ALTA TODAY

Pearl White, in the William Fox production "The Tigers Cub," a powerful drama of the Alaskan snows adapted from George Goodchild's great story, is announced as the feature attraction at the Alta Theatre beginning today.

"The Tigers Cub" is described as the most perfect Alaskan drama ever screened. It carries a powerfully dramatic theme and contains heart appeal, thrilling moments and entertainment value far in excess of the average picture.

Briefly, the narrative unfolds the attempt of two geographers, Bill Stark and "Tiger" Gloss, to rob Colonel

Summers of his gold mine. In a dispute over a poker game in which Stark unfairly wins the mine, the "Tiger" mortally wounds the Colonel. Before he dies Summers writes an accusation of the "Tiger" and gives it to Lone Wolf, his Indian servant.

When David Summers arrives to run down the murders of his father, he meets and falls in love with the Cub, the "Tiger's" beautiful daughter. Stark, however, who has secretly married Hilda, a dance hall girl, conceives a desire for the Cub, and offers her father a half interest in the mine he has stolen in consideration of his consent to their marriage. The Cub is forced to wed the scoundrel.

David learns of the marriage, and also that Stark is the despoiler of his father. He pursues Stark, there in a hand-to-hand fight, David is dangerously wounded, and Stark is about to finish him when Hilda, who has hidden in the cabin, kills Stark.

The picture has a happy ending. In the fine supporting cast Thomas Carigan is leading man.

Two important things characterize the new fur coats. One is their price—at least a third lower than last year. The other is the all-weather. The big, ample, kimono cut has given way to the waist-line sleeve, as shown in the Franklin Simon model of squirrel and Saxon mole.
