THE FIR ST ROBIN

Winter days are cold and long,
But the robin with his song
One bright morning, crisp and clear,
Comes to tell us Spring is near.

Kindly bird that braves the storm,
Quits the sunny South and warm,
For the North still draped in snow,
You are like the friends I know.

When I suffer in despair
And my nights are filled with care,
They, too, leave their joys behind
To be comforting and kind.

When my heart with grief is numb,
They too, brave the storm and come
To be near me and to share
All the burdens I must bear.

Though mid pleasures they might stay
In their sunny far-away,
Soon I find them calling here,
Messengers of faith and cheer.

THE COMING WHEAT PRICE

WITH grain producing costs reduced this year farmers will be in position to make some money if they can secure a satisfactory price. As to how wheat prices will range after harvest one man's views may prove as good as another's. In this connection though some information as to sales and supplies at present may be of interest. The following is from a report made on February 16 by the twelfth district federal reserve bank:

The movement of grain from this district thus far during the present cereal year (1921-1922) has been unusually heavy. In response to a strong export demand, a large part of the crop of wheat and barley was sold immediately following the harvest, and the domestic demand, although light, has been steady. During the past three months, export movement has declined but a moderate domestic demand has continued. On February 1, 1922, commercial factors estimated that the total available supplies of wheat in the Pacific Northwest were approximately 25,000,000 bushels (out of a total 1921 crop of 106,058,000 bushels), as compared with 25,000,000 bushels available on February 1, 1921 (out of a total 1920 crop of 88,692,000 bushels). The available surplus of wheat (above local needs) to meet export and domestic demand during the remainder of the cereal year (to July 1, 1922) is estimated to be between 25,000,000 and 30,000,000 bushels.

There has been little export demand for California barley during the past three months, but the heavy exports during July, August and September of 1921, and the steady domestic consumption since then, have reduced the available supply of barley in this state to approximately 100,000 tons (9,000,000 bushels), as estimated by commercial factors on February 1, 1922. On this date a year previous, holdings of barley in California were estimated at 335,000 tons (12,984,000 bushels). The 1921 yield of barley in California amounted to 707,000 tons, compared with 685,000 tons produced in 1920.

In spite of dull export demand during the past three months, total exports of wheat and barley from Pacific coast ports during the present cereal year to date are considerably higher than during the same period of the previous season.

The rise of wheat prices in eastern marketing centers (from $1.14 per bushel on January 3rd to $1.42 on February 15th, for May wheat in the Chicago market), said to be due to a close adjustment between demand and supply in world wheat markets and reports of the poor condition of the forthcoming crop in the United States, has been accompanied by considerable buying activity and advancing prices on wheat and flour in the Pacific Northwest since February 1st. Milling wheat in that portion of the district is reported to be selling at approximately $1.25 per bushel now, as compared with $1.55 per bushel a year ago. In California, No. 1 hard wheat sold at $1.90 to $1.95 per 100 pounds ($1.14 to $1.17 per bushel) on January 4, 1922. On February 15th the same grade of wheat was quoted at $2.15 to $2.25 per 100 pounds ($1.25 to $1.35 per bushel) as compared with prices of $2.70 to $2.80 per 100 pounds ($1.62 to $1.68 per bushel) on the same date a year previous. Shipping barley is reported to be selling in the local markets at $1.20 per 100 pounds, as compared with $1.35 per 100 pounds one year ago.

Reduction in the output of flour mills of the district noted in the last quarter of 1921 continued through the month of January. Production of 67 reporting mills during this month was 48.7 per cent of capacity compared with 65.9 per cent in December, 1921, and 40.3 per cent in January, 1921. Declining production was most noticeable in Washington, and, to a lesser extent, in Oregon. California mills increased their production during the month.

Millers in all parts of the district report an improvement in the domestic demand for flour during the present year. The export demand has been limited, except in California where a normal volume of foreign business has been contracted. Flour prices have recently advanced following the rise in wheat prices (20 to 25 cents per bushel since the first of the year).

Although millers are reported to have been active purchasers of wheat, their holdings at the close of January (2,059,552 bushels) were less than at the beginning of the month and approximately the same as one year ago (2,071,231 bushels). Stocks of flour held by the same millers on February 1st were 418,295 barrels compared with 475,733 barrels held on the same date a year ago.

It seems safe to say that the fate of the wheat grower this year will depend very largely on conditions prevailing in the export trade.

PRINCES GO ON THE WATER WAGON

By CLARENCE DUBOSE.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
TOKYO (By Mail to the United Press).—The Acting Emperor of Japan is on the water wagon.

