PARTY IS GIVEN.

One of the most charming parties of the winter season was a masquerade for which members of the Jewel Club were hosts last evening at Eagle-Woodman Hall. Evergreens formed an effective setting and the lights about the room were shaded by masked faces.

One hundred fifty guests, attired in costumes both bizarre and beautiful and representing characters ranging from Queen Victoria in her royal robes to desperate hold-up men with cartridge belt and gun, danced during the evening. The grand march was led by Mrs. Sam Wright and C. H. Smith.

An hour before midnight the dancers unmasked before going to the banquet rooms. At this time many-colored serpentine streamers were thrown from the balcony, adding to the decorative effect. Tiny masks hung on threads, and streamers from the ceiling were used in decorating the banquet room. A large dog made a unique figure for the center of the supper table.

Mrs. M. L. Akers, in a charming Oriental costume in which the predominant color was blue, received the prize for her representation of a Persian dancing girl. Sam Wright, in the costume of the historic Jiggs, won the men's prize.

Dancing continued until two o'clock this morning. Hosts were Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Newton, Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Massey, Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Ed DuPuis, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ridd and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Brown.

HOME DEMONSTRATION IDEAS FOR HOUSEWIVES

- How to Wash Flannels.
- Have two receptacles ready when washing flannels. Pour into one of them water not too hot for the hands to bear comfortably. Add enough soap solution made from a neutral or mild soap or a wool soap to make a good suds, and put them into the water to soak for ten or fifteen minutes. Prepare a second tub of water having the same temperature as that of the first or a slightly higher temperature. Pass the garments from the first to the second water; the second suds has not removed all the soil. Rinse free of soap in several waters; be sure to keep the temperature constant. When drying, shape by pulling and stretching.
- If flannels are to be pressed, they should be allowed to dry first and should then be covered with a slightly dampened piece of cheesecloth and iron with a moderately hot iron. The cheesecloth draws up the fibers of the flannel, giving it the fluffy appearance of a new garment.
- Underwear and woolen stockings should be stretched into shape, not ironed.—V. D.

Linoleum Is the Ideal Floor For The Kitchen

In summer your kitchen floor should be cool. But in winter, naturally, you want a warm floor. No floor meets these requirements so well as linoleum. It is made mainly of cork, the best non-conductor of heat known. In summer it is cool; in winter, warm. Because there are no cracks in a linoleum floor, it is warmer than the average wood floor. Linoleum is sanitary and easy to clean—it saves you hours of scrubbing. It is comfortable to tired feet, a point to think of if you have to stand at your work. It is durable and inexpensive.

COPPER CARBONATE TREATMENT FOR SMUT IS PROVING SUCCESS

Thought Dust Method May in Time Supersede Cumber, some Liquid Treatment.

CORVALLIS, Jan. 12.—The copper carbonate dust treatment for smut, which is proving successful in 17 Oregon counties, is announced by H. B. Bess, plant pathologist of the O. A. C. Experiment station. Although definite results cannot be obtained until next harvest, the winter stand of grain in fields thus treated in 17 Oregon counties shows less injury than stands where seed was treated by either the formaldehyde or the bluestone-lime method. "It is entirely possible that this method may in time supersede the cumbersome liquid treatment," said Professor Bess. "It also seems to promote prompt and more vigorous germination. Two ounces of copper carbonate in dust form are thoroughly mixed with each bushel of seed in a revolving drum. The ultimate solution of the smut problem does not lie in improved treating methods, but in the growing of varieties of wheat which are highly resistant or immune to the disease. Great progress has been made in Oregon under the direction of H. M. Woodman, field assistant in cereal investigations. In trials with nearly 1000 varieties and strains of wheat, he has discovered 12 or more varieties which are highly resistant to smut, and which may in time be developed into varieties suitable for the different sections of the state.
