Steadiness Rules

North Portland Market (From The Oregon Journal.) Twelve loads of livestock came to North Portland Wednesday with the greatest showing of sheep. Practically no price change was shown for the season.

In the sheep alleys there was a liberal showing Wednesday. Four loads of 516 head of lambs went at $6.75 to packers but as the stock was weighed off cars it means practically $6.50 on the fill, or unchanged values. The lambs were from the Mount Adams section and averaged 35 pounds.

General sheep and lamb range: East of mountain lambs $ 6.00 @ 6.50 West valley lambs 5.50 @ 6.00 Fair to good lambs 5.00 @ 5.50 Feeder lambs 3.50 @ 3.90 Cull lambs 4.50 @ 5.00 Light yearlings 4.00 @ 4.50 Heavy yearlings 2.50 @ 3.00 Light wethers 2.50 @ 3.00

Heavy Wethers

2.00 @ 2.50 Ewes 1.00 @ 2.00 With a small run of 348 head in the North Portland alleys Wednesday, the swine market was considered fairly steady. In fact sale of a limited volume was made at a late hour Tuesday at $12.75; or a rise of 25c above regular carload values. General hog market range: Prime light 12.00 @ 12.50 Smooth heavy, 200-300 pounds 10.00 @ 11.00 Smooth heavy, 300 lbs., up 9.00 @ 10.00 Rough heavy 6.00 @ 9.00 Fat pigs 11.50 @ 12.25 Feeder pigs 10.50 @ 11.50 Stags 4.00 @ 7.50 Nothing fresh appeared for sale in the cattle alleys at North Portland Wednesday. The market received a rather unusual run Tuesday and this rather took the wind out of the market's strength and some sales were made late Tuesday at a concession of 25c. However, the general market appears fairly steady.

More Strength Shown At Irregular Session

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(A. P.)—On the most extensive operations of any session in recent months, the stock market yesterday made some noteworthy accessions to its recent recovery. Sales totaled $575,000 shares. Trade was confusing, however, early strength giving way to irregularity in midday. Another vigorous rebound later was impaired by heavy profit-taking. This in some instances including gains at the close. Commission houses with western and other interior connections were prominent in buying. Their participation tended to confirm the impression that public interest in the securities market is showing definite signs of revival.

Sentiment in speculative quarters seemed to be swayed by relaxed monetary conditions, the more stable course of commodities and the general, if somewhat moderate, improvement shown by the steel industry. On the exchange call money opened at 5 per cent with abundant offerings at 4 1/2 outside. Time loans were made at 5 1/2 per cent, even for the longer periods, and a slight concession was noted in the rate for commercial paper.

Of all usual leaders oils were relatively backward, most of the foreign and high grade domestic issues denoting pressure. Steels and equipments dominated the list. Shipping and motors, also the motor accessories, made substantial contributions to the advance with chemicals and paper and leather specialties. Dealings in rails were limited mainly to secondary issues and copper reacted on trade conditions.

Further heavy buying of dollar exchange in London for British and other interests precipitated sharp reversals in the local foreign exchange market, virtually all European remittances weakening, especially francs and marks. The bond market, including liberties, was mostly higher on enlarged dealings. Among foreign issues the strength of Cuba Cans 7s and Neaviness of United Kingdoms of 1927 were contrasting features. Total sales per value, $14,850,000.

Rains in Argentina Lower Wheat Prices CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—(A. P.)—Rains in Argentina, together with depression in foreign exchange, led to setbacks yesterday in wheat. Closing quotations were heavy, 2c to 1 1/2c net lower with December $1.30 1/2 to $1.31 and May $1.35 1/4 to $1.35 3/4. Corn finished a shade off to 1-8c up. Oats down 1-8c to 3-8c, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 25 @ 27c.

At first, wheat had a pronounced upward slant, owing chiefly to liberal buying of United States wheat yesterday by foreigners. But shortly before mid-day, when news came that drought in Argentina was broken, the market soon weakened. Meanwhile bearish sentiment was reinforced by signs that the foreign exchange situation was interfering with export business. Corn and oats were governed mainly by wheat, wet weather, thought, tended somewhat to sustain corn. Besides, gossip was current that the yield of corn would prove disappointing. Provisions averaged lower with hogs. Packers sold lard.

Hogs and Lambs Slip Down in Price

Cattle—Receipts, 5,000; beef steers steady to strong; top yearlings, $9.70; cows uneven, steady; heifers strong; bulls, veals and stockers and feeders steady. Sheep—Receipts 17,000; lambs up-even; spots strong; early general market 25c lower; one load prime Idaho lambs, $74-pound average, $10.25; bulk Eastern lambs, $9.25 @ 9.75; sheep strong; ewes, top, $4.40; feeders dull, weak.

He may also visit London and place a medal on the grave of an unidentified British soldier buried in Westminster Abbey, he said. He will remain abroad only a few weeks.

MAN CROSSES COUNTRY IN PRAIRIE SCHOONER

FREDERICK, Md., Sept. 15.—(U. P.)—Prosperous, but with an innate aversion for the automobile which his New England stubbornness will not permit him to forget, J. C. Berrang, living near West Chester, Conn., sixty years old, and his white-haired wife are migrating to the west in search of further fortunes, as the pioneers of sixty years ago did. They are traveling in an oxen-drawn wagon. They don't anticipate reaching the "promised land" until late in 1922.

Already Berrang and his wife have been on the road nearly a year. They left their Connecticut farm December 2, 1920, and their destination is the fruit belt of Oregon. The procession is quaint. The "wagon train" is headed by two huge oxen, drawing a canvas-covered wagon with bulging bows. This is followed by a more modest outfit—a cart drawn by an ox. They make ten miles a day. They have no speed records to break. Mrs. Berrang, white haired, who shares this adventure-some spirit of her husband, has walked beside the unique train the greater part of the distance from Connecticut.

Berrang is unable to account for his great desire for adventure in the late days of his life. He has money, enough to live comfortably. His home is in Connecticut. He knew no other country. He prospered. Then he had his first misfortune. His barn and home burned down. But that didn't financially wreck him. Instead it created in him the desire to go west and see for himself the wonderful opportunities which he believes he'll find there.

Once he reaches the goal he says he wants to "settle down" and begin all over again. He's going to buy a small farm, raise fruit, and just putter around the farm. He confesses that to him this trip is his "gold strike of '49." That rush for gold nearly three-quarters of a century ago has always had glamour for him. Now he's off to search for another kind of gold.

In Ohio Berrang will switch off to the Lincoln highway. In winter he will be headed for the south, and in spring he'll turn north, and then the final lap—to Oregon and to his apple orchard.

OFFICE CAT

To Min Cordials and wines, straw-colored or bright-red; Imported drinks, I've tried them all, you see. But there is one surpasses all the rest. The brew that Min has made at home, for me. There's color, flavor, foam that bubbles high. Cold, as the ice of Norway, in my stein. A hail and ho for Minnie's Round-Up brew. With kick that trickles far a-down my spine. —Contributed.

No One Seriously Injured

A recent ad for one of Pendleton's leading stores began thus in the Trib: "September Morn." and it is reported that some of our prominent citizens went stone blind. Recovery was speedy, however, when upon later investigation this proved to be merely an ad for blankets "For These Chilly September Mornings."
