CRITICISE PAINTINGS IN ROYAL ACADEMY

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(U. S. S.)—Criticism of this year's paintings in the Royal Academy comes from the Tailor and Cutter, the organ of the London and provincial tailors, which remarks that "the portraits of the academy present a legion of sloven."

"My lady's dress, whether of silk or the modern wool jumper, is," it says, "beautifully painted, but as to the dress of the men, some look like 'reach me downs' from Bond street, while others are like East End bargains, which much of the attire would be smiled at by a scarecrow."

Of a group called "Sea Officers of the war," the critic remarks: "If naval tailors really turned out such clothes there would be torrents of breezy and expressive language."

Other criticisms include: Field Marshal Earl Haig's gray cloak. "Really the war was not won with such clothes."

Sr W. McCormack's lounge suit. "The trousers are like sacks, and the bottom of the right trousers leg is as big as a bluejacket's."

Sr Rider Haggard has been given "an awful overcoat, so baggy, hanging in such ugly, pendulous folds that it looks more like a gown."

Rear Admiral Sir Douglas Brown-riff, chief censor in the war. "This portrait needs a clothes censor."

WIDEN RIVER TO BALK MORE PUEBLO FLOODS

PUEBLO, Colo., Nov. 10.—The first practical step in an effort to minimize the danger from further disastrous floods, similar to the one that engulfed this city early in June of this year, was taken here when an agreement was reached between the Missouri Pacific Railroad and Pueblo city and county officials whereby the railroad company will turn over to the city a strip of land in its local yards, which will be utilized in widening the channel of the Arkansas river.

The land relinquished by the railroad is at a spot where the Arkansas broke through on the night of June 3, resulting in the first flood the city has ever known, causing a property loss of upward of $15,000,000 and taking a death toll of approximately 200.

The land extends from a point on the south bank of the Arkansas river to the eastern limits of the railroad yards. Engineering experts are planning, with the acquisition of this land, to cut a channel at the excess of the Arkansas river from the city that will be seventy feet wider than it was before the June floods and about 100 feet wider than the channel of the river as it passes through the central section of Pueblo.

Below the new channel present obstructions will be removed, and dredging will start at once that will put the river's course near natural bluffs on its north bank. The Missouri Pacific railroad already has constructed a heavy "slag" embankment to protect its tracks along the south bank of the river, and a levee sufficiently strong to protect against raging torrents will be built.

Work of reconstruction throughout the city has progressed rapidly since the devastation of last summer.

No getting away from it!

MEN are experiencing a new kind of cigarette enjoyment with Chesterfields. They are getting

—a more delicious taste
—a more pleasing aroma
—and on top of this, Chesterfields are giving them an extra enjoyment—

Chesterfields satisfy. They give to your smoking a feeling of "completeness"—a smoke that is "all there."

It's the blend! It's the Turkish and the Burley and other choice home-grown tobaccos blended in a new way—a better way—to give you every last bit of their flavor.

No getting away from it—Chesterfields are in a class by themselves!

They Satisfy
—and the blend can't be copied
