TURN TO THE RIGHT

The rule of the road is "To Turn to the Right," which is well observed and is a very good custom. And is not this a very good rule to follow in our daily business—and social—affairs, thus avoiding friction, bumps and collisions?
 And a very good rule to follow is "To Save Ten Percent of the Income" and "Place it in an Interest-Earning Savings Account" at this strong bank. It will be turning your finances "To the Right."

Farrar Quits Opera

Geraldine Farrar refuses to sign a contract with the Metropolitan Opera for next season after 15 years with that organization. Her resignation is attributed to a desire to go on a concert tour that will take her away from New York for a while. Marie Jeritza, Viennese songbird, will succeed her. This is Farrar's most recent photo and shows her with her favorite pet, "Sniffles."

Men's and the price.

One of the greatest tests of economy in men's clothes is where you can discuss their excellent quality, style, and the prices they sell for, in the same advertisement.

Prices must be discussed in cheap clothes to defend inferiority. And quality must be emphasized in high priced clothes to make prices less conspicuous. But the feature of Penney Company clothes is that the quality is high, while the prices are not.

Penney Company clothes wear long and hold their shape, because of the grade of woolsens and the workmanship that is in them. They are still proving themselves in good service long after many higher priced suits have gone to the rag bag.
