Following his graduation and his service in the army during the war he was an interne in Colon hospital, in the canal zone. For two years and one-half following this work he was assistant resident surgeon. Mrs. Roy Rew is a sister of Dr. Garrison, and the favorable impression he formed of the city and community during two vacation periods which he spent here is largely responsible for his decision to locate here.

Sulphur Is Ordered
 Orders are being pooled through the office of Fred Bennion, county agent, for the shipment of sulphur to Umatilla County. While indications are that there will not be sufficient number of orders for a car load, an amount sufficient to secure a lower price is being ordered. Harry Rogers of Stanfield, Ed Mable of Pendleton, C. L. May, Bob Blomgren and Roy Hyatt of Weston have ordered sulphur. If applied this fall quicker returns can be received than if applied in the spring as the winter storms will work it into shape so that it can be available this coming year, says Mr. Bennion. Harry Rogers stated that there was no question in his mind regarding the benefits of sulphur and the returns on the Weston Mountain country this past year were remarkable where sulphur had been applied.

Tests to Be Given
 The usual monthly tests will be given in Pendleton grade schools this year and will proceed the final tests at the end of the term. Pupils having a high average will be exempted from the final examinations with the exception of the eighth grade examinations. In the high school, tests are given every six weeks, and those having high scholastic averages will be exempted from the semester examinations. The first semester examination will be held in the latter part of January. Attendance at both grade and high schools is very good, says H. E. Tolow, city school superintendent. The grade school pupils number 962 and the high school pupils 324.

The plaintiff was represented by Raley, Halsey & Stetler and the defendants by Peterson & Clark.

Sells Gas for Kerosene
 HINTON, W. Va., Oct. 20.—(I. N. S.)—A local merchant had the scare of his life the other day. In the darkness of night he rolled out a barrel of gasoline, selling several gallons of the fluid for kerosene before his mistake was discovered and his patrons could be notified. The gasoline was being used freely in lamps by his customers but fortunately there were no accidents.

Frost Hurts Sunflowers
 The early frost proved a heavy set back to the sunflower silage project in Umatilla County. While sunflowers stand considerably more low temperature than corn the frost was so heavy that it did serious damage to the former as well as the latter. J. E. Troxel, Pendleton dairyman, harvested his sunflowers under great difficulty and in fact, practically the only sunflowers which were not severely injured were those of J. H. Sturgis who has filled a silo this year for the first time. He grew his sunflowers at his ranch at Barnhart.

Campaign to Be Launched
 Next week will see the launching of a campaign to raise $2500 in Pendleton for the local work of the Salvation Army. The campaign, which will be under the direction of Adjutant and Mrs. C. A. to encourage the closed shop, sympathetic strikes and limitation of output. Authoritative information disclosed the promise that Harding would back the legislation desired by the unions if they would recall the strike order. They will assure the road executives that the commission will use his influence to pass the rail refunding bill if the roads would abide by the board's decision.

Favors Rate Reductions.

The White House emphasized that President Harding is desirous of rate reductions and it will be announced as soon as possible in the hope that such an action would influence the railroad brotherhoods to rescind the strike call. The first reductions to be ordered by the commission will be on grain, grain products, hay and lumber. Other cuts, affecting citrus fruits, vegetables and coal are expected later. The conference between the brotherhood chiefs and labor board members started behind closed doors at two o'clock today.

Advertise for Help.

While expressing confidence that the railroad strike set for October 30 would be halted, railroads in many parts of the country have advertised for men to take the place of the regular workers in case they walk out. All reported an eager response from unemployed men. Several railroads near New York reported college boys and wealthy commuters who ran trains during the outlaw strike had again volunteered their services.

What Pendleton Grade Schools Are Doing

Field School.

In consequence of the addition of another room in the Field school the second and third grades under Miss Barbara Hoch have removed to the room formerly occupied by the kindergarten, and teacher and pupils much appreciate the gift by Mrs. J. H. Fitzgibbon, of the pretty crotona curtains that add so much to the pleasant appearance of their room. The new stores are much appreciated also as there is no further difficulty with smoke.

The new phonograph records, replacing the badly worn ones used for several years, have improved the marching and calisthenics very markedly. The added room necessitated a change in fire drill and special attention was given to this during "Fire Prevention Week."

The first B class was much interested in the "Columbus Story" and quite successful with the cuttings connected with it. They were much pleased that their first lesson (a drawing from nature) was considered so good by the art teacher that a number of specimens were taken for the superintendent's office. This class has completed a quite effective border of Indian cradles for their room. The second B under Mrs. Pratt had an entire clean record for the last month and ten of the first A also. This room has begun a collection of Indian pictures and baby cradles. They have also completed a very pretty border for their blackboard of leaves and trees, conventionalized. The sand table has just been filled and utilized for Columbus work in this room. The second and third B under Miss Hoch hold the record for best marching. The second B in this room holds the best record for school work and deserve special mention for the speed and accuracy with which they have taken up their new work in numbers. They are glad to welcome Leo Baker back to their class. In the third
