

People Here and There

E. P. Marshall returned this morning after a visit in Portland.

Charles M. Cook and Manuel Friedly were among the local people who returned this morning from Portland where they were during the past week.

Judge J. A. Fee is in Enterprise today where he will remain for several days on legal business which is being taken up during the fall term of the Willowa circuit court.

Dr. L. J. Williams returned today from La Grande where he has been for several weeks with J. Wiger in starting The Bootery, a new shoe store. Mr. Wiger is in La Grande where he will be in charge of the store.

"Pat" Folsom and Richard Rice, accompanied by Mrs. G. M. Rice, returned to Portland Sunday afternoon after having spent the holiday over Armistice Day with the home folks here. The young men are attending school in Portland.

While many of the policies of the American government undoubtedly will be far different, many things about the Washington conference will be the same as the Paris peace conference. For instance, a great horseshoe table has been installed in the Daughters of the American Revolution Continental hall for the opening of the Washington conference. It is just like the horseshoe table in the famous Hall of Mirrors at Versailles, at which the treaty of Versailles was signed.

Congress will declare a "naval holiday" until the parity ends in success or failure, leaders of both houses said today and no appropriations for America's sea forces are to be made during that time.

Secretary Denby said the department would continue building warships until the international arms conference orders it to stop. Denby's announcement was made as a reply to the congressional suggestion that the United States stop naval construction at once.

A beautiful beaded Indian costume, claimed to be worth between $300 and $400, and some other Indian wearing apparel were recovered this morning by the action of Deputy Sheriffs Wes Spears and Jake Marin when they arrested I. C. Diaz. The goods are said to have been taken about three months ago from the Nez Perce reservation near Lapwai, Idaho, and a search by officers all over the Northwest has been under way since that time. The man is held for the Idaho officials. He arrived in Pendleton on Saturday according to the story he told the officers.

PORTLAND WILL TRY

are to be incorporated until the system as designated is complete. This will forestall the scattering of funds over a disconnected system of highways.

Systems Are Planned.
In the provision for secondary roads the object is to develop within the state intercounty or market roads which shall be united into a complete system.

After the federal aid roads are constructed the state is to assume the burden of their maintenance. In the event of the failure of the state to keep the roads up to standard the federal government may come in and reconstruct them, deducting the cost out of the state's allotment.

Another important condition is that the roads are to be free from all tolls. As bridges are considered a part of roads this provision may cause a complication in Oregon. The Interstate bridge between Portland and Vancouver, on which toll is charged, is a part of the Pacific highway which is a federal aided road here in Oregon and Washington. This complication may also arise in connection with the proposed bridges at Celilo and Cascade Locks.

Two Main Highways.
In selecting the highways in Oregon to constitute the primary system which is to be beneficiary to federal aid and keeping in mind the requirement of an interstate connection, it is assumed that the Pacific highway and the Columbia river highway with its supplement, the Old Oregon Trail, and its extension from Umatilla towards Wallula. This will give Interstate connection with Washington, Idaho and California.

These two highways will have a combined mileage of approximately 879 miles. This will leave only a margin of 421 miles to be applied to other main highways. If the Roosevelt highway along the coast should be added this would take up 410 miles, leaving only a remainder of 11 miles to complete the 1300 mile limitation.

Thus is shown a faint glimpse of the problem before the state highway commission.

System Kept in View.
The law requires the secretary of agriculture to give preference to projects which expedite the completion of an adequate and connected interstate system. In the administration of the forest road funds the law contains many new features. Forest roads are divided into two classes, primary and secondary. Each class is to receive 50 per cent of the funds. The primary class is to form a part of state and county systems. The secondary class is to be composed of those which have for their chief object the development and protection of the forests.

In recognition of the fact that forest lands are not subject to taxation a provision of the law permits the expenditure of forest road funds on roads adjoining or adjacent to the forests. It does not confine the expenditure wholly within the forests.

Forest road construction is to be under the United States bureau of roads of the department of agriculture.

BEST BILLIARD PLAYERS IN WORLD COMPETE FOR HONORS IN TOURNAMENT

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—(I. N. S.)—What is expected to be one of the greatest billiard tournaments ever held, if not the greatest, opened in the gold room of the congress Hotel here today.

The world's greatest cue manipulators, including the champion, Willie Hoppe prepared for the most grueling contest that has been waged in America since the first ball-line tournament was held in this country in 1882.

Among those scheduled to compete are:

Willie Hoppe, the favorite.
Young Jack Schaefer, son of the old wizard of the game.
George B. Sutton, the famous delicate, a nurse of the ivory spheres.
Roger Conti, of Paris, France.
Ora Morningstar, the "hard luck" championship aspirant.
Edward Horemans, or Belgium.
Welker Cochran, noted "shark."

With players of this type in the tournament it is certain that the great Hoppe will be put to perhaps the hardest test of his wonderful career. Hoppe realizes this fact, and he has prepared for just such a situation. The big point in Hoppe's favor, outside of his amazing natural ability, is his youth. In this respect he has a tremendous advantage over the other competitors, with the exception of Roger Conti, Young Schaefer and Cochran.

Schaefer is considered by many as the one man in this country who can trim Hoppe. Some students had figured that Schaefer had "gone back," but this belief was wholly dispelled a year ago in San Francisco when Schaefer set a world's record by averaging 57 1-7 for 4,000 and getting a high run of 394.