Some of the other princes of the blood, and members of the Imperial court are following the absentee example of Crown Prince Regent Hirohito.

Some of the Tokyo papers are predicting that this new fashion is the forerunner of prohibition at the Imperial court.

The "Chuo," one of the dailies here, recently made this statement:

"The prince regent has not touched alcoholic drink since his recent European tour. He merely lifts his glass to his lips at toasts. Prince Kanin, following his example, has not touched alcohol since last spring."

The paper draws the conclusion that the "formal adoption of prohibition at the court would seem to be only a matter of time."

However, the sake hounds don't seem to be worried, and some of the breweries are building extensions.

PITTY CAZAR'S RELATIVES
MONTE CARLO, March 9.—(U. P.)—Safely separated from Lenin and Trotsky by half a score or more of frontiers, Russian grand dukes, duchesses, counts, and other former nobility flourish this season on the Riviera. The Grand Duke Cyril, cousin of the late czar, and said to be the closest living heir to the throne, is in Cannes. The Grand Duke Dimitri, cousin of the late czar, is in Monte Carlo. The Grand Duchess Anastasia, eldest daughter of the late Grand Duke Michael, has a villa nearby.

BAIS MOTHER-IN-LAW
DENVER, Colo., March 9.—(U. P.)—The married man who is pestered by his mother-in-law should have been a Navajo Indian and married a girl of that tribe. For, according to a recent letter to a local newspaper from the Indian agency at the Navajo reservation at Shipwreck, N. M., tribal customs provide that the mother-in-law, after her daughter's marriage, must never see her son-in-law. No provision is made for the daughters-in-law and it is presumed they are allowed more friendly relations with their "in-laws." Instead of becoming her husband's property at marriage, the Navajo bride becomes free, and may leave her husband for sufficient cause.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so softens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and that nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured by chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

GRAND OPERA FOR DENVER

Denver's first summer grand opera season. The objects of the organization include "encouragement of dancing, dramatics and singing." Directors of the company include persons prominent in musical circles in Denver.

Many of the greatest experts prefer Mazola as a salad oil because it blends more perfectly with the other ingredients of the dressing. This is one reason why Mazola is so extensively used today by the best clubs and hotels as well as in dining cars, on lake steamers and trans-Atlantic liners.

FROM THE PEOPLE

COMMENTS BY PICTURE MAKERS.

The following letter was received recently by Pendleton friends of Herbert H. Hayes, a actor in the Fox company at Los Angeles:

Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 23, 1922.

It seems to me a great crime that because a few people who are very much in the limelight should have got themselves into a mess that the entire profession should be judged by them.

The newspapers lie maliciously, exaggerate, distort and crucify anyone who happens to be connected with the screen because these people are so much in the "public eye" and to the outsider who does not know the truth about Hollywood and only knows it from what the newspapers say about it, you'd think that it was a den of vice. I have been in Hollywood for over four years and in the motion picture profession and I have never seen anything out of ordinary in the life of its people. That there are good and bad people in connection with the making of pictures is so. The same is to be said of any other business or profession. Any other viewpoint is pure narrow mindedness.

As for Hollywood, its principal fault, the Hollywood, is about as sordid as you could imagine. Many rich old ladies live there and spend their time on the verandas with their knitting. There is no such thing as a dance hall or cafe within its borders. It is a quiet beautiful suburb of Los Angeles, containing beautiful homes. I do not mean to say that there is no immorality among its people, but I do say most emphatically that there is no more there than anywhere else. I have gone into this detail so that you may know the facts concerning the moving picture profession. If newspapers would come out and tell the public that the Fifth church of Christ, Scientist, which is in the heart of Hollywood you could not get a seat 20 minutes before church time and that hundreds are turned away at almost every service and the same about the Catholic church in Hollywood, and that these people are largely members of the moving picture business, the outsiders would possibly realize that after all we are just a normal people like anyone else. McKelley was shot and killed but I don't think we condemned all presidents on that account.

"It's never touched me yet," he explained when they pointed out the risks.

That's the answer a good many people make when they hear that the drug element in tea and coffee often harms nerves and health. They say it's never touched them yet.

Sometimes they only think it hasn't.

Wakeful nights, drowsy days, headaches that keep coming more frequently—often are blamed on bad luck when the blame belongs on bad judgment in taking needless chances with harm.

Over on the safe side is Postum, a pure cereal beverage, delicious and satisfying—containing nothing that can harm nerves or digestion. Thousands who used to try their luck with tea or coffee are enthusiastic over having found safety and satisfaction in Postum.

It's worth your while to make the test with Postum for ten days. Postum is a delightful drink for any member of the family, at any meal.

Your grocer has both forms of Postum: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.
