FOOTBALL SEASON AT UNIVERSITY OF OREGON WILL OPEN THURSDAY

Many Old Men Coming Back for Season, But Fans Kick at Schedule; One Home Game.

Football practice opens at the University of Oregon September 15, although University does not open until September 27. This year, practice season is beginning in conformation with the Northwestern Pacific Conference rulings.

Shy Huntington, who has been Oregon's football mentor, will again be in charge. He will have the assistance of Bart Spellman, and Brick Mitchell. All three of these men played on the 1918 Oregon Varsity team that played and won from the University of Pennsylvania at Pasadena.

Bill Hayward, famous track coach, will again train the men. For the coming year Martin Howard has been elected captain of the team. It is his third year on the Oregon Varsity, and is one of the three men on the team who played against Harvard in 1918.

Everett Brandenberg, captain of the 1919 team, will also return for his third year of football, after being crippled last year. Skeet Manerud, sensational midget quarterback of the 1919 team will also return. The last Bears Varsity, Spike Leslie, will return to play his position at tackle. This is Spike's third year on the Varsity. It is expected that he will do some of the punting. The members of the last year's team who will return are Rudd Brown, Neil Morfitt, ends; Scotty Strachan, guard; Bart Loughlin, center; Tiny Shields, tackle, and Bill Reinhart and George King, back field. There is some talk about Tiny Shields being checked from tackle to fullback. He is also expected to do punting in the game. Billy Reinhart has the odds for quarter. Other men who will return are strong to make up the team are Glenn Campbell, Hugh Graham, Edward McAlister, Floyd Shields and Karl Von der Ahe. The promising freshmen coming back are John Bryson, Ken Burton, Harace Eyer, Harold Chapman, Tom DeArmond, Jess Dugman, Fred Dunn, Jean DuPaul, H. B. Grain, Earl Johnson, J. W. Johnson, Ralph Johnson, L. E. Jordan, R. H. McKeown, Keller King, Edwin Kirtley, Charles Parsons, Ben-

The New Senatorial Pastime

The old-fashioned game of horseshoes is coming into favor with senators. Here are Senators Ralph H. Cameron of Arizona and Holm Bursum of New Mexico in a quiet game on the Capitol Plaza with a cop as an interested spectator.

Reed, Victor Risley, and Lee Weber.

The schedule of the University of Oregon is not considered a good schedule from the fans' viewpoint. Only one game being played at home, which of course, is the regret of the students of the University. The schedule is as follows:

Oct. 1—Oregon vs. Willamette at Salem, Oregon.

October 15—Oregon vs. Idaho at Portland, Oregon.

October 22—Oregon vs. California at Berkeley, California.

Nov. 5—Oregon vs. W. S. C. at Pullman, Washington.

Nov. 19—Oregon vs. O. A. C. at Eugene, Oregon.

November 24—Multnomah vs. Oregon at Portland, Oregon.

December 25—Oregon vs. University of Hawaii at Honolulu.

January 2—Oregon vs. All Hawaiian Team at Honolulu.

Fall baseball plans have been completed for the fall baseball practice. The school of physical education has worked out a schedule and expect to utilize the first good weather of the first six weeks of school with outdoor baseball practice.

DROUGHT STIRS UP MAKERS OF RAINFALL

EMPOHIA, Kan., Sept. 13.—(I. N. S.)—The "rainmaker" is on the job again. Or rather, he's after a job again. And if Kansas farmers will only say the word he will come to their broad acres and, with the proper "incense poems," bring down torrents of rain to succor the ripening crops.

The drought in this section of Kansas during the past month brought scores of applications from "rainmakers." Individuals, corporations and communities received them by the dozen. It appears, in fact, that there are enough "rainmakers" scattered around the country to bring about a second Deluge, if they all gathered in convention and started up their rainmaking machinery to lure the elusive raindrops out of a clear sky.

