Picturesque locations typical of the English rural district in 1870 furnish a background for one of the best motion pictures to be filmed. The photoplay is based on Anna Sewall's famous classic "Black Beauty," and illustrates the fact that it is possible to produce a truly great picture without introducing the sex element or resorting to illogical thrills.

ROUND-UP PRAISED BY SPEAKERS AT LUNCHEON

A. Philmister Proctor, noted sculptor, and Linwood B. Cornell, Oregon representative of the Alexander Hamilton Institute, were special guests at the luncheon by the Progressive Business Club, held at the Delta today. Both gentlemen spoke briefly and expressed their admiration for the Round-Up. During the business session of the club by-laws were adopted and other business transacted. The club has a present membership of 54. L. L. Rogers being a new member in attendance today. The club will hold weekly luncheons and gives promises of being a very thriving community organization. At the session today the club voted its compliments to Mrs. Will H. Bennett and the little daughter born a few days since and also to Mrs. H. B. Nisgould and the new heir in that family.

LIVESTOCK MARKET STEADY

PORTLAND, Sept. 27.—(A. P.)—Cattle and hogs are steady. Sheep are weak. Eggs are firm and higher, buying price 36 to 38 cents for plain receipts, 40 to 42 cents for whites; selling mixed colors 44 to 46 cents, storage 46 to 48 cents, white henneries 50 cents. Butter is firm.

VICTORY BONDS REACH TOP NOTCH PRICES

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(A. P.)—Enormous purchases of Liberty bonds and Victory notes overshadowed all other dealings in the stock exchange today. Almost all war bonds rose to the highest quotations of the year. Victory four and three quarters were taken in blocks from small amounts to $250,000 and $400,000. One lot of a million changed hands.

TENTATIVE OFFERS TO BUY GRAIN AND HAY SHOW ARE RECEIVED

Offers Will be Discussed at Future Meeting of Directors of the Association.

Tentative offers to buy the Northwest Grain and Hay Show, which just closed in Pendleton, for exhibition at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition, at the exposition in Portland in 1925 or as a part of the proposed Northwest Traveling Exposition, have been received by the Northwest Grain and Hay Association. The offers will be discussed at a future meeting of the association.

Should the show become a part of the livestock exposition, state aid would be necessary to maintain the exhibits. Walla Walla business men are interested in establishing the traveling exposition, for which the plan is to carry floats to various cities in the East, each float to represent a certain district. The exhibit from this region would be the official showing from the Northwest. A meeting is to be held in Boise October 4 and 5 to consider the feasibility of the plan.

WHL Mail Checks.
 Checks totaling $1500 in prize money will be mailed tomorrow to the winners at the show by L. E. Scharpf, treasurer of the association. The winners are farmers of Oregon, Washington, Montana and Idaho.

The work of tearing down the temporary building which housed the show is going on today and will probably be finished by tonight. The $1,000 worth of hay used for the sides and ends of the structure was sold to the Pendleton Transfer to N. J. Blydenstein and to Johnny Luck.

Wheat Bought by Mill.
 The wheat, which totaled 260 bushels outside of the prize winning wheat, was sold at the show by L. E. Scharpf, treasurer of the association. The wheat which won ribbons, together with the prize winning bale of hay grown by W. C. Wicklander of Boardman, will be sent to the International Grain and Hay Show which takes place in Chicago in November. Professor Ostrander of Purdue and Professor Nicholas of Michigan, who attended the show, declared that the hay grown by Mr. Wicklander was superior to that which won first at Chicago last year.

Exhibit at Portland.
 Fifty sheaves and some threshed grain grown in Umatilla county were sent to Portland for the Chamber of Commerce exhibit. The exhibit consists of Jenkins Club, grown by L. L. Rogers and the Peringer Ranches Co.; Hybrid 128, grown by Elmer McCormack, F. S. Curl and J. W. Maloney; Dicklow, grown by W. T. Reeves and L. H. Stockard; Hard Federation, grown by Otto Reimann; white winter barley, grown by B. W. Buhout; oats grown by Harry Dunn; bluestem grown by Jim Sturgis and Victor Roumagnoux; bald barley grown by Harry Dunn; Forty-fold grown by John Adams and Sam Thompson; Turkey Red, grown by Dave Nelson, George Peterson and B. F. Trombley, and Red Russian, grown by William Wright.

The show has about $1000 worth of equipment, including bins, canvas, etc., which will be stored for future use.

Forum Luncheon Thursday.
 W. H. Bennett will preside at the weekly forum luncheon of the Pendleton Commercial Association which will be held Thursday at noon at the Jolly Inn. Definite arrangements for a speaker for the occasion have not been completed.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

Thaw in Philadelphia Asylum

This is the first picture in many months of Harry K. Thaw. It was taken in the grounds of Kirkbride Asylum, Philadelphia. Thaw is shading his eyes from the sun to watch the progress of a baseball game. Evelyn Nesbit, his former wife and the cause of the shooting of Stanford White, is now conducting a tea room in the theater district of New York.
