FACT AND FICTION
BLENDED IN FILM
OF AFRICA IN 1871

The word "theatre" means, to most of us, entertainment pure and simple and the added attractions of the words "motion picture serial" in connection with the former word spells to the ear of the twentieth century audience thrills, excitement and suspense.

"With Stanley in Africa," the Universal picture which starts at the Arcade Theatre today assures its spectators of all this plus a liberal education in history.

Never have fiction and act been so perfectly blended in a motion picture production as it has in this famous epoch of 1871, the theme of which fairly throbs with romance of the days of 1871 when Henry M. Stanley was on his famous expedition to find Dr. David Livingstone, the well-known missionary, who, for five years was lost to civilization in the heart of the Dark Continent.

George Walsh, the featured player, is supported by such capable and popular players as Louise Lorraine, who plays the feminine lead; Charles Mason, William Welch and Gordon Sackville.

A Well-Protected President

LAUGHS AND POTHOS IN
"ONE GLORIOUS DAY"

So dramatic, not to say emotional, were certain scenes taken for the new Paramount comedy "One Glorious Day" which comes to the Rivoli theatre today, that one day all the musicians around the Lasky studio were impressed into service. While Will Rogers and Lila Lee, the featured players, held the center of the stage, three fiddlers and a banjo supplied serious music. It is typical of the picture that, while it is a real comedy, there is much serious action and some moments of real pathos.

After the scenes had been "shot" Will Rogers took the violin into one of the feminine musicians and proceeded to extract more or less melodious strains—such tunes as "Turkey in the Straw" being apparently his favorites. He soon had the company laughing time. When he finished playing, he turned over the violin to its owner, with:

"Take back your fiddle, gal"—and hastened off to make some changes in his attire.

James Cruze is director of the picture which is an original by Walter Wood and A. B. Barringer. The cast is an excellent one.

MULKEY TO SUCCEED SIGNS AT BOARDMAN

(East Oregonian Special.)

BOARDMAN, March 21.—The school board has selected P. J. Mulkey, principal of the Arlington schools during the past six years to succeed M. B. Signs, who after three years as principal notified the board recently that he was not a candidate for reelection. Other teachers engaged for next year are H. H. Crawford, Naomi Runner, and Gladys Price for the high school, and Mrs. Blanche Watkins, Crescentia Glatt, and Guy L. Lee for the grades. There is one grade position still to be filled. Salaries remain the same as last year, except that the principal will start at $2000.

Rev. L. B. Losey, who has been in charge of the work for the Seventh Day Adventists for several months has removed with his family to Pendleton.

Several students and teachers have been out of school on account of illness. At this writing Mrs. Watkins, primary teacher, is ill at her home near Irigoin. Mrs. Stewart is acting as substitute.

This week Friday and Saturday nights will be shown the spectacular film Julius Caesar in six reels, secured through the auspices of the University of Oregon.

The high school ball team plays Irigoin Friday afternoon March 24 on the local diamond. A lively game is expected.

MANY STARS WILL COMPETE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—(U. P.)—Many athletic stars of yesterday will compete in the field day events at Ewing Field here March 25 and 26 for the benefit of the Community Service.

Among the old-timers who will again "step out" are Walter Christie, Dad Woulton, Abadie, Drum, Frank O'Kane, Phil Wand, Pete Gerhardt, and others.

Another novel stunt, according to present plans, will be a race between Morris Kirksey, star sprinter, and a horse. Just what the race is intended to prove is uncertain. Perhaps it is intended to have the horse pace Kirksey, or vice versa. Most contenders claim that Morris doesn't need a horse, and perhaps this is true, because the famed Monroie young man who was going to make his life work obtaining horses for such events is not listed among the patrons.

In addition to these events, a crack boxing program and a three ring circus have been planned.
