BIG DAM ON COLORADO RIVER IS CONSIDERED

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 14.—A project that means billions of dollars and is considered one of the greatest forward strides ever taken by the southwestern section of the United States will be discussed here tomorrow when the Colorado River Commission opens the first of a series of meetings in the Colorado river basin on plans for development of the river.

The Colorado River Commission was recently organized in Washington, D. C., following its creation by legislatures of seven western states and congress, when the commissioners of the seven states were called to the capital by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, who was appointed by President Harding as federal commissioner and chairman.

Organization meetings at Washington in January provided for the making of a thorough survey of the whole situation in the Colorado river basin, and to accomplish this it was determined to hold public hearings throughout the basin. The first of these was arranged to open here tomorrow and at its conclusion the commissioners will hold another at El Centro, in the Imperial Valley, California, and then proceed to Los Angeles. Hearings will be held in other interested states according to the announcement by Secretary Hoover.

Construction of a dam in the lower Colorado, primarily for flood control, but to be utilized as a development for reclamation, irrigation and probably hydroelectric power, is the question upon which interests in Arizona and California will be heard. Involved in this is the question of state rights and claims have been made for Arizona that the state should have certain rights by reason of the probable necessity for construction of the dam in Arizona territory. The commission was created primarily to determine the relative rights of each state, and indications are that the question will form one of the major topics of the hearings here.

Arizona, with California, suffers from the periodical floods of the Colorado, and the residents of the southwestern section are prepared to present vigorous demands for early action in flood control development for the protection of their property.

GIVES FREE HAIRCUT. KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 14.—(I. N. S.)—Sol Stibel, a local barber, "tells the world" that he will never give another fellow a free haircut, even though his hair be as long as a hula-hula grass skirt.

A haircut he gave away a Sunday or so ago cost Stibel a total of $61—and not Mexican money, either.

He took into his shop a boy who needed a haircut but who didn't have the money and exercised his clippers for a bank-up good workout.

There is a law prohibiting barber shops operating on Sunday, and Stibel was fined $10 and $11 costs. On top of that he paid $10 fee to a professional bondsman.

RIFLE SHOOTING IS POPULAR AT U. OF W.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 14.—(U. P.)—Rifle shooting at the University of Washington has assumed the position of a major sport within the last year, if its popularity with both men and women students is any indication.

More than 200 girls and three times that many boys have availed themselves of the range in the last three years, a yearly percentage that bids fair to increase to a marked extent this coming season under the tutelage of Major W. D. Frazer, coast artillery corps, team coach.

By a unique method of competitive procedure, the university team so far this season has won two of four meets, tied one, and lost one. The shoot with the competing team is held on the home range and the results exchanged by telegraph.

The University of California and the first battalion, 161st Washington Infantry, National Guard team, were the two defeated, Boston university was tied 487 each out of a possible 500 considered an excellent showing by both schools. The Seattle Rifle and Revolver association team is the only aggregation to down the Sundoggers.

The University has entered two teams in the coming National Rifle Association Intercollegiate Championship match, to be held in the early part of April.

PORTLAND FANS NOT ENTHUSIASTIC OVER WILLS-DEMPSEY GO

Affair in Portland Between Tate and Wills Did Not Show Championship Form.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 14.—(U. P.)—Fans here are unable to figure who is getting fooled as a result of the Wills-Norfolk fight in New York March 2. After seeing Wills and Bill Tate tangle at the Milwaukee arena here, with Wills making a midget-poor showing against the Chicago heavy, local ring followers merely grin when a Wills-Dempsey go is mentioned.

The first fight Wills and Tate had here, Wills fouled the Chicago man in the first round, the referee giving the scrap to Tate just as the bell rang ending the round. It had been understood that the men should break clean from clinches. Wills didn't do it. The following Friday night the two staged a return engagement and fought a bloody ten round draw. The second fight was merely to give fans their money's worth and attempt to show ring sportsmen that the two could really fight when they felt like it. Some think that Tate beat Wills.

There are those who question Wills' right to the negro heavyweight title. They claim Tate is as good as Wills, and everybody knows what Dempsey did to Tate when the champion was training for Carpenter. Tate left the camp while he had his health.

Now Wills beats kid Norfolk in the second round of a scheduled fifteen round go, and many eyewitnesses of the fight claim Norfolk just curled up on the canvas without even being hard hit. He was up at the count of ten, fresh as a new briquet.

Fans here echo the shout of fans in the east that the Wills-Norfolk affair never should have been staged, not because Wills seemed too good for Norfolk, but because they think it did not look right. And they believe further that a Dempsey-Wills scrap would not look any better.

BIRD SHORT CIRCUITS WIRE

DENVER, March 14.—(I. N. S.)—Transcontinental telephone communication was seriously interfered with when a sparrow, seeking a suitable place to build a "home," dropped a piece of fine wire across the span of telephone wires on the outskirts of Denver.

For ten days mysterious "trouble" showed on a pair of wires used for direct talking between New York and San Francisco.

Finally two linemen took up an all-night vigil atop of a pole and discovered the tiny bit of wire that had been left by the homeless sparrow. Low temperatures at night that caused the telephone wires to "tighten up" permitted the small strand to form a connection that resulted in a "short circuit."

ORANGE TINTS FOR JAIL AND CONVICTS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—(U. P.)—When a criminal turns up a "two-time lofer," don't blame it on his animal instincts. It really isn't the poor fellow's fault.

The real reason he got "sent up" the second time was because, while he was in the first time, they cooped him within grey stone walls, made him wear a "zebra suit" and surrounded him with drab colors.

At least, that is the theory of Rudolph Schoeffler, of the California School of Fine Arts, designer of sets for the Greek Theatre at the University of California, and the color sets of the Detroit Symphony orchestra.

The criminal would automatically lose his criminal instincts if the walls of his cell were painted bright orange a sunlit hue given to the prison walls, and a nice bright suit of the same color presented to him instead of the sombre grey, said Schaffer. "I should suggest the use of orange in criminal surroundings because it is a color that radiates happiness.

"Colors produce emotion, and grey and drab colors are very bad for criminals who aren't inclined to be naturally in a cheerful frame of mind while in the penitentiary. Furthermore, I believe we would have less crime if our streets and buildings were of brighter, more cheerful colors. The criminal emotion would be drowned by emotions of pleasure."

COBBLER IS PROUD. EMPORIA, Kan., March 14.—(I. N. S.)—The president man in town today is E. A. Spady, a quiet cobbler, who for many years has "stuck to his last" in good old-fashioned style. For Spady recently turned out a most important job—repairing a pair of President Harding's shoes.

They attracted crowds to the cobbler's window, where they were placed on exhibition, and Spady was "shot" by the movie camera men while he put new heels and soles on them.
