GENERAL PERSHING
Pershing formed your splendid army under his own direct command.
"On the 12th of September, 1918, the first American army delivered its first battle on the soil of France. It dislodged the enemy from St. Mihiel where he had entrenched himself for nearly four years, threw him back beyond the foot of the hills of the Meuse. From the very first the American Army entered into glory. How many further laurels was it yet to win?
"The St. Mihiel operation was nearly ended when the American army attacked on a new front. On the 25th of September it was engaged on the right wing of the vast Allied offensive. The point of direction assigned to it was Meseris on the Meuse. Deployed from the left bank of the Meuse to the eastern confines of Champagne, it had three army corps in line on a front of nearly forty kilometers.
"Before it stretched the region of the Argonne, formidable emplacement of the German defense, a wooded terrain, rugged, difficult in its very na-and rendered more so by all the defensive organizations which had been accumulated there during the last four years.

"Nothing could discourage or check our army. It threw itself with generous ardor into the immense melee. The task was a rude one, but it was carried out to a thorough finish.
"Fighting without respite night and day for a month, advancing in spite of the pitfalls and the counter attacks of the enemy, it succeeded, by pure force of tenacity and heroism, in liberating the wild region of the Argonne.
"On the 16th day of Oct., this great task finished, it joined hands with the Fourth French army in the defile of Grand Pre.
"In consequence of this the enemy's resistance was severely shaken; the moment had arrived to give him the final blow.
"On the first of November, just three years ago today, the first American army again attacked and, in a splendid advance, reached Buzancy, penetrating the German line for more than 19 kilometers.
"The enemy, this time retired definitely; the Stars and Stripes at once took up the pursuit and six days later, floated victoriously over the Meuse, reconquered.
"After St. Mihiel, after the Argonne, the American banners now bore the name of Meuse. In a few months you had taken 45,999 prisoners and 1,400 cannon from the enemy.
"Glory to the first American army, glory also to those of your divisions, which distributed among the French and British armies, contributed in great measure to the final success, whether with the fifth French army to the northwest of Rheims, or with the Fourth French army, in which they carried in magnificent assault, the strong positions of Orfueille; or again with the British armies for the capture of the famous Hindenburg line or with the group of armies of Flanders pursuing the enemy upon the road to Brussels."
