OREGON AND O. A. C. ALL READY TO BATTLE EACH OTHER SATURDAY

Game Will be Twenty-fifth for Old Rivals; Dope Now Favors Oregon; Big Crowd Expected

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 17.—One of the Pacific northwest's annual big football games—the clash between the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural College of the state title—will be played here next Saturday, November 19.

Approximately 15,000 people are expected to attend. New bleachers, to accommodate the crowd, have been built on Hayward Field at the state university where the game will be played.

Both teams are busy this week practicing for the game. The "Fighting Aggies," as the O. A. C. eleven has been called, were favored early in the season to win, but Oregon took, which opened low, jumped when the local eleven held the strong Washington State Cougars to a tie.

Saturday's game will be the twenty-fifth played between Oregon and the Aggies. Oregon has won fifteen, the Aggies four and five have been tied.

The game will count in both the Northwest Conference and Pacific Coast Conference title races, but will have no direct bearing on the coast fight, for both teams were eliminated early in the season, Oregon by California and the Aggies by Stanford.

Results of games played this year by the two teams follow:

- Oregon Aggies
- O. A. C. 65, Chemawa Indians 0.
 - O. A. C. 7, Multnomah Club 7.
 - O. A. C. 54, Willamette Univ. 0.
 - O. A. C. 24, Washington 0.
 - O. A. C. 7, Stanford 14.
- Oregon

 - Oregon 21, Pacific Univ. 7.
 - Oregon 7, Idaho 7.

SCOUTS FOR SUNDODGERS

SEATTLE, Nov. 17.—(A. P.)—William J. Coyle, lieutenant governor of Washington, while on a trip east, is "scouting" for his old football team, the University of Washington Sun-dodgers.

Coyle will look over the Penn State team, which plays Washington here December 2. While in the university, Coyle, known as "Wee" Coyle, was varsity captain and quarterback.

PRESIDENT BELIEVES IN RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION FOR AMERICAN CHILDREN

Childhood is the Basis of the Future of Nation; Children Must Receive Teachings.

DETROIT, Nov. 17.—(A. P.)—President Warren G. Harding says: "Childhood is the basis of the future and I believe in religious instruction for American children. The future of the nation cannot be trusted to the children unless their education includes their spiritual development." Dr. David G. Downey, Book Editor of the Methodist Episcopal Church today addressed The National Conference of the church here with this opening quotation.

"Of course everything depends upon what we mean by education," Dr. Downey continued. "If the term is conceived to include merely the training of the body and mind then religion cannot be taught, because religion is not merely a matter of the body or mind, but primarily of the heart. Serious thinkers in every age, however, have repudiated this conception of education. They have insisted, and in these latter days are very strenuously emphasizing the fact, that the heart can be trained; that indeed, for the safety of the republic and civilization at large, it must be trained."

This is certainly what the wise man had in mind when he said 'Above all cultivating culture thy heart, for out of it are the issues of life.' Many seem to think that religious education proposes a mere process of technical training, that it leaves out the distinctly divine, and that its ultimate aim is simply the development of an ethical system. Nothing could be further from the truth. It seeks to develop the good and root out the bad. Instead of overlooking or ignoring the supernatural factor the great aim of religious education is to keep the child in harmony with God from the beginning to the close of life. It further insists that of the proper age the rightly trained child will come to spiritual consciousness and make a personal acceptance of Christ as Saviour and Lord."

WOMAN KIND TO TRAMP; HOME WAS TAKEN OFF OF BURGLAR'S ROUTE

SAUSALITO, Calif., Nov. 17.—(A. P.)—Because Mrs. FAITH Huntington Wakefield of Sausalito was kind to a "bedraggled tramp" recently, her home here was taken off the list of residences the "tramp" intended to burglarize.

The "tramp" appeared at the Wakefield home and asked for food, declaring he was "down and out." Mrs. Wakefield took pity on him, prepared a meal and then hurried preparations to catch a ferry boat for San Francisco.

Encouraged by the treatment the man said that for lack of $25 he was unable to accept a good job that awaited him in the country. His plea resulted in Mrs. Wakefield writing him a check for $20.

The man thanked Mrs. Wakefield and started to leave. At the kitchen door, however, he turned and said:

"Say, lady, I'm not sick. I'm not out of work. There's no job waiting for me in the country. I wasn't even hungry today. I came here to see this place up and report to a gang of burglars over in San Francisco. But this kindness is too much for me. I'll take your house off the list."

MANY WOMEN CLAIM TO BE WIVES OF DECEASED

ASHVILLE, N. C., Nov. 17.—One hundred deserted women are claiming to be the widows of K. L. Carson, he of seven aliases, who died in the Montrose Sanatorium, in Weaverville. J. S. Styles, attorney for Dr. J. M. Crawford, who was appointed administrator for the deceased, needs another clerk to attend to his mail, since news of the demise of the "man of mystery" became public property.

