All Fixed for Dempsey to Meet
Negro Champion

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 20.—After passing through all the required motion of the necessary smoke-up, the Dempsey-Wills heavyweight championship battle is ready for the fighters.

The fight between the champion and the brown panther of "New Orleans" is a sure thing for the "Fourth" or Labor Day. The site is not as certain, but it probably will be New York or New Jersey. As an arena is already standing in Jersey City, and since Gov. Edwards has let it be known out loud that he will put nothing in the way of the fight, Jersey City probably is the place.

Making a heavyweight championship in these days of million dollar gates and half-million dollar purses involves a complicated process of building up. Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, is the artist de luxe of this new business. He built up the Carpenter fight which was worth half a million to Dempsey and himself and he has worked up the Wills thing, which will pay almost as much, until it is ready for presentation.

Dempsey never did draw the color line. Dempsey never has drawn any kind of a line. Kearns allowed the story to circulate that the champion was afraid of Wills and that he would crawl out on the color alibi. Meanwhile the colored man kept a discreet silence. He didn't make himself look bad by running around challenging Dempsey for a fight. Rather he assumed the role of a humble martyr. He said he thought he could lick Mr. Dempsey, but he wouldn't ask him for a fight when the public didn't like mixed bouts.

Having put the sounder out over the country and having learned that congress probably wouldn't be called in special session to save the white race if the match were made, Kearns allowed himself and Paddy Mullins, Wills' manager, to be seen in public and they were ready to fight—if the public wanted it.

Apparently the public wants it but some skepticism had crept into print about the ability of the colored fighter. Then Kid Norfolk was dragged into the ring with his robes and crown of negro heavyweight champion to do battle with Wills. It was just like Bat Levinsky being pulled into the ring and being operated on for his world's light heavyweight championship to make Carpenter "good" for Dempsey.

It's a clinch that the arrangements have been made months ago for Dempsey to take a fall out of Wills. It is a good drawing match. With Carpenter it was America against a foreigner. In this case it is the best white man against the best black man. Dempsey was larger than Carpenter. Wills will tower over Dempsey. A good match!

No one knows—and perhaps no one cares—what Wills will be able to do to Dempsey. Against Norfolk, the big colored man had no chance to show his real ability. He did show that he can hit in a clinch or when he can wrap a long snake-like left around an opponent's neck and tear in with his right.

It's one large cinch that he never will do that to Dempsey. If he gets in close to the champion he won't have the chance to use the right. If he tries any wrapping, he'll get rapped to the floor.

There is no reason to believe that Wills has a chance against the champion, but still he does seem to be the best heavyweight under Dempsey. Regardless of his merits, however, the fight will draw a monster crowd as 90,000 turned out to see Carpenter when it was generally conceded, if not loudly voiced fact, that the Frenchman never had a chance.

HELP FOR FARMERS

REGINA, Sask., March 20.—(A.P.)—In anticipation that between 3,000 and 3,500 men will be required for seeding operations on Saskatchewan farms, the bureau of labor is laying its plans to provide that amount of help for the farmers this coming season. The number is about the average of the past few years. At a recent convention of labor bureau officials the situation with respect to female help was thoroughly canvassed. It was the prevailing opinion that the demand for girls and women on the farms would be about the same as last year, but the wages would be lower.

The next issue of "Oregon Exchanges" which will be out near the first of April, will contain an article on the Oregon High School Press Association, giving the constitution, the names of the officers and a complete list of annuals, magazines, newspapers and school notes in local papers published by the schools of the state. This will be a valuable reference alike for newspapermen, school men and students, as no attempt has ever been made previously to list all the Oregon high school publications. The High School Press Association will hold its second annual meeting April 14 and 15 at the school of journalism.

STANFORD SENDING TEAM TO PENN MEET

BY ROBERT A. DONALDSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—(U.P.)—Stanford University bids fair to be the Pacific Coast strongest contender at the I. C. A. A. A. track meet at Philadelphia in May.

Coach "Dink" Templeton, of Stanford, has a nucleus of stars around which to build a team that insures the strongest competition at Philadelphia.

The men who will probably figure prominently in the point column are Kirksey and Sudden, sprinters; Norman Schofield and Bob Wright, quarter mile; McIntosh, half mile; Eddiman, distances; Faulk, hurdles; Dennis and Black, pole vault; Howell, high jump; Minsky, broad jump; Hartranft and taurier, discus and shot, and Captain Hanner in the javelin.

While it is possible that only a select team from the above men will be taken east, present indications are that the majority of the men named will make the eastern trip, provided they perform during the season according to present expectations. Most of the principal contenders are veterans who are used to winning places in any sort of company.

Kirksey is the national intercollegiate sprint champion. During the past few years he has been more in the background than he deserves to be for the reason that he was always the principal and unsuccessful contender against Charley Paddock. However, this year Paddock will not run, so Kirksey steps into his shoes. Sudd holds the national junior title in the 220 yard dash. Falk is one of the best low hurdlers in the west. Dennis is a star in the pole vault. Hartranft is national collegiate champion in the javelin. Howell holds the national junior high jump championship.

The lineup, Pacific Coast sport fans believe, insures Stanford of a good chance to come out on top at the I. C. A. A. A. A. meet.

SILVER GODS.

LONDON, March 20.—(A.P.)—Silver gods from the palace of the Gaekwar of Baroda have been brought to this country for sale.

One of these is the four-armed elephant-headed Ganesa, the God of Wisdom and Remover of Difficulties. It stands seven and one-half inches high and is jeweled with rubies. Other gods to be disposed of are Eku-ku Nas, the form of Siva, as worshipped in the land of the Maharatnas. Anna Jorma, the Sun God, seated on a lion.

The collection of gems in the palace of the Gaekwar is reported to be worth $2,000,000 pounds and at durbars he wears a necklace containing a diamond worth $6,000 pounds, known as the "Star of the South."

OLDEST RESIDENT PASSES

PORLAND, Ore., March 20.—(U.P.)—Another "oldest resident" has passed away. His name was Tim Kelley, 107 years old, who for 24 years has been a resident of the Home for the Aged.

Tim was born in Ireland, and retained his Dublin accent to the last—as well as his Irish wit. He was quite a landmark at the home. One of his favorite jokes, in response to the inquiries of visitors, was to state that he was married, but that it was so long ago that he had but a faint recollection of it.
