Called By Death
 Mrs. D. E. Cargill and sons, Louis Cargill and Wallace Cargill, accompanied by Mrs. Wallace Cargill, left today for Mesa, Idaho, where they were called by the death of Mrs. Cargill's granddaughter, Florence Cargill, aged 11, who died yesterday. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cargill, who survive their daughter. Four brothers also survive.

Is New Employee

T. W. Imman, who for the past 10 years has been employed by the Covey Motor Co. in Portland, is a new addition to the Peterson Brothers Garage. Mr. Imman spent the entire time specializing in Cadillac work and will work exclusively on this make of car in Pendleton.

Kiddies Like Show

Over 300 children saw the Wolford Dog and Monkey Show yesterday at the Alta theatre. The youngsters are enthusiastic over the performance. A pleasing feature is the performance by Tex Bender, cowboy fiddler. The show continues tonight. In conjunction with the Red Cross life saving demonstrations the various methods used in life-saving.

To Attend Ram Sale

Mac Roke, secretary of the Cunningham Sheep Co., will leave this evening for Salt Lake City where he will be on hand for the National Ram Sale. The auction starts Monday and will continue for three days. The sale is an event which annually attracts sheep men from all over the West, and consignments of rams are made by the best breeders in this country and from foreign countries.

New Counter Completed

The new outside cigar counter for the Office Lunch, on Main street, was finished yesterday, and is an attractive addition to the store. All the work was done by local men.

Back In Office

Miss Vera Huey, formerly stenographer in the office of Supt. H. E. Inlow, is back for a short time taking care of the stenographic work. She was a student at the University of Oregon last year and expects to attend again this year.

Transfer Is Made

O. M. Godfrey, for the past five years employed as engineer for the Pasco-Pendleton run, has been transferred to the Walla Walla-Pasco run. D. E. Smith, formerly freight engineer for the Pendleton-Pasco run, has been made passenger engineer.

Dr. Reid to Preach

Until the pulpit of the Baptist church can be filled by a permanent pastor, Dr. Reid, of Portland, will preach in Pendleton. He will arrive here September 1. The church has not yet decided upon a successor for the Rev. W. H. Cox, who recently accepted the Newberg pastorate.

Acrobat Dies at The Dalles

Douglas Clark, famous acrobat, who has operated with Captain Parmelee and Roy Black, who are here in an airplane this week, died last night at The Dalles. A message received here this morning gave this information. Clark has been ill for only three days and his death was totally unexpected. He has done many stunts before the moving picture camera. Roy Black is staying the stunts here, and tonight it is planned for him to be seated on top of the machine while a loop-the-loop is done.

Will Handle Paper

A complete line of paper from the Blake-McFall Co. of Portland will in future be handled by the Smythe-Loneragan Co., according to arrangements made in a deal completed yesterday by the company with J. R. Flynn, district representative of Blake-McFall. State lines will be the only limit of territory and the local firm which will carry on jobbing business, will receive its first load of paper by October 10. Paper bags, twine, wrapping paper, etc., will be included in the line and the firm expects to carry from one to three carloads in stock. They will handle no print paper. Sales, none of which will be retailed will be made from samples at the Smythe-Loneragan office.

Vagrants Grow Scarce

There are coming to be fewer and fewer vagrants in Pendleton all of the time. The policy of nabbing men of leisure who have no means of support which has been followed by Jinks Taylor since he came into office is getting Pendleton a hard reputation with the "knights of the road." There were none of the rascals in city court this morning. Reports have it that tramps who are going through have established the practice of getting off of trains on either side of town and walking around the edge of the city limits to the railroad on the opposite side where they board the next train and get away. Louis Anderson, charged with being drunk, was the only man to face the police judge this morning. He paid a fine of $10.

Colonel Furlong in Portland

Charles Wellington Furlong, author, artist and explorer, who has had many exciting adventures in the far corners of the world, loves the west with fervor and understanding. He has put his great feeling for this country into his latest book, "Let 'er Buck." Inspired by the Pendleton Round-Up, which Mr. Furlong witnessed for the first time in 1912, he makes his home now in Pendleton and is in Portland for a few days at the Benson. His book, "a story of the passing of the old west," is a tale of adventure, history, romance and information, all blended in a most attractive way. Mr. Furlong doesn't look as if he had ridden a bucking buffalo, but he has, and it is probably because of his actual contact with all the thrilling events which are part of the Round-Up, that he has been able to give such a faithful picture of the west, full of life and color. Mr. Furlong is modest about his work and refers only in the most casual way to the "time when I was in South America," not mentioning the fact that there he was in charge of an expedition through Tierra del Fuego and Patagonia for a leading American magazine. He was the first American to cross through the heart of Tierra del Fuego. Other expeditions led him through the wilderness of Dutch Guiana and up the Orinoco. In South America he also carried on ethnological research in leading museums. The West African islands were the scene of another of his exploration trips and he led an expedition through the interior of the Azores, Madeira, Desertas and Canary Islands. During the war he was appointed on the general staff of the United States army and was with the American and allied forces in the near east.—Oregonian.

OPERATION CALLED OFF WHEN TEETH ARE FOUND

DELPHOS, O., Aug. 27.—(I. N. S.)—Julian Fast, manufacturer, thought that he had swallowed his false teeth in a fit of laughter, when a hen stole a sandwich he was eating in his yard. He was rushed to a hospital, apparently choking to death, arrangements were made for an operation. Word was received at the last moment, however, not to operate, as the teeth had been found in the yard.

A bite of the sandwich and a lively imagination produced the choking sensation, from which Fast rapidly recovered when he learned his mistake.

MANY CHILDREN DIE FROM QUEER MALADY

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—(I. N. S.)—A strange illness, resembling blood poisoning, has caused the death of three children of a Bronx policeman's family and has threatened the life of a fourth. Physicians at Fordham Hospital are mystified by the malady.

James Lennon, five years old, was taken sick about two weeks ago and died a week later. The outstanding symptom of his ailment was a sore throat which caused him great suffering before death.

The body of James was buried Sunday, and on the same day a sister, Katherine, ten years old, became ill with the same symptoms and was removed to the hospital. She died the next day. Arrangements were being made for her burial Thursday, when her brother, nine years old, was stricken, and he died.

Dr. Heitzmann, Medical Examiner of the Bronx, who reported the three deaths, said the physicians at the hospital had found traces of mushroom poisoning, but he has learned, he said, that the children had not eaten mushrooms before they became ill. The burial examiner seemed to think that the children, who were accustomed to play in the woods near their home, might have been poisoned by eating wild berries of some kind.

The stomach contents of Katherine and Andrew, Dr. Heitzmann said, have been sent to Dr. A. O. Kettler, at the City Laboratory, for analysis. It was learned that several other children living in the vicinity of the Lennon home have been suffering from minor throat troubles.

Wheat—Buying by seaboard interests export sales had but little influence early in the day, but found reflection in the market toward the close when the decline failed to bring out liquidation, aside from the continued export demand the news in circulation was more bearish than it has been recently. A Canadian message reported an error of three bushels per acre in the indicated yield given in the Winnipeg-Free Press report early in the week. This means an increase of 33,000,000 bushels in the Saskatchewan crop. Other advices from Canada were to the effect that yields in Manitoba and Saskatchewan are turning out better than expected. An early and heavy movement is expected in that country on account of adverse financial conditions. Receipts are gradually increasing in the American northwest, and cash prices at Minneapolis today declined about five cents, compared with futures. We do not consider the time opportune to take an aggressive position on the long side.
