THE OLD HOME TOWN By Stanley

SAEE ANCHORAGE

The old-time sea captains, who unfortunately are so fast disapeparing, were wizards in forecasting the weather; they had, what you may call, a sixth sense, for they could tell accurately when the weather man would start his antics. And many were the craft, crews and cargoes saved thus by these brave men.

A business is in many ways similar to a ship, weathering all conditions, piloted by its manager, steered by the man at the helm, either to doom or "safe an-

A bird who gets my goat is one J. Archibald McGuffit, Who mispronounces everything And calls his "buffay" "buffet." Then there is Percival McSwat, You'll notice, if you watch it, When e'er he speaks about "crochay is bound to call it "crotchet." But he who cops the berries is My friend, Gus Gnavershoe, In trying to pronounce "Dubuke' He calls it "Du-Bu-Cue."

TOURISTS TO BATTLE SCENES GROW FEWER

PARIS, March 16.—(I. N. S.)—The organization of trips to the battlefields has been a failure, state importantant touring agencies. Whereas, in 1919, figures showed that visitors to country and the French people them-selves were very keen to visit the scenes of flerce battles, today no one is attracted by the lavish propaganda

These touring companies supp that not enough attractions remain for the visitor. Debris has been cleared away, and souvenir hunters usually leave disappointed. In many parts the ruins no longer exist, for new villages have sprung up, and new roads have been built. Even trees have planted which in many sectors have completely changed the appearance of the land from one of bleakness and destruction to a land of prosperity. While the battlefields showed that nore Americans and British visited them than any other nationals. In three years barely 150,000 French people visited them.

This year special trains, automobile excursions and guides have been sup-pressed, and many of the hotels built along the battle line to house would-

This is My Big Yield Tool

GU can control the yield more by the work Y you do before planting than by any work you may do afterward. The Culti-Packer, following good plowing and discing, puts the land in just the right condition to encourage quick germination and rapid growth. It does work that no other tool will do. I've proved this every year since I started to use the Culti-Packer behind my Fordson Tractor."

That's an experience typical of thousands of users in this community and elsewhere.
