Dick Bush, a cattlemen of the McKay Creek district, was a visitor in Pendleton today. He has just returned from taking a carload of cattle to Portland.

Arnold Planting, a wheat rancher of the Pilot Rock section, was a business visitor here today.

JOHN DAY GRADE NEARLY COST US A MAIL ROUTE

Because of the poor condition of the road from here to Grant county, particularly the John Day grade, in Umatilla county, a recent attempt was made by postal authorities to abandon the mail route between Ukiah and Long Creek. An inspector had been over the road and claimed it as so difficult to travel that he believed the Long Creek and Titter section should be provided mail through Baker and Prater.

However such a protest was made by people in Northern Grant who have business relations with Pendleton and other Umatilla county towns that the plan was given up. Mrs. Davis, proprietor of the hot springs at Ritter, who was in Pendleton yesterday, took a leading part in trying to save the mail route and she says the inspector has promised to have the mail contract stand as in the past.

Mrs. Davis was here yesterday accompanied by her little daughter Violet who has returned to St. Joseph's academy.

HORSE, WISER THAN HIS MASTER SEEKS HOSPITAL

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 14.—Use of common horse sense oft-times is valuable to horses as well as humans. A horse belonging to a farmer four miles from here became ill with cholera, kicked the barn door away and appeared at a horse hospital in the city for treatment. The veterinarian after treating the horse remembered that about a year ago he had treated it for the same ailment. The owner said he had not taken the horse there during the intervening period.

FARM BUREAU HOLDS MEETING AT FREEWATER

Correct soil management is one of the most vital phases of the orchardist's business, according to a statement made by Clayton L. Long in a speech at the meeting of the farm bureau local at Freewater yesterday. The meeting was held following a luncheon and Ben Slover presided.

Besides an intelligent soil management practice, the care of the trees themselves, the combating of pests and the correct thinning of green fruit are items of importance to be mastered by the grower before he can expect to produce a good crop for market. To retain moisture is a real task, Mr. Long declared, and to assure moisture being kept in the soil, and to keep the soil at an even temperature he advanced sowing alfalfa between the trees. Alfalfa is preferable to red clover, the speaker said in his opinion, due to the fact that the alfalfa roots go down deeply, and after two years are not competing with the trees.

Diseases Not Serious.
Dr. C. J. Heald, pathologist of the Washington state college, in a discussion of the pests which bother local growers said that these pests are not of a serious nature. An examination of orchards where it was thought silver-leaf had got a start shows that this disease is not present on trees in non-organic diseases are causing worry to prune growers, according to the speaker.

The delayed effects of severe winter weather in 1919 is just beginning to make itself apparent, in the opinion of Dr. Heald. The two-year-old wood has not the vitality which it would otherwise have had. Variations in soils is another cause of trouble to growers.

The scope of the work in horticulture in Oregon is limited because there is little money and not sufficient help to work every section of the state, Paul V. Maria, director of the extension service, said in a brief talk. The demand for the work is increasing rapidly.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

RIVOLI TODAY DARE DEVIL DRIVER DRIVEN DOROTHY DALTON

One scene of "Behind Masks," Dorothy Dalton's latest, Paramount picture, demanded the skillful driving of a high-powered foreign car carrying Miss Dalton along a country road on the outskirts of New York. When it was time to "shoot" the scene, Director Frank Reicher was astounded to see the car come tearing down the road and go through the required action perfectly without rehearsal.

This unusual incident caused the director to make inquiries of the driver. It proved that he was Captain N. C. Fitzgerald, late of the United States Aviation Service, a dare devil automobile driver and aeroplane stunt man. He explained that he happened to be at the garage at the time that a call came in for a car and he volunteered to drive it in order to get motion picture experience for a production of his own he was going to put on, "Behind Masks," starring Dorothy Dalton, will be shown at the Rivoli Theatre today. Her leading man is Fredrik Vogeding, a player of considerable note. The support generally is excellent.

ALTA TODAY PUN AND MELLODRAMA IN NEW INCE PICTURE

Tears the with smiles in the story of "Homespun Folks," Thomas H. Ince's tremendous triumph for the Associated Producers, Inc. while will be shown at the Alta Theatre today. Perhaps in no American-made photoplay of recent years has there been such a vast wealth of appeal, combining human interest, comedy and melodrama. The new Ince picture contains heart throbs, romance and pathos, in addition to numerous comedy touches.

It tells of a country lawyer's fight against crooked politics, and as a modern picture of small town life holds the mirror truthfully to the real thing. There are the high lights of "Homespun Folks"—its realism, its truth and its simple honesty. The characters are real, the plot is a story of human people and the direction is chock full of master touches. Lloyd Hughes, as the young district attorney with a conscience, makes a definite step upward in his screen career, breadth and scope being apparent in his characterization. Two remarkably life-like old country doctors are played by Charles H. Malles and Al H. Filson. Gladys George is the heroine.

in "Behind Masks"

Revolutionary beauty rolling in wealth, and just graduated from a convent. What a dainty prize for the social parasite among whom life had thrown her! But behind her mask of innocence she played her own little game of hearts.

The most marvelous machine in the world—and how it is neglected

AWAY back in the school books was a lesson on physiology. Rather dull as a lesson. Yet it was the story of the most marvelous machine ever created—and how the machine gets its power and does its work. That machine is the human body. Some day the mechanical expert of this machine—the doctor—finds out for us where we have missed the lesson and neglected the machine. GRAPE-NUTS food was made in accordance with the school book lesson on what the body needs and how its needs may best be supplied. It is possible for a delicious food to be a scientific, "power" food. Grape-Nuts is such a food. Perfecting Natural Gifts Twenty hours of continuous baking has done certain wonderful things to the nourishing properties of whole wheat and malted barley flour, from which Grape-Nuts is made—and has produced a food in the form of crisp, golden-brown granules. You chew Grape-Nuts thoroughly. The rich, sweet flavor of Grape-Nuts is the reward of chewing. Nature meant the teeth to be used. Primitive people, who keep the natural teeth sound and perfect to old age, are eaters of food which requires chewing. Grape-Nut gives the teeth work to do. Perhaps you remember a little of the physiology lesson, now—how the salivary juices respond when the food is thoroughly chewed—and the first important step in digestion is taken. Life-Giving Properties Wheat and malted barley are richest
