O. A. C. PARTY.

The Jolly Ten last evening was the scene of one of the most enjoyable dancing parties of the season when the present students and former students of the Oregon Agricultural College met together for a reunion. The room was decorated with the college colors, large bows of the "orange" were arranged artistically on the walls and black "O's" hung from the orange shaded lights. As the feature for the moonlight waltz the lights were centered on the large "O" formed on black background. Orange shaded floor lamps added beauty to the affair. Much credit for the success of the party is due to Lowell Stockman, who headed the committee. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Serwer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Despain,

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. K. B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Vincent and Mrs. Anna Furnish.

- * The Adulteration of Soap *

MANY YOUNG GIRLS ARE FEEBLE MINDED

DETROIT, Dec. 21.—(L. N. S.)—"Sixty-six and one half per cent of the delinquent girls who passed through our hands this year are feeble minded according to figures," says Miss Mae Murray, head of the woman's division of the Detroit police department.

It is the young girl who goes wrong, says the woman police chief.

"The age of the girls averaged between eighteen and nineteen," declared Miss Murray. "They are the prey of unscrupulous men."
