Wool Prices Look Better

A road demand for wool exists in the local market and warehouse stocks are being steadily reduced. Prices are on a healthy basis. Between 3,000,000 and 10,000,000 pounds of wool are stored in this city and there is reason to believe a place can be found for all of it if the sellers will agree to terms. The inquiry is mainly for medium grades. There is not much call for fine wool and there is little of this grade here. An important factor in the movement is the buying being done by local mills, which are taking more Oregon wool this year than ever before. These plants are mostly working to capacity and are enjoying the largest year's business they have ever known. The market for their product is not confined to home territory and some of them are filling orders for goods to be shipped to points as far distant as the south Atlantic states. Concerning the situation in the east, mail reports from Boston say: "Territory wools are generally well in hand. Further shipments are coming from the west by the Panama canal route, one steamer having arrived here during the week from Pacific ports with a big block of wool. Territory wools are being graded as rapidly as possible. Most of the larger handlers having big lines to be delivered on previous contracts. Fine and fine medium territory is quiet, both for staple and clothing lots. The former are quoted at 80 cents to 85 cents and the latter to 65 cents to 70 cents. Half-blood staple is around 65 cents to 67 cents. Less desirable lots of strictly clothing wools cannot be quoted above 60 cents to 62 cents. "Medium Territory wool continues to attract considerable attention, especially from the knitting-yarn spinners. Sales have been made of good new-crop-quarterblood, at about 40 cents clean, while some old wools are to be had at 35 cents to 38 cents. Stocks of old wools of this grade are decreasing steadily. For three-eighths-blood, good new wools are 20 cents to 22 cents. Predictions are being made freely that the coming winter will see a substantial advance in this grade, following an actual shortage of choice wool. "Territory wools are generally well in hand. Further shipments are coming from the west by the Panama canal route, one steamer having arrivcabgram from Adelaide reports offerings of 14,999 bales sold on one day, with England and America the principal buyers and with the market advancing. Warp 4s show a cost of 47 cents clean, on the basis of wool landed here with exchange at $2.84. A Sydney cablegram reports the market here excited, with England buying at a basis which would mean 16 cents clean for wool laid down in Boston. It is understood that purchases for America are being made in South America and that the wool bought is to be shipped to this country in the hope that the duty when the wool is taken out of bond will be something like 4 to 8 cents.

London Wool Market Firm

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The wool auction sales closed today with offerings of 11,361 bales. Prices were firm. A feature of the sales has been the strong demand by the home trade, which absorbed the bulk of the offerings. Compared with the September prices, merinos closed 12 1/2 per cent higher, while cross-breeds also advanced, fine and medium, 7 1/2 per cent and coarse 10 per cent.

ADAMS FOLK TAKE TRIP BY MOTOR TO PORTLAND

(East Oregonian Special.) ADAMS, Oct. 29.—Jasper Hold, Jack Case, Jim Chesnut, Ben Inman and John Pierce all captured one deer each. Word was sent to Adams of the death of Mrs. Charley Gates of California, who passed away August 23. The remains were shipped to Athens for burial on the 26th. Mr. and Mrs. Gates were former residents of Adams in past years. He was the O. W. R. & N. agent here for a number of years. She is survived by her husband. Mr. Mayberry, Daniel Kemmer and sister motored to Pendleton Friday. Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Jewell left Sunday for Portland for a week's outing. Glen Dudley and Miss Bella McIntyre of Athens accompanied them. John Hales and Mr. Connell motored to Adams today. Roll Morrison was in Adams Friday. G. O. Richardson, Adams postmaster, has the post office building all painted and a sign painted reading "U. S. Postoffice, Adams, Oregon." Casper Woodward of Pendleton, was

(From the Daily East Oregonian, October 29, 1893.) On Friday evening next a "hard times party" will be given in the old postoffice block. It is understood that guests are expected to appear in costumes appropriate to the times and anything suggestive of prosperity or extravagance will be strictly tabooed. The idea seems to have been conceived in a timely manner. There will be an evening of merry enjoyment, dancing being the occupation of the evening. R. T. Cox, P. E. Wamsley and C. S. Jackson on Sunday took a twenty mile ride on their wheels, going about half way to Pilot Rock and back. The roads were found to be in excellent condition for wheeling. Antoine Nolte is now a resident of Pendleton, having removed his family from Pilot Rock Saturday. He is now busy putting the Umattla Brewery in shape. The Episcopal church social at Mrs. Wade's tomorrow evening will partake of the nature of a Halloween party. As usual at these socials a pleasant evening is assured to those who avail themselves of the invitation to attend, which is extended to friends and members of the parish. Music hath charms to soothe the savage beast, but allmony seems to be a pretty good cure for a broken heart. Our contention is that where Solomon exceeded his authority was in marrying every girl he loved. Speaking of the irony of fate, an Iowa man who was traveling for this week was killed by a train.

YOUR NEW HAT MUST SHOW SWAGGER. Your hat must have swagger. It must dare; it must say things about you—your eyes, the tilt of your chin, the line of your nose. It dares flare abruptly up at the side and wear a swirl of shining feathers flapping loose around the brim. It may cut smartly up at the front, and be pinioned there by a flat bow of ribbon or a clever ornament. Small hats pose a dashing bow at the front.
