IRRIGATION CONGRESS

gated lands which he considers of inestimable value in securing favorable action by congress in the passage of that bill and we are going to comply with his request.

The passage of the Smith-McNary bill will enable many feasible irrigation projects to get under way and become producing communities. We can do much in creating a greater feeling of confidence in irrigation securities and thereby assist many worthy projects in the selling of their irrigation bonds at a price which the securities merit.

We believe that the word irrigation should be included in the official name of the 1925 fair to be held in Portland because irrigation means more to Oregon than any other one industry. This fair offers us a great opportunity to display the products of our irrigation districts and thus offer substantial testimony of what water means to our arid lands for the benefit of prospective settlers.

The next meeting of the Oregon Irrigation Congress will be held in Pendleton December 15, 16, 17, 1921, and will be attended by everyone interested in irrigation in the state, to hear talks and exchange views with men who have made a success of irrigation and to hear of the methods used by them in getting the water on various kinds of soils and devise substantial methods for improving irrigation in Oregon.

In short the purpose of the Oregon Irrigation Congress is to work in a practical way to advance the cause of irrigation and by so doing build up the state of Oregon as a whole.

MUSIC FROM THE BANDS OF NEIGHBORING CITIES AND OREGON STATE BAND ADD MUCH TO PLEASURE OF VISITORS TO ROUND-UP

Premier among the bands here for the Round-Up is the Oregon State Band of Eugene. This band is one of the most sought after in the state and their members are pleasing the Round-Up crowds with their selections.

The band is composed of 25 members, many of whom are students at the University of Oregon. They have just returned from a four weeks' tour. One week was spent at Myrtle Point and last week was spent at the Western Lane County Fair. They cancelled a trip to the Coos County Fair to come to the Round-Up. The band carries two uniforms, "O. S." for day work and the regulation blues for concert work.

The leader is Albert Perfect, noted composer and arranger. Among his arrangements are several marches for Sousa and he is also the composer of the well known University of Oregon song, "Our Mighty Oregon." Mr. Perfect is a graduate of the Stockholm Conservatory of Music.

Members of Band. Among the prominent members of the band are: Chas. Rudd, formerly of the Minnesota Symphony Orchestra and a clarinet soloist; L. Ruzzi, of Atlantic City, and a horn player from the Creator Band; Burns Powell, trombonist, eight years with the Portland symphony orchestra, and Chas. Cochran, a cornet soloist from the Portland Park Band. Norman Byrne, who is one of the clarinet players in the band was with the U. S. Marine Band stationed at Pekin, China. A former U. S. Cavalry band man is Fred Daugherty, who plays the euphonium bass.

La Grande Band Pleases. Every community with any get-up at all has some particular hobby to which it attaches its municipal pride. With La Grande, it is her band, now playing the Round-Up. Visitors in the city can judge for themselves if La Grande is justified in the municipal pride it attaches to its favorite musical organization.

Good fortune is probably as much responsible as anything for the presence in La Grande of 25 musicians of more than ordinary musical talent. The director, Andrew Loney, who by the way, sustained an injury during the war while with the navy that left its life-time mark, is affectionately known as the "little wizard." He has been associated with and has directed many of the leading bands of the Northwest, and has displayed his gifts in the organization now here.

Out of the entire personnel, 15 would qualify for any band organization in the country, declare experts who have heard the individuals perform.

Not only is La Grande fond of her organization but the merchants and professional men are liberal with their financial support, the taxpayers are now to provide sufficient and regular financial sustenance to the organization by providing a small tax levy to back the institution.

A. W. Nelson, manager of the Ad Club at La Grande, is automatically charged with the business management of the institution, while Chris Mays is the exchequer. The personnel of the organization is as follows:

- Cornets—E. McManus, F. Wyde, R. Pilet, S. Bennett, E. Hesse.
- Clarinets—A. Snapp, K. Gekeler, J. G. Snodgrass, P. Biever, L. Sandoz.
- Alto—G. McMillan, R. Lindsay, L. Gates, R. McKennon.
- Trombones—F. Robinson, C. E. Mays.
- Baritone—O. G. Crawford.
- Basses—E. R. Parker, O. Humphrey.
- Drums—E. Ford, E. Rosenbaum.

IDEAS FOR HOUSEWIVES HOME DEMONSTRATION

- ◆ It is not possible for the housewife to have the same ideal conditions in her home kitchen for bread baking that the baker has but she can approach these conditions by making use of simple devices. For instance, some women use the warming oven of the gas stove—unlighted—but with a pan of hot water under the rack instead of the proof box used by bakers. A fireless cooker is another arrangement used by some for setting the sponge and raising the dough—as it insures against cring the pan—E. V. D.

Recuperation—there is not so much in the ordinary vacation as there is in a single bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which refreshes the tired blood, sharpens the dulled appetite, makes sleep easy and restful.

ANNOUNCEMENT

I beg to announce that I have taken over the equipment and practice of Dr. Dale Rothwell at Room No. 101 in the American National Bank building, and am now located permanently in Pendleton to engage in the practice of optometry and optician. I have Dr. Rothwell's records and am in a position to take care of his patients. I am installing much new up-to-date equipment, thereby making it possible to give the best service in the least possible time.

I am a graduate of the De Keyser Institute of Optometry, one of the very best in the country, and have lately been associated with the Columbian Optical Company of Portland, Oregon, one of the largest and best equipped optical establishments on the coast. I am in a position to give the best of service.

Trusting that I may have the privilege of meeting your needs, if any, along these lines, I am
