IDEAS FOR HOUSEWIVES HOME DEMONSTRATION

Children are not the only ones who need food rich in phosphorus, such as milk, eggs, meats and green vegetables. Although an absence of bone making material in their diet may bring on a disease known as rickets, falling hair, softening of the teeth, etc., may denote an insufficient amount of lime in the adults' diet. Milk contains the same protein that is found in meat and eggs and in addition it should find a larger place than is customary on the diet of the entire family. Milk soups, milk gravy and cottage cheese offer many possibilities in varying the diet to offer variety.—E. V. D.