As a result of the rainmakers' offers to give Kansas a downright good soaking, many inquiries have been received at the Kansas State Normal school here as to whether credence could be placed in such a proposition. Professors in the department of chemistry have replied that "rain making" is a scientific possibility.

"Professor Dinsmore arranged a balloon-like affair, which he sent into the air from the roof of the building," said a faculty member who witnessed the experiment.

"To this was attached a little rubber tube leading to an ammonia gas generator on the building. The gas, escaping into the air, tended to condense the moisture in the clouds until they became heavy enough to precipitate in the form of rain. Some rain actually was produced. The experiment, of course, was on a small scale."

No rainmaker, however, has been engaged as yet to mix Jupiter's Phlox cocktails for thirsty Kansas crops.

FEDERAL GOV'T BACKS PLAN TO GIVE FARMERS NEWS BY WIRELESS

Wireless Telephone Newspaper Will Furnish All Sorts News to Different Localities.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 13.—(I. N. S.)—The wireless telephone newspaper is here. This project is backed by the United States Government through the Post Office Department and the "trial" station will soon be opened in Omaha. If the premier tryout proves a success similar stations will be established over the entire continent at a distance of 400 miles apart.

R. B. Howell, Republican National Committeeman from Nebraska, is the man in whose mind this novel idea, "bubbled." He is an engineer, a graduate of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis and was a lieutenant during the World War. Howell is the head of the Omaha municipal water works, gas works and ice plant. Recently Howell broached his plans to Postmaster-General Hays.

Hays was well pleased with the idea and asked Howell to establish an experiment wireless newspaper in Omaha. Also he appointed Howell to go to Europe and make investigations of certain phases of wireless reports which are being made over there. Howell sailed September 1.

Will Be Started at Once

The wireless newspaper will not wait for Howell's return, however, but will be started immediately.

If present plans are carried out the wireless newspaper will furnish all sorts of news to farmers, ranchmen, small towns, city business men and to homes. It will be run from early morning until late at night. Certain classes of news will be carried over the "wires" at stipulated hours.

"We may find it necessary to change our plans and undoubtedly will make many changes," said Howell. "We will add some features and eliminate others as we progress."

The cost, as outlined by Howell in his report to Postmaster-General Hays, is a minor item. The sending stations, equipped and ready for use, will cost approximately $25,000 each. The receiving stations to be paid for by the persons receiving the service, will cost not to exceed $25. The news used will be free.

"The objects of the service is to extend the government functions, to increase the joy of living and to put the day's news into the hands of all who wish it while it is still happening," said Howell. "It is not intended, however, to usurp the position of the newspapers."

Preparal Is Feasible

Rear Admiral Bullard, chief of communications of the United States Navy, together with the officials of the Radio Corporation of America and the chief engineer of the De Forrest Radio Telephone and Telegram Company of New York have declared that the proposal is wholly feasible from a technical point of view.

The wireless connection will be operated in conjunction with the Post Office Department. Howell does not intend to devote his time to the new service, but only is assisting Mr. HAY in getting the venture started.

The exact date of the wireless telephone newspaper opening has not been set yet and will depend largely

INABLE TO FIND LOVER GIRL ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 13.—(I. N. S.)—The confession that things always looked gloomy to her, even when a child, and that she has never cared whether she lived or died, was made by nineteen-year-old Ora Cook when she was taken to police headquarters here. An officer found her in a field, across the road from the Spring Grove Cemetery, her head bound up in a handkerchief soaked in chloroform.

Stating she had left her home, near Zouan, Kentucky in search for an old sweetheart, she admitted a desire to die because she could not find him.

Numerous attempts have been made by the girl to end her life, she said. She was only seven years old, she declared, when she attempted to kill herself by swallowing glass. She was prevented from jumping into a river at Omaha, Neb. Starting for the ocean at Los Angeles, she said, she stopped at a drug store and tried to buy some strychnine.

Despite the fact that Miss Cook talked in a rational manner, police officials expressed belief that she was mentally deranged.

The girl's father, Lee Cook, was notified that his daughter was being held at the Place of Detention here.
