RIVOLI TODAY

JACKIE COOGAN IN NEW PLAY TODAY

"Peck's Bad Boy," starring Jackie Coogan, the six-year-old screen actor, will continue its engagement of three days at the Rivoli Theatre today.

It is the first picture that Jackie has done since Charlie Chaplin discovered him and produced "The Kid." His work in that feature appealed to Irving Lesser as especially fitting him for the title role of "Peck's Bad Boy," and, after making arrangements with Warner Brothers, the continuity was prepared especially for Jackie and the picture produced.

Critics in New York, where "Peck's Bad Boy" was recently given its initial presentation, have described the production as an epic of boyhood days. The picture is released by Associated First National.

In producing "Peck's Bad Boy" Mr. Lesser took every step possible to enhance the quality of the film. The supporting cast given Jackie Coogan is exceptionally strong, and the direction and settings have been highly commended. After the actual filming was completed Mr. Lesser procured the services of Irvin S. Cobb, the well known humorist, to write the subtitles, and the complete result has been accepted by the New York newspaper critics as one of the best comedies that has reached the screen in years.

Among those who will be seen in the cast with Jackie are Doris May, Wheeler Oakman, James Corrigan, Lillian Leghion, Raymond Hatton, Charles Hatton and Baby Gloria Wood.

It is to the movies, now, that Elsie

Janis has taken her pep and personality, and after two years without even a glimpse of her, we get our chance to have her with us when she comes to the Alta Theatre in her first Selznick picture, "A Regular Girl."

Elizabeth Schuyler, a social butterfly, returns to New York after her canteen service abroad and is loathe to fall back into the idleness of former days. Her dad credits her tribulation with her need for a rest, and he sends her to a sanitarium. Here, Miss Schuyler's nurse turns out to be the one with whom she worked in France, Elizabeth confides her plan to her, and is helped to run away and call in her overseas guise of "Lizzie" at a boarding house where many of her pals are stopping. She tells them she is with them once more, this time to help land them their old jobs. "Lizzie," with such struggling, finally gets her fiancé, a young attorney, to acquiesce to her scheme. Of course, he knows that the sooner the song and dance team are signed by a theatrical manager, and the prize-fighter is reinstated into the ring, and the inventor has his brain-child patented, "Lizzie" will have a few spare moments to marry him. Therefore everything culminates blissfully with all the pals attacking employment.

PRISON REFORM IS PLAN OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

BY W. H. ATKINS
(International News Service Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Prison reform that will re-mold bad characters into good ones, today stood out as one of the big things that the Administration must do to improve citizenship Attorney-General Daugherty declared, discussing a new system he has evolved for handling Federal prisoners.

Attorney-General Daugherty's plan, now about ready for President Harding's approval soon will be ready for congress. It calls for the establishment of a new Federal vocational training plant, where prisoners can be taught trades and "otherwise rebuilt" so they may become useful citizens after their terms expire.

There are about 500 young first timers in Federal prisons, who would be eligible for transfer from prisons where now confined to the institution which the Attorney-General proposes to establish.

The Attorney-General will ask Congress to authorize him to take over one of the big cantonments, left on the Government's hands at the end of the war, and reconvert it into an educational institution, with industrial features, somewhat along the lines of existing reform schools.

"What many of these prisoners need more than anything else, is the chance to make good," said Mr. Daugherty. "To let them remain among hardened criminals, the life terrors and others, seems to me a big mistake."

"I maintain that citizenship can be made better by some system that will reconstruct these prisoners, restore their self-respect, and equip them to face the world with some earning power at the end of their terms. After a further study of the problem and conferences with the President and others, I am convinced that we are working along the right line."

Faith in the Fallen
Mr. Doherty took the position that it is not a good thing for the country to release from prison those types of offenders who have become hardened in their criminal tendencies and are likely to continue in evil ways after the law's hands have been removed from them.

"I can walk into any prison in the United States and pick off ten men I would be willing to trust," said the Attorney-General. "That applies to any prison, anywhere. Put those men on their honor, let them know that there is someone who has an interest in them and they will make good."

Mr. Daugherty's psychology has been tested and found 100 per cent. He cited his experiences with prisoners in reform institutions in Ohio and elsewhere. He has aided in the establishment and operation of some of these reform schools. He has watched the development of the inmates into careful citizens. He has found them in later years, law abiding, honest with their fellow men and in some instances filling conspicuous roles, as leaders in civic undertakings for community betterment.

Good results achieved in the handling of the young offenders in Ohio reform schools can be extended upon a much broader scale to Federal prisons, he believed. It is possible to make such a Federal vocational school practically self-sustaining by introducing factory equipment, Mr. Daugherty said. Such an idea may be embraced in his plan.

LANDLORD LOWERS 350 RENTS

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—(U. S. S.)—Ira Shapira, who controls 250 apartments in this city, has gone back to pre-war rentals of his own volition. "Any landlord can do it," he said today. "They are robbers if they don't and deserve what they'll get. I'm going to lead this fight in reduction of rents."

He's Yawning!

This is so easy for Alfons Kurtzo that it bores him. He says he was yawning when this picture was taken. Down below New York crowds held their breath as they watched Kurtzo 25 stories above on the McAlpin roof. Kurtzo, a noted acrobat, is assistant physical director of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A.
