Judgment to the amount of $21,600 is sought in an action that has been brought in circuit court by Henry Carstens, trustee, against Frank Sloan and others. responsible for failure to take care of these various projects before this. The charter fixes the tax rate at 11 mills, one of the lowest in the state, and the revenue furnished by this rate has made it imperative that the council operate on a very economical basis, the commission members declare.

To Make Survey

Monday afternoon has been fixed as the time for a preliminary survey by members of the commission of several problems that are pressing for immediate attention. Among these problems are the matter of providing for a sewage disposal plant, a new city dumping ground which will do away with present unsightly and unsanitary conditions, the opening of a new road into the city from the east end and park problems.

The burden of the suggestions made for improvements has to do largely with these projects. A city auditorium or community building is another improvement which has been mentioned by several citizens who have responded to the invitation of the commission to submit ideas for consideration, and the survey of the commission will be made with the probable planning for such a project in mind.

Consider Engineer's Report

The report of Barr and Cunningham, consulting engineers of Portland, which was submitted to the city several weeks ago, was considered last night and a special sub-committee was appointed to make an exhaustive study of the report and to present a digest of its findings to the commission at the next meeting.

Request on Part of the Eastern Oregon Auto Club

A request on the part of the Eastern Oregon Auto club for the erection of permanent street signs to serve as guides for tourists was presented. Councilman Manuel Friedly of the street committee reported to the commission that the matter had received the attention of the council but that it had been referred to the commission for a recommendation. Ernest Crockett, secretary of the club, urged that action be taken as quickly as possible. It is probable that temporary signs will be erected in the places where they are most urgently needed, and plans will be made later for erecting permanent signs.

The first Friday evening of each month will be the regular meeting night of the commission. It is provided that special meetings may be called when necessary. An organization committee to formulate by-laws and suggest standing committees was named. This committee will report at the next regular meeting.

MINISTER DISCUSSES HIS WIFE'S TROUBLE

Thinks It Only Short Time Before Mrs. Sykes Will Be Fully Restored.

Rev. A. H. Sykes, former pastor of the Watkins Park Presbyterian church, Nashville, Tenn., says: "After seeing what Tanhae has accomplished in my wife's case, I am convinced that it is a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. I do not think I have ever seen anything to give such prompt results. Mrs. Sykes had been in delicate health for ten months, suffering from stomach trouble and nervous breakdown. I frequently sought medical advice but Tanhae is the only thing that gave her any relief. After taking the medicine only a short time, she was able to sit up and help with the household duties. I think it only a short time until her health will be fully restored." Tanhae is sold in Pendleton by Thompson's Drug Store and by all leading druggists everywhere.

barbation as the motley crowds now handled, for knowing the heartaches now occasioned at our ports, the consciences of the American public would be easier."

Who Are Barred

It is the duty of immigration authorities to prevent the entry into this country, for the purpose of protecting American citizens and residents, of the following classes of persons, when certified as such by officers of the Public Health Service: Idiots, imbeciles, feeble-minded persons, epileptics, insane persons, persons of constitutional psychopathic inferiority, persons afflicted with tuberculosis, chronic alcoholism, contagious diseases, either loathsome or contagious.

Most of the diseases listed are probably little known to the average American, but they are as bad and as dangerous as their names indicate. It is often asserted that most of the contagious diseases and epidemics within the City of New York and directly traceable to Ellis Island. The great part of the present method of handling immigration, there is no assurance to the immigrant when he leaves his country that he will be permitted to land, or, if he is permitted, that part of his family will not be deported back to the country from whence they started.

Disease Is Not Welcomed

Many instances of a pathetic nature are appealed to the Secretary of Labor daily. A few days ago, as a specific illustration, there was taken an appeal of the case of a child two years of age for whom a warrant for deportation had been issued returning him, in the custody of his mother, to Poland. He was afflicted with ringworm of the scalp, a parasite which starts on the head and eats out the roots of the hair in a circular fashion. The family was not in good financial circumstances, and to treat the case to effect a cure might take a year, at a cost of probably a thousand dollars. Some one must accompany the child back to Poland, where the child could be treated more cheaply, and in a case of this kind the mother would be designated an accompanying alien.

This family had saved for years, looking forward to the time when they could come to the United States. They sold out all they had of material things which made up a home at a sacrifice and at a discouraging rate of exchange. They wanted to become citizens of this great country, but when they arrived it was found that the entrance of one child would imperil the health of perhaps thousands of little children to whom this loathsome disease might be communicated. The family thus separated must cease to be a happy family, and to go back to the country from where they came meant misery and want.

Some Cases Pathetic
Other cases come in which would be humorous if they did not carry with them so much disappointment for the immigrant.

Under the Act of February 23, 1917, illiterates, with a few exceptions, are not permitted entrance into the United States. In some cases this law works peculiar hardship, as in the case of young women from the devastated sections of Europe. It is not infrequently that an illiterate young lady will arrive at Ellis Island after months of suffering. In some instances the girl is all that is left of a family which had fled, after the burning of their home, and has nothing in

NEW MEASURE WOULD TAKE STING FROM IMMIGRANT'S LIFE

Inspection to be Made by U. S. Consuls Abroad Before Allowing Persons to Sail.

By HARRY WARD (International News Service Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The necessity for turning back hundreds of immigrants arriving at American ports who have sold their homes in the lands of their birth and spent their last pennies for passage to the "land of opportunity" will be obviated by the passage of Representative Albert Johnson's bill now before Congress, today. Many of the immigrants now arriving in the United States are afflicted with dangerous and loathsome contagious diseases, are feeble minded, or physically defective, or are in such circumstances that to admit them would be to fill our institutions with public charges.

The new measure provides for the weeding out of these inadmissible aliens before they leave their home countries through selection by representatives of the United States Government residing at the ports of embarkation. Two special agents will be stationed at each of the principal ports—one a member of the Public Health Service and the other an experienced immigrant inspector.

Consuls Would Act
The selection of immigrants will operate through the use of the visa system, which requires the immigrant to procure from the Government a passport, which must be presented to an American consular officer for visa before he can embark for the United States. This visa will be granted only after inspection by the immigrant and public health inspectors, as contemplated by the Johnson measure.

"Perhaps it will cost a little more than the present hit-or-miss method of using passports by American consular officers," said Secretary Davis. "The present passport visa of $10, however, ought to cover the cost of this service, and much as the revenue is needed by the Government, it is hardly fair that this tax of $10 be imposed upon aliens in their own countries in addition to the head tax which they must pay upon admission to the country, without giving something in return. In the interest of humanity Congress ought not to quibble at the slightly larger appropriation necessary, if it is necessary, for a selected immigration will not require the same attention at the part of de-
