

People Here and There

J. R. Thomas, merchant of Helix was a visitor in Pendleton, Sunday.

Dr. G. S. Newson and H. R. Van Slyke of Freewater were business visitors in Pendleton Saturday.

Robert Ludwig, who has been in Portland attending a meeting of the Oregon hardware dealers, returned home yesterday.

Philip Jones, an elder of the Tutuilla church, went to Asakab, Idaho, today where he will assist in revival services to be held by the Nez Perce Indians.

Stock breeding, farming and banking are some of the lines of work in which P. T. Byrd is interested. He was here Saturday from his home in Pilot Rock.

A. P. Fleming, manager of the Pacific International Livestock Exposition was a visitor in Pendleton Sunday. Mr. Fleming has just returned from Denver where he attended the Western National Livestock show the week of Jan. 18 to 21 and is enroute to Spokane where he will attend the Northwest race circuit exposition.

Shortly after the 20th century got started on its career E. E. Purinton and his wife moved away from Pendleton. They live in Burns now, and he is here for a visit with relatives and friends. Mrs. S. A. Lowell is a sister of Mr. Purinton and Billy McKinney of Milport is a brother of Mrs. Purinton. During the recent cold snap when Pendleton was feeling sorry for itself because the thermometer got down to 21 below, it slid to 50 below at Burns, he states.

Conference Is Held.

Ira N. Gabrielson, of Portland, assistant biologist for the United States Biological Survey, W. E. Crouch, of Boise, and Leo K. Couch, of Olympia, both biological assistants, are here today for a conference regarding rodent control in Oregon, Washington and Idaho. They will continue the conference tomorrow and are holding the sessions in the Cunningham Sheep Co. offices.

Attended Chamber Meeting.

After having attended a meeting of the state chamber of commerce in Portland last week, C. I. Barr, secretary of the Pendleton Commercial Association returned home this morning. J. V. Tallman resigned as a director of the state chamber and Leslie Butler of The Dalles was chosen to succeed him. No Pendleton man aspired to a place on the board.

School Standardized.

School District No. 67 now has a standard school says W. W. Green, county school superintendent. The school is located near Milton and R. H. Anderson is principal.

Charges Husband Was Cruel.

Cruel and inhuman treatment is given as the basis of the suit of Nellie C. Walker against Ernest Walker in which a decree of divorce is sought. The couple married February 5, 1911, according to the complaint, and one child has been born to them. The custody of the child is sought by the plaintiff who is represented by W. O. Staver.

Rally Is Held.

A rally of the members of the Christian Endeavor Unions of Omatilla Indian Mission, the rally representing the Columbia district of Christian Endeavor societies. Mrs. Frank Ritchey, of Milton, president, Mr. Ritchey, treasurer and Miss Mildred Bateman, secretary, each made talks. Piano numbers by Miss Ida Shelton and a vocal solo by Lowell Evans completed the program.

Portland Judge To Talk.

Judge Jacob Kanzler, judge of the court of domestic relations of Portland, has been secured by the parent-teachers council of Pendleton for an address on the night of February 10. His subject will be "Parental Responsibility For Juvenile Delinquency." Judge Kanzler bears a brilliant reputation in Portland, according to reports received of him. He was an officer in the late war.

Second Semester Starts.

Today was a little different from other Mondays during the school year in that it marked the beginning of the second semester for the Pendleton schools. About 30 additional pupils were enrolled this morning, Supt. H. E. Inlow estimated. The larger number of changes were in the primary grades of the various schools, but a few additional pupils in the high school were enrolled. No additional teachers were necessary to take care of the incoming pupils.

Vacant House "Occupied."

Sometimes "vacant" houses may be occupied in ways that the owners know not of, and a little surprise may be in store for many an owner of a vacant house. Elmer McCormack can vouch for the truth of this saying. The other day he had occasion to visit a house on some land which he farms. The house has not been occupied for several months, and he was surprised when an investigation disclosed the presence of a still and a full moonshine outfit. The identity of the owner of the outfit has not been ascertained.

Court Hearing Contest.

The county court is occupied today in hearing a contest between the Pendleton Tribune and the Freewater Times as to which paper is entitled to be designated as a county official newspaper along with the East Oregonian. Publishers of the Tribune and the Times have questioned each others' figures but both joined in a stipulation allowing the East Oregonian circulation figures to stand without contest. Two papers are to be named as county official newspapers and the law requires that the papers having the largest bona fide circulation on October 1 shall be designated.

Bigger Fund Expected.

