WEDDING IS SOLEMNIZED

Culminating a romance which began during childhood days, Miss Vera Temple, daughter of Mrs. Aivah Slusher of this city, last night became the bride of Henry Clay Judd, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Judd, of Portland, the ceremony taking place at the Church of the Redeemer with Rev. Alfred Lockwood officiating.

Baskets of asters, radials and delphiniums were attractively used in decorating the church. The bride, looking lovely in a gown of soft white Canton crepe which was brought from the Orient, entered the church with Mr. Slusher, who gave her in marriage. Miss Temple's gown, trimmed with rare lace, and full length train, were exquisitely embroidered, and her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms arranged in coronet effect. Bride's roses and orchids were used for the beautiful shower bouquet she carried.

Proceeding the bride were Miss Esther Shea, of Portland, and Miss Katherine Thompson, bridesmaids, in frocks of sapphire, bridesmaids in frocks wearing a frock of apricot taffeta. The three gowns were cut on charmingly bouffant lines, with silver roses and ribbon used as a trimming. Each maid wore a flower trimmed tulle hat to match her gown, and carried an old-fashioned frilled bouquet of many colored blossoms. Little Miss Evelyn Cresswell, niece of the bride, made an adorable flower girl in frock of pink taffeta trimmed with rosebud wreaths and worn with pink georgette that. She carried a basket of Cecil Brunner roses and valley lilies, surmounted by a fluffy pink tulle bow.

The bride and her attendants, proceeding to the altar to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. W. C. E. Pruitt, with violin obligato by E. A. McDonald, were met by the groom and best man, Frank Dickson, and the ushers, Harold Brock and Thomas Murphy. During the ring service Mr. McDonald played Gluck's "Andante," and after the ceremony the Mendelssohn march were played on organ and violin.

A reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Slusher followed the ceremony. Receiving the guests with the bride and groom were Mr. and Mrs. Slusher and Mr. and Mrs. Judd. Mrs. Slusher wore a gown of orchid pink tulle and satin with velvet flowers. Mrs. Judd wore embroidered tulle in violet shades, made over silver cloth.

Roses were effectively used in decorating the rooms, a great cluster of Columbian roses centering the table in the dining-room, where Mrs. Dale Slusher, Mrs. Henry Collins, Mrs. F. E. Boyden and Mrs. J. N. Burgess presided. Assisting in serving were Mrs. R. E. Chloupek, Mrs. Walter Crosswell, Mrs. Ralph Temple, Mrs. Donald Robinson, Miss Margaret Phelps, Mrs. Harold Fitzhugh, Miss Madeline Burgess, Miss Helen Thompson and Miss Elsie Fitzmaurice. Trio numbers by Miss Pauline Rice, cello, and Mr. and Mrs. McDonald, violin and piano, were most pleasing.

Mr. and Mrs. Judd left last evening for Portland, from where they will go to Chicago, going thence by motor through the New England states and to New York and Washington. They will later make their home in Portland.

For her traveling attire the bride chose a smart suit of blue, worn with feather trimmed hat to match. Before her departure she threw her bouquet, which was caught by Miss Thelma Thompson.

Mrs. Judd is a charming girl whose personality and character have endeared her to hosts of friends. She is a member of a pioneer family, and a sister of Mrs. Walter Crosswell, and Roy and Ralph Temple of this city. She attended University of Oregon and is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta women's fraternity. Later she was graduated from the National Kindergarten school in Chicago. She recently returned from a trip to the Philippines and the Orient.

Mr. Judd formerly resided in Pendleton, and attended school here. During the war he served as a member of the 65th Coast Artillery and later entered University of Oregon where he was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Among the out-of-town guests, besides the parents of the groom, were Mrs. W. L. Thompson and son, Edward Thompson, of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Nesmith Ankeny, of Walla Walla, Frank Dickson and Miss Annamay Bronaugh, of Portland.

ALBERTA'S WHEAT CROP MAKES 82,000,000 BU.

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 12.—(I. N. S.)—The harvest is drawing to a close in Western Canada. Manitoba and Saskatchewan expect larger harvests than last year, while Alberta's crop is expected to be about the same.

Excellent falling and ripening weather prevailed for two weeks immediately preceding the commencement of cutting. The Alberta wheat crop is estimated at 82,000,000 bushels, an average of about twenty-five bushels to the acre.

The Saskatchewan harvest of wheat, oats, barley and flax is estimated at around 275,000,000 bushels.
