KINDLY ATLANTA COP MADE IDEAL BEST MAN
 ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 14.—(I. N. S.)—What would have made an ideal G. Henry story with an ideal G. Henry touch and punch occurred here when Policeman W. S. Morgan found a young and pretty girl on the streets of the city at two o'clock in its morning crying.

Under ordinary circumstances, and with an ordinary policeman, the young woman might have been severely questioned, and probably escorted to police headquarters to give an account of herself, but in this case it was different. The policeman asked the girl her name, and she promptly told him she was Miss Catherine Moore, of Columbus, Ga., and she was seeking her sweetheart, Arthur Edwards, a hotel clerk, who had come here recently.

It so happened that of all people in Atlanta Patrolman Morgan knew Arthur, and knew the hotel where he was working as a night clerk, and which the young lady had completely forgotten.

According to her lover, and the next day Patrolman Morgan found himself playing the part of best man at the wedding between the two.

FROST FAILS TO STOP NATURE'S GROWTH
 ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio, Nov. 14.—(I. N. S.)—The coming of frost has not reduced the supply of nature freaks in this part of Belmont County.

A pear tree is blooming in the yard at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth M. Bentley, near Yodysville. Isaac H. Gaston, former Belmont County probate judge has a nineteen-foot castor bean plant in his garden. Earl Thomas, of Martins Ferry brought in a large ear of corn with three smaller ones growing from the base of the ear, all containing full-sized grains.

A. E. Nichol, editor of the Weekly Gazette, became disgusted with the small bean pods brought in by subscribers who desired publicity and grew a pod forty-four inches long on a Japanese bean vine.

Costume With a Spanish Accent

A Paul Poiret costume which suggests the Spanish is a combination of green crepe cashmere and black and white fringe. The waist part is draped in a novel manner, the one piece of cloth being so arranged as to form sleeves and a cape-like effect in the back. Richly embroidered points and heavy fringe cover the skirt.
