the track under the great Sells-Floto big top are filled with the color and the stir of the opening pageantry on circus day. That's why—and because we know that Sells-Floto, "second largest show on earth," brings to us every interesting, thrilling, beautiful, novel and laughable feature that it is possible for a big organization to secure.

Archaeological investigators in New Zealand have discovered evidence of a highly civilized race antedating the Maoris and probably Asiatic in origin. Stone articles, some of which resemble the traditional figures of the Bhudda, lend support to this belief. IF THIS IS NOT A NEW FORD STORY WE'LL BUY

ELKINS, W. V., Aug. 24.—(U. N. S.)—Here's a new Henry Ford story. It is told by Judge William E. Baker, of Federal District Court, and it is a new one, for it happened when Mr. Ford, H. S. Firestone and Thomas A. Edison were in Elkins the other day on their mountain camping expedition.

Two negroes were playing dice—that is, "shooting craps"—in the street and one had taken about all the money the other had. The winner played slowly and took plenty of time with the dice before he would "roll" them. The loser was impatient.

"Nigger," he said, "Ford them bones." "What you all mean, Ford them bones?" "I means shake, rattle and roll, dat's what I means."

Be Prepared

Do not wait until some member of your family is taken with a severe attack of bowel complaint and then send for medicine, but be prepared. Buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy so as to have it at hand ready for instant use. Buy it now.

There's No Friend Like an Old Friend An old friend will always help you in time of need. It is the same with Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is an old and tried friend in many thousands of families and like other old friends, can be depended upon in time of need.

Sour Stomach When the quantity of food taken is too great or the quality too rich, sour stomach may result and especially so if you are constipated. Eat slowly, masticate your food thoroughly, eat sparingly of meats. Let fully five hours elapse between meals and when you feel a fullness and weight in the stomach, after eating your supper, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets, and in most cases sour stomach may be avoided.

Worth Considering We take it for granted that your digestion is troubling you. Do not imagine that you are the only one suffering that way. There are thousands of others and as a general rule, needless to say, your case is much the same as that of a great many others who have been cured by taking Chamberlain's Tablets. Give them a trial. You are certain to be more than pleased with the benefit derived from their use. Do it now. They only cost a trifle.
