CHICAGO POLICEMAN SEES WAY TO CUT NUMBER OF CRIMES

Officer Promotes Men for All Meritorious Work But Punishes All Laggards.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(U. N. S.)—Charles C. Fitzmorris, Chicago police chief, who has been in New York studying its police communicative system with the idea in view of further improving Chicago's "system," has returned to his post to further decrease crime—although he has a record of changing Chicago in two years from "the leading city in crime" to "the city with the lowest crime record in the United States."

BACKACHE OF WOMEN
The back is often called the main-spring of a woman's life. What can she do, where can she go, so long as that deadly backache says every particle of her strength and ambition? She cannot walk, she cannot stand, her household is a burden, or the long hours behind the counter, in the office or factory are crushing. She is miserable. The cause is many times some derangement of her system, and backache is a common symptom. Lodia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound is a reliable remedy for backache, as for more than forty years it has been relieving women of America from the ailments which often cause it.

Chiefs of police, take notice! Here is a sure-fire method of decreasing crime waves in your cities, says Charles C. Fitzmorris, Chicago police chief:

1. Meritorious service by policemen should elevate them in the ranks.
2. Reward your worthy policemen and punish those who do not do their duty.
3. Teach policemen to prevent crime rather than trace it down after it is committed.

Fitzmorris, who little more than two years ago was merely a secretary to the Mayor of Chicago and who just a bit later than that was a newspaper reporter, today is given credit in a report made by the Chicago Crime Commission for having made the following statement possible for publication:

"Chicago today has a lower crime record than any other city in the country. Two years ago this city had a crime wave that was greater than that in any other city in the United States."

"That is substantially a quotation from the report made by Edwin W. Sims, president of the Crime Commission. And Sims, by the way, is a banker—not connected with the Police Department in any way—while every member of the Crime Commission is a banker of note; men who are supposed to know the effects of crime."

Didn't Come From Ranks
Fitzmorris didn't come from the "ranks," but today he is encouraging a system of "reward for meritorious police service by promotion," believing that the man interested in his work is the man who will get the best results. Fitzmorris learned several things as a police reporter and in his association with the department in connection with his work as secretary to Mayor Thompson, of Chicago. And here is one of the things he learned:

"Citizens look upon a fireman as a man who saves citizens from the flames and who saves citizens' homes, while the same citizens look upon a policeman as a man who arrests them—nothing more."

This is the cue that started Fitzmorris on the road to police success—because crime is greatly on the decrease in Chicago. He started out by teaching his policemen to help citizens in every way possible: to teach these citizens that the policeman was not merely on hand "to arrest them," but to help them.

Merit System Installed
To get a policeman to adopt this attitude, Fitzmorris installed a system of promotion—that a man was placed automatically in line for promotion when he did service of merit. To prevent obstinate policemen, who refused to co-operate in the new movement, from hindering the movement of following the old system, Fitzmorris made it automatically punishable for a policeman who neglected his duty.

Forty-seven railroads center in Chicago, which has a population of more than 3,000,000 persons, in addition to a "floating tramp influx" of 750 a day. This is the same "population" that Chicago had three years ago, when the crime wave was at its height.

"We reward our policemen whenever their acts are meritorious and punish them when they fail to do their duty," Fitzmorris said. "We made it mandatory that when a policeman performed an act of merit he was automatically elevated in rank; we teach them to prevent crime rather than trace it down after it is committed."

QUAIL ARE "CITY BROKE"

MARION, O., Sept. 7.—(U. N. S.)—Here's something for the nature lovers who should pitch their tents on East Center street, near the fashionable residence district here. In that neighborhood a covey of quail, protected by law, have become "city broke" and established their home within the shade of the great elms. They show not the slightest fear of their human neighbors.

FIRE BURNS AMUSEMENT PARK

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 7.—(U. P.)—Fire swept Rendezvous Park, an Atlantic City amusement place, causing $150,000 damage.

Economy in the use of irrigation water on sandy soils is effected by good soil management and by the strip border method of application. At the Unatilla branch experiment station H. K. Dean, superintendent, has reduced the duty of water from 3.7 acre-feet to 4.7 acre feet last year. This stretches the water for one acre at first to more than enough for two acres now, without loss of yield.

President's Messenger

This pigeon conveyed a message from the Mayflower at sea to the Executive office. The flight was made in record time. This winged messenger has flown 2170 miles in official duties. The picture was taken at the Anacostia Naval Air Station.

This Satisfies the Curious

"Say, what building's that?" Every Washington visitor used to ask street car conductors and traffic cops that when they passed the Post Office Department on Pennsylvania Avenue. Now Will Hays, postmaster general, has put a sign over the door to identify the place.

The Latest Tam

Here's the very latest Tam. No, it isn't straight from Scotland—it's from Paris. Franklin Simon has imported this eight-covered tam with its uncured ostrich cabochon. The new tam suggests those smart little hats which Henry VIII affected when he was all dolled up to make a hit with the ladies.

CONFIDENCE WINS THIS BATTLE

FANS YAWN, SO UMPIRE GIVES PROD TO PLAYERS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 7.—(U. N. S.)—Here's a hint for a song entitled "Come Out of Your Lethargy, Baseball Fans." Give part of the credit to Umpire O'Connell, of the American League.

The Browns and Washingtons were lagging along through the slowest game of the season here. O'Connell stopped the game, discarded his mask, stepped to the front of the grandstand and yawned longingly, stretching thoroughly at the same time.

"That's the way the game is running," he shouted to the players. "If the fans in the stand are not asleep, by Jimminy, it's not your fault." The players came out of their lethargy.

SEES WAY FOR GERMANY TO RECOVER FROM WAR

By FRANK E. MASON, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—Enormous profits made on depreciated United States federal bonds after the war gave Germany the financial start for her wide industrial expansion, according to Berthold Arons, of the Berlin banking house of Arons & Walters.

"The beginning of my banking career, which dates back to 1866, was occupied with Germany's purchase and sale of American bonds," declared Mr. Arons to the International News Service. "At that time, immediately after the civil war, the confederate bonds were worthless and the Northern States paper money had depreciated to a rate of between 20 and 40 cents to the gold standard."

"Berlin cleared between four and five million dollars worth of business daily and all the available savings of private investors went into North American securities at these very low prices. The 4 per cent bonds bought below 40 were sold as high as 100. The tremendous profits were the foundations of some of Germany's largest enterprises today."

"Conditions are reversed today; we must sell our securities to America at a very low rate. America has the world's money; only America can make us the loan which will be necessary to stabilize the mark and put Germany on a sound basis."

The Key that Unlocks the Door to Long Living

The men of eighty-five and ninety years of age are not the rotund, well-fed, but thin, spare men, who live on a slender diet. Be as careful as he will, however, a man past middle age will occasionally eat too much or of some article of food not suited to his constitution, causing indigestion or constipation, and will need a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets to move his bowels and invigorate his stomach. When this is done, there is no reason why the average man should not live to a ripe old age.

No Substitute Offered
Say what you will about druggists offering something "just as good" because it pays a better profit, the fact still stands that ninety nine out of a hundred druggists recommend Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, when the best medicine for diarrhoea is asked for; and do so because they know from what their customers say of it, that it can be depended upon.

A Pronounced Success
The uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the relief and cure of bowel complaints, both for children and adults, has brought it into almost universal use, so that it is practically without a rival and as everyone who has used it knows, it is without an equal.

The Ideal Purgative

As a purgative, Chamberlain's Tablets are the exact thing required, strong enough for the most robust, mild enough for children. They cause an agreeable movement of the bowels without any of that terrible griping. They are easy and pleasant to take and agreeable in effect.
