Just Folks

LIFE

This is life: a time of laughter, Now and then a tear, Glorious days to follow after Through another year; Something gained, and something given, Just to show the way we've striven.

This is life: a bit of fretting Darkening the day, Sometimes losing, sometimes getting, Thus we go our way; And the guides by which men find us Are the joys we leave behind us.

This is life: a time for sorrow, Dread and fear and doubt, Faith, from which all men may borrow, (Copyright, 1922, by Edgar A. Guest.)

EDUCATION COSTS

THERE is a lot of food for thought to taxpayers as well as to those interested in education in the statement made yesterday by Supt. Raymond Orth of Stanfield at the forum luncheon of the Commercial Association that costs of educating pupils in high schools in different districts in this county range from $92 in some districts to more than $600 in other districts. This cost, as was brought out by a question asked the speaker, is not for a complete course of four years, either, but for one school year.

There are some people whose love of the fat bank account so colors their views on every other subject that they will unhesitatingly declare that $92 for one year's training for a boy or girl in high school is too high, but fortunately, this county has very few of that type of citizens. The real truth of the matter is that from the individual's point of view, no expenditure is too great. This theory has in a measure been held by citizens generally, but of late, stern necessity has taken a hand in the matter, and even the education-loving fathers and mothers who will go to any reasonable length to see that their children are educated have been pinched by taxation. Any spirit of penuriousness when it comes to the business of providing for education is to be avoided as the plague, but in the face of the statement made by the Stanfield man of the different expense accounts, even the most liberal minded taxpayer is ready to show a receptive attitude.

Supt. Green declared in his speech that school taxes could readily enough be reduced from the present average of between 12 1-2 and 15 mills to about six mills without in any manner reducing the efficiency of the schools. Such a step has at least two merits to commend it: Everyone will welcome that much of a tax reduction, and the welfare of education should be advanced. Crook county is trying the experiment now and the recent trend of affairs in this county indicates that such a step is not wholly impossible of realization here.

WHY NOT 0-0-0.

SPECTATORS may look on in amusement when two six-year-old lads settle their differences with puny fists. Let one urchin, however, pick up a brick, and bystanders interfere. When the boys grow up, they may still fight if they will, provided they use nature's weapons. But let one take up a pistol or a knife, and the law says, "No."

We do not disarm our civil population—we simply don't arm them. The way for nations to prevent war is to have no weapons with which to fight. If no nation had a battleship "for protection," no other nation would need a battleship.

The idea that we must have battleships to protect us from naval aggression fails if there are no battleships with which to do any aggressing. If 5-5-3, why not 0-0-0?

Newberry says he didn't know that a huge slush fund was being spent to elect him. A man so ignorant of the obvious hasn't any right to sit in the senate, anyway.

Wages in the tailoring industry are being lowered and prices are also to be lowered, say the tailors. Wonder if women's dresses are to be lowered also!

The state supreme court of Montana has declared the bachelor tax unconstitutional. Such action is certainly commendable. It is tough enough luck to be a bachelor, but to have to pay taxes with that misfortune as the basis of the tax is our idea of "the end of the limit."

The Germans claim they have learned how to change mercury into gold. We can swear that the two have one quality in common in the winter time—they are both low!

BULLETIN SHOWS HOW TO SUBSTITUTE FOODS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12.—Housekeepers often feel the need of some simple plan by which the foods used in their families can be compared in kind and in amount with those readily needed. This calls for a standard or model that may be used as a guide in the selection of foods for any family at any season of the year and under any market conditions.

The United States Department of Agriculture has just issued a new Farmers' Bulletin, No. 1228, prepared by Caroline L. Hunt. The subject of the bulletin is "A Week's Food for an Average Family." It shows how all food materials are classed under five heads or groups, and how all foods, with the exception of milk for young children may be replaced by some other food or foods within the same group. The text gives suggestions for such substitutions, and a method for comparing the cost of similar foods. It shows also how to adapt the allowances given in the sample food supply so as to meet the needs of families larger or smaller than the average. The bulletin contains many illustrations, useful tables, and menus. It may be obtained upon application to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Public Is Amazed at Continued Enormous Demand for Tanlac

People All Over America Want to Know What Is Behind the Phenomenal Success of This Preparation That Makes It the World's Greatest Tonic.

Day after day the question is being asked all over the United States and Canada: What is the reason for the phenomenal success of Tanlac? Why do we hear so much about it? Why do Tanlac sales keep increasing every year, when other medicines seem to have a short-lived popularity and are then forgotten?

The answer is simple enough. The test of time has proven to people all over the American continent that Tanlac always produces most gratifying results and that the remarkable relief it brings seems to be more permanent than ever before believed possible.

Tens of thousands of persons, everywhere, who took it when it was first introduced six years ago, report that they are still enjoying excellent health and millions of American homes are now using Tanlac as the family medicine after first trying it out thoroughly and proclaiming it the world's Greatest Tonic.