More road funds will probably be available for the Omatilla National Forest this year than last, according to J. C. Kuhns, forest supervisor, who bases his prediction on the allotment conference held recently at Baker by foresters. The allotments estimated at the conference were for guards, rangers, minor expenses, forest improvements, roads, and a general allotment to cover all costs of maintaining the forest. Mr. Kuhns states that the total amount estimated for this forest will not be made public as the appropriation is always considerably less than that asked. W. B. Greeley, national forester, makes the decision regarding the allotments.

WOMEN WHO POWDER OR PAINT DECLARED NOT HONEST BY S. A. HEAL

Evangeline Says Woman With Blazing Cheeks, Indigo Eyes and Carrot Hair is Cheat.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 26.—(A. P.)—Women who powder their noses, touch up their hair with a bit of golden rinse or add the bloom of youth to their cheeks are positively dishonest, Evangeline Booth, national commander of the Salvation Army, declared while here recently.

Women use "makeup" to deceive, Miss Booth said. "A woman has no right to wear it," she added. "The woman with blazing cheeks, indigo eyes and carrot hair is a cheat."

Many divorces are caused by the fact that men have attempted to deceive their husbands regarding their appearance, she thinks. Men, she added, want women of nature intended they should be.

The enormous sale of cosmetics in the United States is a disgrace to the country, Miss Booth feels. "If our young women of today would only take the money they use for paint and powder, and buy milk for the poor, starving babies of the world, they wouldn't need any artifice to make themselves attractive," she said. "In their cheeks would be the hue of joy that comes from the heart and in their eyes the light that comes only from giving service to the world."

Miss Booth thinks moderation and utility should be the guide when it comes to clothes. Following the style of the Salvation Army, she says, skirts should be five or six inches above the ground.

"Too many women today destroy their true womanliness by immodest dressing and they have only themselves to blame when their characters are questioned," she asserted.

ARCADE SUNDAY AND MONDAY

"THE COUNTY FAIR" A TRIUMPH OF THE SCREEN

The screen version is based upon the famous American rural drama of the same name in which Nell Burgess as Aunt Abigail starred for a number of years and made it one of the best known pieces of theatrical property in the history of the American stage.

Where the play was necessarily limited in its scope no such cramping influences have held the picture, and Tourneur has been able to give it with a realism and effect which only the screen can uphold. It is the most talked about picture production of the season and has been breaking records in New York, Boston and Chicago, where it was given upon a scale in keeping with its bucolic theme and the simple sweetness of its environment.

RIVOLI SUNDAY AND MONDAY

CHARLES RAY TURNS OUT EXPERT FOOTBALL PLAYER

Charles Ray handed the college boys a surprise during the filming of the football scenes in Richard Andrews' college football story, "Two Minutes to Go," the first National attraction scheduled to open an engagement at the Rivoli Theatre Sunday.

The boys were all on edge and in good physical trim and they anticipated considerable awkwardness on Charles Ray's part when it came to handling the ball properly, but as matters went, he put one over on all of them and handled the ball and took his position on the team like a veteran.

Mr. Ray played football at high school, and previous to the filming of the football scenes he had "Tuffy" Conn, one of the best extra college players and now professional, at his home on several occasions to explain all the latest and most up-to-date plays and to indulge in some practice.

Briand Doesn't Seem Worried

The latest photo of Aristide Briand to reach the United States shows him walking with his friend, Dr. Chatany. It was taken when the political storm that resulted in his removal as premier of France was breaking and Briand was smiling.

FOUR BLIND STUDENTS STUDY AT UNIVERSITY

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 30.—(A. P.)—Handicapped by either total or partial blindness, four men are obtaining a higher education at the University of Michigan, and despite their condition are making records envied by those with normal eyesight, according to University professors.

Although no special means are employed by the faculty to assist these students, the four are being aided by teachers and fellow students in various ways. Friends read to them and take notes for them in the various lectures.

One of the most notable of the quartet is Germ G. Ensing of Holland, Mich. Mr. Ensing is totally blind, yet is obtaining an education in machine shop work. He has developed a point system for taking notes in lecture courses and expects to become a teacher at some school for the blind when he completes his course this year. He is aided in his Ned Smith, of Detroit, a freshman, is preparing for law and is regarded as one of the most ambitious students at the University. He goes about the campus unassisted, feeling his way. Friends read to him and copy lectures. Smith's life ambition is to study medicine.

John Bezlock of Detroit, a sophomore, is partially blind, being unable to read. His friends assist him in obtaining a literary education.

J. M. Caldwell, of Indiana, Pa., totally blind, entered the University last fall as a means of "passing the dark hours," as he expresses it to friends. He employs two readers in the academic course he is taking.

Each of the four entered the University after being afflicted.