The foreign entrants, too, have shown considerable class in past performances, and no one, particularly Hoppe, is underrating their chance to win the title. Conti is the youngest of all the competitors. He is only twenty years old. Yet he has played billiards for years; is an expert on masse shots, a scientific shooter on the green table, a crack in the backward and forward stroke. Horemans has made a great reputation in Europe and has groomed himself carefully for the present event. He is anxious to take the title back with him.

Sutton, who has won the ball-line championship before, may be handicapped somewhat by his age, but at any rate the billiard experts are unanimous in dopping him out as certain to give a masterly exhibition. He invariably does.

Cochran and Morningstar have both competed for the championship in past tournaments but have not been able to make the grade. Why, their friends and admirers are at a loss to say, as both of them have displayed the goods from which champions are made.

The games will be short, 400 points each. The tournament will last six days.

FOREST SERVICE MEN BUSY BUILDING ROAD

(East Oregonian Special.)
GIBSON, Nov. 14.—Forest service men are busy on the new road being built between Bingham Springs and the corporation ranger station.

Mr. and Mrs. Dolf Thompson and son, Eldon, and Seth Hyatt spent Tuesday in Pendleton.

Duncan Holaday is spending the week end here at his home from Pendleton where he is attending high school.

Floyd Kendall and George Clabey, both forest rangers, spent Friday in Pendleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thompson and little daughter Zona are spending a week in Walla Walla.

Albert Baker and Bill Kendall of Dayton, Wash., are among the forest rangers here.

Mrs. George Prace left today for La Grande where she will visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Taylor for a week.

Seth Hyatt attended a family reunion at the Joe Hyatt home near Weston last week.

GARMENT WORKERS STRIKE

LIVED YEARS ON BREAD AND MILK

For More Than Decade Malady of Alabama Woman Was Continually Sapping Her Strength.

Mrs. H. P. Barrett, of Republic, suburb of Birmingham, Ala., gives the facts of her remarkable experience with Taniae as follows:

"During the past fourteen years I have spent more than one thousand dollars trying to get rid of a complaint that was gradually sapping my strength, but until I got hold of Taniae nothing helped me. For the past four years I have lived almost entirely on milk and bread, and finally even that went against me.

"Before I had finished the first bottle of Taniae I got so I could eat anything, and I certainly bless the day I first got this medicine for I believe it has added years to my life. The people in my neighborhood were so surprised at the change in me that four-tenths of them by actual count are now taking Taniae."

Taniae is sold in Pendleton by Thompsons Drug Store and by leading druggists everywhere.

HOW TO CHOOSE GOOD BOOKS FOR CHILDREN

Mrs. Freda Glover, assistant librarian at the county library, is writing for the East Oregonian a series of articles which will appear during this week, nationally known as "Children's Book Week." These articles will prove helpful to Pendleton parents:

Following is the first of the series:

In choosing a book for a child have a definite book standard. Ask yourself why you like the book or why you do not. Mere harmlessness does not recommend a book. Only such can be deemed truly successful that embody a realization of the child's power to look at life with his eyes, not with his opinions. What we may reasonably demand of books for children then is that they shall appeal to this direct outlook on life that they shall intensify life and experience for the child, that they shall stimulate the imagination to work for itself—not force opinions on it. Preaching is unparadise in a child's book. Triviality, an unwise outlook on life, and irony are to be avoided. Children demand stories having the imaginative element, action and nature element, storm element, sadness and hero worship.

SEVERAL CONVERSIONS AT CHURCH REVIVALS

BY W. A. GRESSMAN

Evangelist Henshaw preached to large audiences Sunday. Several persons responded to the invitations in the morning and evening meetings, two of whom were baptized at the services last evening.

The afternoon lecture was a most popular one, full of information and inspiration, the subject being "Beautiful Queen Vashti." Speaking on the text, Esther 1:12—"And Queen Vashti refused to come"—the Evangelist highly commended the good queen for her moral courage in her holding aloft her noble ideals.

"She is an example for women of today," declared the Evangelist, "in that she manifested superb courage in turning down the challenge of an unchaste king. She also brings us a lesson in prudence, as well as disregard of worldly grandeur by her choosing the spiritual grandeur of the soul. She was also supremely humble. More Vashtis are needed for the present time—more who will magnify beauty into character."

Several excellent solos by Mrs. Curtis and the fine spirited singing led by Mr. Curtis added much to the effectiveness of the day's service.

The subject of Mr. Henshaw's sermon for this evening will be: "What is Baptism?" The ordinance of Christian baptism will be administered before the sermon. Services begin at 7:30.

NOT GOLDEN, BUT SOME 'EGG FOR LITTLE HEN

STRATHMORE, Alta., Nov. 14.—(I. N. S.)—The mythical goose that laid the golden egg has nothing on a proud little barnyard aristocrat on the farm of Hugh Berry. In the time-worn tale there is nothing to indicate that the golden egg was of more than usual size. In this respect, at least, the immortal goose was a piker.

Ernestine, the little purebred Black Minorca, claims the Dominion record for size. In the struggle with several other champions for supremacy, Ernestine laid an egg having a circumference of 3 3/16 inches. It weighed 5 1/2 ounces.