Women from Maine to California have written their claims to widowhood through Carson's death. Every mail brings in more letters. "When the mail comes in from Europe next week I expect another avalanche," said Attorney Styles.

Carson died at the sanatorium of a lingering disease. Before the end he told attendants at the hospital that he had lived in a score of states and had married many women. J. R. Harrison, W. M. Brown, Jack Wilson were some of the names under which he lived and married.

After publication that Carson, self-styled mystery man with wives in every part, had confessed portions of his former life, the story, apparently, was copied by all the deserted wives in the United States, besides parts of Mexico and the West Indies.

They began writing in. The letters came singly, then in pairs, finally the post office began sending them over in neatly-tied bundles. Pink stationery, violet stationery and legal stationery are among that which has poured into the office of the attorney here. Some thirty of them claim to be Mrs. M. L. Carson. Others say they were married to a man giving the name of "J. L." or some other Harrison.

If every woman who has written to the wife, legal or otherwise, of K. Carson, alias ad infinitum, a new record has been set up in the matrimonial market as the records pertaining to King Solomon are somewhat indelible. At all events Carson, if he is given the benefit of the doubt, ran King Sol a hard race, and after all precedents are reported may have a substantial plurality.

Attorney Styles is not disposed to play favorites. There is a possibility, slight though it may now appear, that Carson left an estate. Therefore the attorney has decided to let down the bars.

TRAFFIC SIGNAL TOWERS TO BE MADE ARTISTIC

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(A. P.)—Having found Fifth Avenue traffic signal towers useful, the police department now has determined to make them artistic.

The five utilitarian structures, located at strategic points along New York's show thoroughfare, will be replaced with towers in keeping with the architectural beauty of the avenue. A design has been selected from a hundred submitted by artists competing for prizes offered by the Fifth Avenue Association.

The new towers, almost entirely of bronze will rest on granite bases and rise 23 feet above the street. The lower part will be open and the upper part, enclosed in glass, will give an unobstructed view up and down the avenue. Pending blocks on each corner of the base will fend off traffic and protect the tower.

The traffic police who will occupy the artistic observation posts have been much interested in the endeavor to make the towers as artistic as possible.

"They'll be putting silk curtains in the window before they get through," said one.

"And maybe a bit of lace," said another.

A bird like this makes a model husband

HER NICE new husband
STEPPED OUT of the house
WHISTLING LIKE a bird,
WHICH ALARMED young wife ESPECIALLY WHEN
SHE FOUND she'd picked
THE WRONG package.
AND INSTEAD of oatmeal,
HAD GIVEN him birdseed.
BUT DON'T think from this,
THAT EVERY guy,
YOU HEAR whistling,
HAS NECESSARILY,
BEEN ROBBING the canary,
OTHER THINGS inspire,
THE ALMOST human male,
TO BLOW through his lips,
AND MAKE thrill noises,
A RAISE, for example,
OR A day off when,
A DOUBLE header is on,
OR AN everyday thing,
LIKE a good drag,
ON ONE of those smokes,
THAT SATISFY,
WHICH CERTAINLY are,
THE REAL birdseed,
FOR MAKING men,
TRILL THEIR pipes for joy,
SO LADIES, if lucky,
GOES AWAY whistling,
YOU NEEDN'T worry,
ALL'S SWELL.

WHEN you say that Chesterfields "satisfy," you're whistling. You know—the instant you light one—that the tobacco in it are of prime selection, both Turkish and Domestic. And the blend—well, you never tasted such smoothness and full-flavored body! No wonder the "satisfy-blend" is kept secret. It can't be copied.

LET JACK FROST DECIDE

RITTMAN, Ohio, Nov. 17.—(I. N. S.)—After discussing how much of top and bottom should be displayed and at what age school girls should be permitted to wear rolled stockings, the members of the Rittman Board of Education, by vote, decided to leave the controversy to coming cold weather and to women to be elected as board members.

ROUGH RIDIN' "MULE"
SIKISTON, Mo., Nov. 17.—(I. N. S.)—Rather mean hospitality, the strangers called it, when Deputy Sheriff Tom Scott and Lee Morris arrested

ed them and took their "mule" after the two strangers had invited the officers to have a little "nip." It was a matter of "compensating the good Samaritans" for the proffered ride in the official car that the "nip" was offered. They were "hot-footing" away from here when the officers "asked them to ride."

EXTRAVAGANCE!

Have you ever observed that EXTRAVAGANCE has a great deal to do with putting the "m" in misfortune?

Generally the one who says he has had nothing but hard luck is the one who foolishly spent his money when he had it. One simply cannot get ahead or amount to anything in this world unless he can save a part of what he earns. Only by so doing can he accumulate the funds that will enable him to grasp the opportunities that later mean SUCCESS.
