CHICAGO WHEAT MARKET SHOWS STRONGER TONE

Wheat showed a stronger tone in the Chicago grain market today, December wheat closing at $1.05 and May at $1.12 1-2. Yesterday's closing prices were December $1.03 3-4 and May, $1.08 1-2.

Following are the quotations received by Overbeck & Cooke, local brokers:

Wheat.
Dec.	Open	High	Low
Dec.	$1.04 1/2	$1.05 1/2	$1.04 1/2
May	1.09	1.12 1/2	1.09

Corn.
Dec.	Open	High	Low
Dec.	.46 1/2	.47	.46 1/2
May	.51 1/2	.52 1/4	.51 1/2

Oats.
Dec.	Open	High	Low
Dec.	.32 1/2	.33	.32 1/2
May	.37 1/2	.37 3/4	.37 1/2

Wheat—It was a strong market throughout the session, despite the fact that local sentiment was bearish. The conviction that lower prices are to be established has become so general that the trade completely ignored the importance of export buying at the time when the market has been thoroughly liquidated. The seaboard confirmed one million bushels as having been worked for export, and from the looks of things a much larger amount is likely to be reported later in the day.

The railroad situation is becoming more serious with both sides apparently anxious for a final show down. There is quite a divergence of opinion as to the possible effect of a railroad strike, but with a prolonged tie-up of traffic we cannot see where the shorts would have any of the best of it, with only about 300,000 bushels of wheat of contract grade in Chicago.

A report that the Italian government had bought several cargoes of wheat was denied, but the purchase no doubt was made by individual Italian importers as the Italian government has lately made purchases.

Oats—At no time during the day was there any particular pressure on this market and consequently prices advanced easily with other grains. Cash was half a cent higher with shipping demand fairly good.

A TIP ABOUT PLANTING FROM THE PIONEER FLOREST

Many people want to do things in the way of making the home surroundings attractive but are not informed as to the proper season to plant. Mr. Forshaw, the pioneer florist in this city would remind those interested ones that right now is the only time to plant such satisfying things as tulips, hyacinths, daffodils and he has the goods and the knowledge of which is best.

Furthermore he would put in a reminder that fall is the best time to plant all trees and hardy shrubbery, and that within a few days he will have his new nursery supplied with stock where selections can be made.
