duce the deer to take a seat in the finally subdued, after his feet had been securely tied. At the zoo he was pronounced one of the finest specimens ever seen there.

The new member of the Woodland Park family hasn't been christened yet, but the name "Moses" is receiving consideration.

It took a ferryboat, a lasso and several husky men to get the best of this new member of the zoo.

A year old buck deer had been chased off Mercer Island by dogs and in a last desperate effort to escape, endeavored to swim Lake Washington. Captain Charles Herzog, commander of the ferry plying on the lake sighted the animal when it was about midway between the island and the mainland.

Unloading the few phlegmatic passengers who did not wish to participate in the chase, the captain pointed his craft lakeward, and the marine round-up commenced. Skillfully he maneuvered his boat close beside the badly frightened deer.

Purser Younger was assigned the first throw of the rope. His missed, and the deer swung off to port. Once more the skipper brought his craft alongside, and J. F. Thompson, a former Montana cowboy, made a cast. True as an arrow, the loop fell over the head and horns of the animal, and he was hauled alongside. Although badly exhausted, the deer put up a stiff fight before he was pulled on board. It took all the men aboard the boat a full ten minutes before the task was accomplished.

Arriving at the dock with the prize the skipper and his "outfit" were met by game wardens, who took charge of the prisoner. Another fight took place when Warden Beach tried to in-