Thousands of men and women of all ages and in all walks of life afflicted with stomach, liver and kidney disorders, some of them of long standing, as well as thousands of weak, thin, nervous men and women apparently on the verge of collapse have testified publicly that they have been fully restored to their normal health, strength and vigor by its use.

Still others, who seemed fairly well, yet who suffered with indigestion, headaches, shortness of breath, dizzy spells, sour gassy stomach, coated tongue, foulness of breath, constipation, bad complexion, loss of appetite, sleeplessness at night and terribly dejected, depressed feelings, state that they have been entirely relieved of these distressing symptoms and restored to health and happiness by taking Tanlac.

Tanlac has never been advertised as a cure-all or that it would perform unheard-of wonders. The advertising has been clean, straightforward and conservative. Actual facts and figures have been stated and stated in a true, business-like way that has commanded the confidence of all in the conservative claims set forth.

The enormous demand for Tanlac is due to merit alone, for no amount of advertising would continue to sell any article that does not possess real merit. Unless full value underlies the article advertised, the advertising will ultimately fall of its own weight.

"You can fool some of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

Tanlac has been well advertised, it is true, but such a large and rapidly growing demand could not be brought about by advertising alone. It is what the people themselves say that counts. One bottle of Tanlac is sold in a neighborhood through advertising, but ten more are sold in that same community as a result of the sale of that first bottle and that is why Tanlac has succeeded. People are always willing to talk about their ailments, but they are more than glad to tell others of the medicine that helped them. It is something they could not keep to themselves if they tried, for the impulse to sympathize with your fellowman and want to help him is one of the strongest, as well as one of the biggest, things in human nature.

That is the reason why the people of every section of the United States and Canada, have become to speak of Tanlac as the World's Greatest Tonic. And that is the reason why the demand for this remarkable medicine has grown to such proportions that it is almost impossible to keep dealers supplied.

Tanlac is sold in Pendleton by Thompsons Drug Store and by leading druggists.

MANY DISABLED VETERANS ARE PLACED IN PAYING POSITIONS BY GOVERNMENT AID BUREAU

Numerous Instances of Ex-Servicemen Developing Latent Abilities and Talent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(U. S. S.)—The United States Veterans' Bureau is making rapid strides and achieving some remarkable results in the rehabilitation of disabled ex-service men, according to reports received by Director Forbes.

Many former service men, unable to pursue their pre-war occupations because of disabilities, are having their latent talents and abilities developed to an extent that will soon enable them to resume their former place in the every-day life of the nation fully equipped to earn a livelihood.

Colonel Forbes receives constant reports of instances in which disabled veterans, being rehabilitated by the Bureau, have made such gratifying progress that their future success is assured. Prominent among these cases which have come to the attention of officials here are:

Four disabled veterans, unable to follow their pre-war occupations because of their disabilities, were rehabilitated by the Bureau as X-ray technicians spending ten months in training, and are now receiving an average salary of $312.50 per month.

John Aversa, a young Italian, of Baltimore, was a tailor before the war. He was wounded in France, and while recuperating at Walter Reed Hospital here, he engaged in clay modeling as a pastime, displaying remarkable talent. Recognizing his marked ability in this line, the Bureau recently sent him to Rome, where he will continue the study of sculpture.

Joseph Kaufman, studying music under the Rehabilitation Division of the Veterans' Bureau at a school of music in Minneapolis, Minn., has developed three voices. When he sings it sounds as though three men were singing side by side in unison. He has rejected several offers to appear in vaudeville, preferring to complete his music course.

Dr. George E. Wells is now a member of the University of Maryland faculty after completing a medical course as a student of the Bureau.

The Bureau is training over 300 women, army nurses, yeomenettes and others who served in the military service in useful pursuits. The women, due to disabilities incident to the service, were unable to carry on in their pre-war occupations.

Carl H. Spurlock, of Covelo, Cal., a student of the Rehabilitation Division of the Bureau, who is taking a course in horticulture at the University of California, has made sixty-six "A" grades of a possible sixty-seven.

ILLINOIS HAS NEW MAN

URBANA, Ill., Jan. 12.—(A. P.)—Seward Staley, former national physical director of Greece, has taken up his new duties as physical director of the University of Illinois. He succeeds Arthur James Schuttner, who has gone to California as assistant state physical director.

Staley graduated from the Springfield M. A. C. college at Springfield, Mass., and served as a lieutenant during the war. He was on the executive staff of the athletic department of the army in Washington for a year after the armistice, took a master's degree from Clark University and then went to Greece as the country's physical education head.

Recently Staley has been doing research work at Clark University. He is the author of several books on physical education.

HE WON'T DROP DEAD ANY MORE

"My husband suffered terribly from stomach and liver trouble, which caused such bloating of gas as to seriously affect his heart. Doctors warned him that he might drop dead at any time from this trouble. A friend in Cleveland advised him to take Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and since taking it, 4 months ago, he is feeling like a young man again. All his friends are surprised at his appearance." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—At druggists everywhere.
