PENDLETON PACKING CO. DOUBLES OUTPUT DURING CLOSING MONTHS OF '21

On the farms the recent cold days have offered excellent opportunities for the killing of the winter supply of pork or the long-yearling beef, or possibly a fat wether, but out at the Pendleton Packing Company's plant artificial conditions are maintained which make every day "butcher day."

The products of the company are marketed under two brands. The Oregon Pride hams, bacon and lard are gaining friends in Oregon every day, and another line of goods is sold under the name of "Campfire."

To visit the plant and see the extent of Pendleton's young industry is likely to prove illuminating in the extreme to the ordinary Pendletonian.
