ARBUCKLE JURY DISCHARGED AT NOON SUNDAY

New Trial Set for January 9; Woman Juror Ready to Vote Until Hell Froze.

10 STOOD FOR ACQUITTAL; TWO WANTED CONVICTION

Stubborn Juror Asserts That Threats Were Made Against Her to Make Her Change.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—(A. P.)—The jury in the manslaughter case of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle was discharged at noon Sunday when it was unable to agree after deliberating more than 41 hours.

August Fritze, the jury foreman, issued a signed statement last night, several hours after the jury was discharged, saying that one of the women jurors who was in the minority refused to consider the evidence from the beginning and declared that "she could cast her ballot and would not change it until hell froze over."

Two Jurors for Conviction. There were two jurors who voted for conviction, according to Fritze. His statement is full follows: "I make this statement as a duty to the public."

"There was a tacit understanding that the members of the jury would not make individual statements. I have learned since, however, that a number of the jury have done so, and I believe, as foreman, that it is well for those interested in the administration of justice that the citizens of San Francisco should have facts. District Attorney Brady said that Arbuckle had been given a "fair and honest trial" and complimented the jurors who held out for conviction as having "courage and determination."

"I had hoped the jury would reach an agreement," he said. "I confidently expected a verdict of guilty upon the evidence presented. In my opinion the disagreement does not vindicate Roscoe Arbuckle. A vindication could come only after a quick unanimous verdict. It was my duty to present the facts to a jury. This I have done, though opposed by wealth, power and influence."

Retrial Set for January 9. "The court has set January 9 as the date for a retrial and I will be ready at that time to proceed."

Public to Decide. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—(I. N. S.)—Arbuckle faces the great bar of public opinion. On the verdict of the American people depends his future. The jury listened for 18 days to the evidence against him in the manslaughter trial for the death of Miss Rappe, but failed to reach an agreement.

Mrs. Helen Hubbard, who held out for conviction, first, last and all the time, charged that threats were made against her after persuasion by other jurors failed to make her change her vote to acquittal. He said at times if

DOWES CRITICISES WAY DEPARTMENTS USE MONEY

Public Debt Interest Calls for Sum of $975,000,000 Largest Item in Budget.

BY HERBERT W. WALKER (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—President Harding today gave notice to the world powers here for the arms limitation conference that if this great international party fails he believes the United States should spend more than $800,000,000 on its army and navy during the year ending June 30, 1923.

Submitting to congress the first national budget prepared by Budget Director Dawes, Harding estimated that the nation's two arms of defense should expend $81,858,107 in the fiscal year 1923—or more than three times the pre-war appropriations of approximately $25,000,000. The estimates, which were framed without regard for any limitation of armament that may result from the conference, are about $55,000,000 less than is being expended this year. The president in this respect is following his policy that the United States cannot make a big cut in its military and naval appropriations until all the powers definitely agree to do likewise.

The federal government during the year ending June 30, 1923, will cost the people of the United States approximately three and a half billion dollars, Harding estimated. Although this amount is about three times the cost of the federal government before the war, the president pointed out that the estimated expenditures for the fiscal year of 1923 would be $2,922,285,962.50 less than the payments from the federal purse for 1921, during which year he assumed office. The 1923 expenditures, he said, would be $482,167,838 less than for the present fiscal year of 1922.

Harding submitted to congress estimates of appropriations for the fiscal year of 1923; and estimated expenditures and receipts for the same period. Despite stringent economy, the government on the basis of estimates submitted will face a deficit of $162,571,977 as the result of 1923 fiscal operations.

Total receipts of the government during 1923 were estimated at $3,338,182,750, while expenditures, actual cash paid out of the treasury were placed at $3,505,754,727. Appropriations asked for today total $3,801,113,459.53, but this includes $576,238,964 in postal appropriations, which will be paid from postal revenues. This leaves a net total of $3,224,875,595.53. The difference between this amount and the actual cash expenditure will be made up by appropriations which continue from year to year.

This year, the budget report shows, the federal government will expend $2,967,922,386, as compared with $2,528,040,689.26, last year. Receipts this year will be $3,943,152,663, leaving a deficit to start the new fiscal year of $24,468,103; while receipts last year of $3,624,932,960, exceeded expenditures by $86,892,271.01.

The President's message reveals that Dawes was able to reduce the first federal budget $122,806,310.55 below the amounts asked by the departments.
